The Stage Is a Mirror.

NEW YORK'S district attorney asks how he can discourage indecent plays swiftly, surely. He probably can't.

There must be a board to decide what is bad. It usually does not agree.

There must be a grand jury willing to indict. It usually does not agree.

And if you indict, you must get an ordinary jury to convict. It usually does not agree.

STEAL a dollar and all agree to put you in jail. Steal a community's sense of decency and it is not quite sure that it has lost anything.

Congo natives eat decayed rhinoceros meat, unpleasant and bad for the health, but you could not convict decayed rhinoceros meat dealers if there were any there.

An indecent stage is a mirror reflecting a considerable part of the public mind. That is the difficulty.

LESS strain in our relations with Mexico. There is talk of reaching peace by the road of arbitration in Nicaragua and in Mexico.

In Nicaragua, the revolutionary row of Diaz and Sacasa would be arbitrated, and in Mexico the oil question—not the right of Mexico to make what laws she pleases, but their interpretation as regards American rights already acquired.

THE University of Pennsylvania's school of finance and commerce finds great business and industrial organization in this country controlled by men averaging 60 years of age. Bankers are younger, the average for bank presidents being 55 years. That is because old financiers put in younger men to run their banks.

BIG business is self-made, the first generation of success, and it takes a lifetime to get ahead of others. None the less, 60, as the average successful age, is an encouraging sign of longer life.

PAUL RAINEY'S moving pictures of animal life in Africa provided interesting, valuable education to millions. He is dead, unfortunately, and an Englishman publishes a book foolishly criticizing Rainey's "slaughtering of game."

The game that Paul Rainey slaughtered ought to be slaughtered, lions, leopards, panthers and other animals, of which he killed many, sufficiently savage to provide the danger that Paul Rainey thoroughly enjoyed.

EVERY time Rainey killed one of those savage beasts he protected the lives of natives and their children, saved native livestock, preserved harmless deer and other gentle animals innumerable.

RAINEY, an efficient killer of dangerous, savage animals, believed in getting rid of them. Others would like to nurse them along to kill them, a few at a time, for amusement. If in the meantime they ate a few natives, why, there would always be plenty of natives.

"PAY-AS-YOU GO" POLICY IS DEMANDED BY DOCTORS HERE

City Hospital Staff Calls for Prompt Settlement.

RULES ADOPTED

Office Work and Obstetrics Cash; Will Charge Interest.

Facing the alternative of increasing fees, thus imposing upon persons who pay as they go, or demanding prompt settlement of all accounts, the City hospital staff, including all physicians of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, today announced the adoption of a business policy which calls for a better understanding and co-operation between physicians and their patients.

The policy provides:

1—Office work and obstetrics cash.

2—Interest will be charged on all accounts not paid within 30 days.

3—All accounts must be settled by cash or negotiable note within 90 days.

"This does not mean, "says the physicians' statement, "that if you need office attention and do not have the fee you will be refused; but it does mean that your doctor prefers and expects you to pay cash for office consultation if you have the fee, even though you have an account with him."

Physicians' Statement.

Pointing out, despite the fact that medical service charges in the district are from 33 1-3 to more than 100 per cent less than in other communities comparable with the East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, that an increase in fees would have the effect of penalizing patients who pay as they go and have little bearing upon those who could, but do not pay promptly, if at all, the staff says:

"It was therefore decided that for the present, no increase would be made in minimum fees but that a uniform business policy should be adopted, and in putting it into effect this statement should be made to the public with the hope that it will be conducive to a better understanding and co-operation between physicians and patients.

"Your doctor has spent several years of hard study and several thousands of dollars to prepare himself to serve you, and still spend much time and money in study, attendance at medical society meetings, post graduate course, and in the purchase of books, medical journals, and equip-

U. S. MARINES TO STAY ON JOB UNTIL COUNTRY IS IN PEACEFUL MOOD

With Obvious Reference to Resolutions Introduced in Both Houses of Congress Demanding Recall of Troops, President Explains His Policy to Callers at White House.

LEATHERNECKS WILL DO POLICE WORK AS LONG AS CIVIL WAR GOES ON

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A staunch defense of the policy of keeping U. S. marines in Nicaragua until the country is restored to tranquility was made by President Coolidge today following the cabinet meeting.

With obvious reference to the resolutions that have been introduced in both houses of congress demanding the recall of the marines, President Coolidge informed callers that it is the determination of the administration to keep the troops in Nicaragua until there is an adjustment of Nicaraguan affairs sufficiently to safeguard American interests.

The American government was confronted with the alternative of compelling President Adolfo Diaz to make peace, or of settling the marines down for a prolonged military occupation of the little republic.

Diaz' rejection of the mediation proposed by President Jiminez of Costa Rica, which Secretary of State Kellogg said this government "welcomed," rather put the proposition squarely up to the state department, and there was keen speculation in Latin-American quarters here today over the next step in the situation.

Could Force Diaz to Act.

It is accepted that Diaz could be "persuaded" by the department to make peace. His continuance in the presidential palace at Managua is dependent upon the support of the department and the presence of marines, who have neutralized most of the fighting zones, and disarmed many of his enemies, the Sacasa revolutionists. Consequently, Diaz is peculiarly amenable to the state department's wishes.

The department, however, is admittedly in a somewhat delicate position because of the Mexican irritant. While desirous of restoring peace and stability in Nicaragua, the department is nevertheless determined to have in Managua a regime that leans to this government rather than to Mexico.

American Sloop Seized.

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, Jan. 18.—The Diaz government has seized the American-owned sloop "Union," on grounds of its having participated in the revolution of last May. This action, which was permitted by the commander of the American forces here, has caused considerable comment.

The sloop was involved in a fight in the bay here last May but through the efforts of the American consul eventually had the owner's ship restored to him. When the neutral zones were declared here it was claimed that the "Union" was aiding the liberal forces, although this was denied by her owners. The ship was towed here for repairs and seized by the Diaz forces.

Arbitration is Urged.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 18.—A resolution calling upon the Washington government to submit the Nicaraguan controversy to arbitration will be submitted to delegates to the union of American Hebrew congregations, in general convention, here today.

52 SENATORS READY TO BAR F. L. SMITH FROM OATH OF OFFICE

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A 24-hour truce was declared today between a hostile senate and Senator-elect Frank L. Smith (R) of Illinois, who seeks to serve under an appointment from Governor Small of Illinois.

Facing a hopeless fight, Smith will present his credentials to the senate at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

This action will be the signal for open hostilities, with more than a majority of senators ready to deny him even the right to take his oath of office. A poll by International News Service made this clear today.

Under an agreement, the senate will go into executive session at 2 o'clock to consider the Lausanne treaty.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN WILL FIGHT $4,000 MONTHLY ALIMONY AWARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—Charlie Chaplin announced today through his attorney, Nathan Burkan, that he would fight the award by the superior court at Los Angeles of $4,000 monthly as temporary alimony to his wife, Lita Gray Chaplin.

Discussing the court decree in Los Angeles, Burkan said:

"We certainly shall contest that award. Mr. Chaplin waited two months in California to be served, but he was not. Then when he left the state the papers were served.

"It is all part of a scheme of Mrs. Chaplain, her family and her lawyers to get a lot of cheap publicity. It was cooked up just for that purpose.

"Mr. Chaplin tried several times to pay for the support of his children, but was refused by his wife. He offered half a million dollars in settlement of her claims and another $100,000 for custody of his eldest son. That also was refused.

"PAY-AS-YOU GO" POLICY IS DEMANDED BY DOCTORS HERE

City Hospital Staff Calls for Prompt Settlement.

RULES ADOPTED

Office Work and Obstetrics Cash; Will Charge Interest.

Facing the alternative of increasing fees, thus imposing upon persons who pay as they go, or demanding prompt settlement of all accounts, the City hospital staff, including all physicians of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, today announced the adoption of a business policy which calls for a better understanding and co-operation between physicians and their patients.

The policy provides:

1—Office work and obstetrics cash.

2—Interest will be charged on all accounts not paid within 30 days.

3—All accounts must be settled by cash or negotiable note within 90 days.

"This does not mean, "says the physicians' statement, "that if you need office attention and do not have the fee you will be refused; but it does mean that your doctor prefers and expects you to pay cash for office consultation if you have the fee, even though you have an account with him."

Physicians' Statement.

Pointing out, despite the fact that medical service charges in the district are from 33 1-3 to more than 100 per cent less than in other communities comparable with the East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, that an increase in fees would have the effect of penalizing patients who pay as they go and have little bearing upon those who could, but do not pay promptly, if at all, the staff says:

"It was therefore decided that for the present, no increase would be made in minimum fees but that a uniform business policy should be adopted, and in putting it into effect this statement should be made to the public with the hope that it will be conducive to a better understanding and co-operation between physicians and patients.

"Your doctor has spent several years of hard study and several thousands of dollars to prepare himself to serve you, and still spend much time and money in study, attendance at medical society meetings, post graduate course, and in the purchase of books, medical journals, and equip-

U. S. MARINES TO STAY ON JOB UNTIL COUNTRY IS IN PEACEFUL MOOD

With Obvious Reference to Resolutions Introduced in Both Houses of Congress Demanding Recall of Troops, President Explains His Policy to Callers at White House.

LEATHERNECKS WILL DO POLICE WORK AS LONG AS CIVIL WAR GOES ON

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A staunch defense of the policy of keeping U. S. marines in Nicaragua until the country is restored to tranquility was made by President Coolidge today following the cabinet meeting.

Wth obvious reference to the resolutions that have been introduced in both houses of congress demanding the recall of the marines, President Coolidge informed callers that it is the determination of the administration to keep the troops in Nicaragua until there is an adjustment of Nicaraguan affairs sufficiently to safeguard American interests.

The American government was confronted with the alternative of compelling President Adolfo Diaz to make peace, or of settling the marines down for a prolonged military occupation of the little republic.

Diaz' rejection of the mediation proposed by President Jiminez of Costa Rica, which Secretary of State Kellogg said this government "welcomed," rather put the proposition squarely up to the state department, and there was keen speculation in Latin-American quarters here today over the next step in the situation.

Could Force Diaz to Act.

It is accepted that Diaz could be "persuaded" by the department to make peace. His continuance in the presidential palace at Managua is dependent upon the support of the department and the presence of marines, who have neutralized most of the fighting zones, and disarmed many of his enemies, the Sacasa revolutionists. Consequently, Diaz is peculiarly amenable to the state department's wishes.

The department, however, is admittedly in a somewhat delicate position because of the Mexican irritant. While desirous of restoring peace and stability in Nicaragua, the department is nevertheless determined to have in Managua a regime that leans to this government rather than to Mexico.

American Sloop Seized.

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, Jan. 18.—The Diaz government has seized the American-owned sloop "Union," on grounds of its having participated in the revolution of last May. This action, which was permitted by the commander of the American forces here, has caused considerable comment.

The sloop was involved in a fight in the bay here last May but through the efforts of the American consul eventually had the owner's ship restored to him. When the neutral zones were declared here it was claimed that the "Union" was aiding the liberal forces, although this was denied by her owners. The ship was towed here for repairs and seized by the Diaz forces.

Arbitration is Urged.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 18.—A resolution calling upon the Washington government to submit the Nicaraguan controversy to arbitration will be submitted to delegates to the union of American Hebrew congregations, in general convention here today.

JAMES MONROE IS FINED $100

Admits Dry Law Charge After Police Raid Home.

James Monroe, colored barber, was fined $100 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquors before Municipal Judge Hanley today. He paid half of his fine and gave security for the payment of the balance within two weeks.

Monroe was arrested following a raid upon his home in Orchard Grove avenue extension, Northside, by Captain of Police Conley and Special Patrolman Curran shortly after 2 o'clock this morning.

Police say three men and two girls were in the house when they entered. About 100 quart bottles of home brew were confiscated and dumped. The police claim that two empty whisky bottles were also found.

Monroe was taken to jail where he spent the night.

52 SENATORS READY TO BAR F. L. SMITH FROM OATH OF OFFICE

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A 24-hour truce was declared today between a hostile senate and Senator-elect Frank L. Smith (R) of Illinois, who seeks to serve under an appointment from Governor Small of Illinois.

Facing a hopeless fight, Smith will present his credentials to the senate at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

This action will be the signal for open hostilities, with more than a majority of senators ready to deny him even the right to take his oath of office. A poll by International News Service made this clear today.

Under an agreement, the senate will go into executive session at 2 o'clock to consider the Lausanne treaty.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN WILL FIGHT $4,000 MONTHLY ALIMONY AWARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—Charlie Chaplin announced today through his attorney, Nathan Burkan, that he would fight the award by the superior court at Los Angeles of $4,000 monthly as temporary alimony to his wife, Lita Gray Chaplin.

The famous screen comedian is recovering from a nervous breakdown at his attorney's apartment, here.

Discussing the court decree in Los Angeles, Burkan said:

"We certainly shall contest that award. Mr. Chaplin waited two months in California to be served, but he was not. Then when he left the state the papers were served.

"It is all part of a scheme of Mrs. Chaplain, her family and her lawyers to get a lot of cheap publicity. It was cooked up just for that purpose.

"Mr. Chaplin tried several times to pay for the support of his children, but was refused by his wife. He offered half a million dollars in settlement of her claims and another $100,000 for custody of his eldest son. That also was refused.

The comedian is expected to be

CHAPTER SIXTEEN.

"It all seems to turn upon a handkerchief," I began.

"Handkerchief?" repeated Claypole.

"Yes," I said; "for some unknown reason the handkerchief appears to be vital."

I told the little detective of the strange interview which I had had with Baldassare in the morning, of the frantic searching of my room, and the still stranger interview with the little Japanese in the afternoon, after I had been kidnapped.

Claypole listened in silence, but with astonished eyes. The moment I had finished he started to his feet in a state of suppressed excitement.

"Bully for you!" he exclaimed. "If that don't beat the band. We'll be after that little kerchief as soon as we set foot on terra cotta again, as the old lady said as she passed the statue of Liberty."

"But why in heaven's name do they want it?" I exclaimed. "It's a perfectly ordinary handkerchief. I examined it again and again."

"That is just what we want to find out," said Claypole. "I've a notion that it's about the best clew we shall ever get to the operations of the gang. Anyhow, it's important enough to set them kidnapping a citizen of the United States in broad daylight. We're properly on the trail this journey. That's as plain as the way to parish church."

Our further conversation was interrupted by the entry of several passengers, the rattling of chains and the buzz of the engine telegraph. Looking up, I saw we were alongside a wooden pier and amid the lights of the city of Geneva. Claypole seized hold of my arm.

"Stick close to me," he said.

We got up, paid our reckoning, and joined the crowd which was pressing towards the gangway.

There was an official standing at the pier collecting tickets from the passengers as they disembarked. Beside him was Baldassare Marce. I nudged Claypole.

"Sure," he whispered. "I've seen the gargoyle. But he doesn't cut any ice, not at this tide in the affairs of men."

I must admit I did not share the cool assurance of my companion. I could not wholly master my tremors on perceiving, as we moved nearer to the ticket collector, that the swivel eye of Signor Marce was raking the passengers. We soon drew level and I handed up both tickets. Marce saw us at once and stepped directly in our way.

Before he could say anything, however, Claypole went straight up to him, and looked him quietly up and down.

"Good evening dago," he said "Mighty friendly of you to meet us. But we're pressed for time just now, so we'll just say good day. Make a noise like a tree and leave, will you." He pushed past him, Marce gazing in astonishment, but offering no resistance. He looked baffled.

"The central police station, please," said Claypole briskly, in French.

The gendarme looked at him.

"It's in the Hotel de Ville, but the office is closed, Monsieur."

"Not to this child," replied Claypole, and he held out something in his hand which I could not see.

"I will call a taxi for Monsieur," he said.

"Thank you," said Claypole.

We followed in the wake of the gendarme to where a taxi stood by the pavement. The gendarme opened the door and we stepped in.

Claypole, his head out of the window, looked back smilingly at Marce, whose suppressed emotions had caused him to flush a dull purple.

"Guess that guy won't be needing any pink pills for pale, people this evening," he remarked, as the taxi moved away.

As we drove to the Hotel de Ville, I asked Claypole why he had not committed Baldasarre on a charge of assault.

"I'm out to catch bigger fish than Marce," he replied. "We shall have to pay out a good deal more of the hempen coil before we really invite these guys to hang themselves with same."

"But who are they?" I asked. "And who is the Center?"

"I'll perhaps be able to put you wiser about that when we have a moment to spare," replied Claypole. "The present job is to get the authorities to round up those thugs in Count Emilco's lakeside residence."

We settled that he should go with the police to the villa at Bellevue, where we had been confined, and that I should, if possible, proceed to the laundry and endeavor to obtain the handkerchief. Meanwhile, Claypole would ask for police protection for both of us. He did not disguise from me that we should probably need as much of it as we could get.

Already we were climbing the steep streets of the old town, the original Geneva, where Calvin ruled and where the descendants of the City Fathers still live in an atmosphere of decayed but exclusive dignity.

The taxi stopped opposite a fine seventeen-century building, and we were conducted immediately to the room of the Chief Commissioner of Police. He was apparently awaiting us, having received a telephone warning of our approach from the gendarme whom we had encountered on leaving the boat.

On entering his presence, Claypole produced the talisman he had already shown to the gendarme on the quai, and I perceived it to be a metal token of some kind, stamped with a number and a star. At the same time he took from an inner pocket a small oilskin packet, which he opened, and, taking thence a folded document, spread it before the official.

Claypole explained that I was a private individual, who had already been of great assistance, and the he would esteem it a favor if I could continue to work with him. He himself would be entirely responsible.

The Commissioner nodded, apparently satisfied. He then inquired our particular business.

Claypole explained rapidly in French that he was on the track of an organization known as the Center.

"Indeed," said the Commissioner, "we have had news of these people through our office at Berne from the New York authorities. No details, however, have been given. Perhaps you would be good enough to supplement our information."

This, Claypole said, he was unable to do. He knew little more of their existence than the fact that they were men engaged in the illicit drug traffic on a large scale, and their methods were criminal. He detailed briefly his operations in Paris and ended with a formal request for the immediate arrest of all the persons in the villa at Bellevue, more particularly of the Japanese who appeared to be the head of the organization.

It seemed to me, when he had finished speaking, that the official was somewhat embarrassed.

"It is difficult, gentlemen," he said slowly, "to know exactly what action should be taken. I do not for a moment doubt your credentials, though your appearance, if you will forgive me saying so there he looked pointedly at our soiled and sodden garments) is not reassuring. It is, however, in every case necessary to proceed with caution and with due regard to the regulations. The issue of a wararnt for the arrest of any one could only be granted by a Judge d'Instruction, and on the evidence before us I doubt whether I can recommend that application be made."

"But surely," I burst out "we have both been flagrantly assaulted, and this gentleman, at least, has narrowly escaped assassination."

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup,' which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

LILLIAN GISH IN FILM HIT

"Scarlet Letter" is Screen Offering at American.

There's one thing the flapper of today wouldn't want to be—and that's a Puritan flapper. It just couldn't be done!

Girls of today with their lipsticks, rolled hose and other fads and foibles can get almost a shudder in contemplating Lillian Gish in her Puritan life in "The Scarlet Letter," now playing at the American theatre.

She got put in the stocks for laughing and singing on the Sabbath—and faced the deepest disgrace for something that really was sweet and beautiful—almost sublime.

Lillian is Beautiful.

Lillian Gish looks very beautiful in her severe Puritan garb—so beautiful that the simple costume seems almost better than the most fashionable gown of today. Her tragedy will wring every girl's heart—and her acting is wonderful. It is a story that holds one enthralled—and the great dramatic climax is one of the most remarkable things ever seen in a picture. The story, from Nathaniel Hawthorne's classic of Puritan days, will grip the heart of every woman who sees it by the immensity of its dramatic theme.

Incidentally, Miss Gish introduces a new matinee idol—from Sweden—to the American flapper in this new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature. He is

CERAMIC BOOKS 'WE'RE IN NAVY'

Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton Appear in Cast.

Adolphe Menjou may remain Uncle Sam's suave sophisticate, Harold Lloyd should keep on as America's perennial playboy, Jack Holt can continue upholding the honor of the West, Bebe Daniels may well stay on as Hollywood's joyful tomboy but— as for Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton —let them continue to be the screen's funniest comedy team, in films similar to 1926's fun fest, "Behind the Front."

Paramount offficials realized the the public demand for a sequel to the first "sunny side of the war" picture and cast about for another good story. Monty Brice, adapter of the earlier production, handed in an orginal script, which upon being read caused everyone to fall into convulsions of laughter. It's name? "Were in the Navy Now."

And so—the picture which arrives at the Ceramic theatre tomorrow for a four-day run, traces the lives of a prize fighter and his manager from the day they innocently join the Navy till their final return to the ring. If you don't believe it to be chuck full of shrieks, listen to one typical situation.

After having been vamped by a nurse aboard ship, the boys are asked to take her over the side in a rowboat. They do this and she suddenly vanishes into thin air. Lost in a fog, their boat is cut in two by an immense dreadnaught. Picked up by rescuers, they tell of their adventures with a whole fleet of submarines! Then—but why continue? "We're in the Navy Now" is really a life-saver in a sea of inferior productions.

Lars Hanson, known as "the Barrymore of Sweden," and he makes a wonderful lover in the leading role. Henry B. Walthall, once Miss Gish's lover in "Birth of a Nation," plays her enemy and pursuer in the new picture, and a wonderful cast, with Karl Dane, Marcelle Corday, Jules Cowles, William H. Tooker, little Joyce Coad and others appear. The scenes in the Puritan village are gorgeous.

It is romantic, tragic, gripping—but no flapper of today would ever want to be a Puritan girl in the stern, intolerent times depicted in the powerful picture.

But—they'll all thrill at the play, just the same!

Mrs. Burton Advises Women on Motherhood and Companionship.

"For several years I was denied the blessing of motherhood," writes Mrs. Margaret Burton of Kansas City. "I was terribly nervous and subject to periods of terrible suffering and melancholia. Now I am the proud mother of a beautiful little daughter and a true companion and inspiration to my husband. I believe hundreds of other women would like to know the secret of my happiness, and I will gladly reveal it to any married woman who will write me." Mrs Burton offers her advice entirely without charge. She has nothing to sell. Letters should be addressed to Mrs. Margaret Burton, 1660 Massachusetts, Kansas City, Mo. Don't Let Colds Turn Into Catarrh

Authorities say 85% of all catarrhal cases start as common colds

When a cold is hard to "shake off," watch out! When a cold "hangs on" week after week, be suspicious! In nine cases out of ten this is the way catarrh starts. The mucous membranes become inflamed and congested, and the catarrhal condition soon becomes chronic.

Stop Frequent Colds

The delicate linings of nose and throat are very sensitive. Cold germs weaken them. Each attack makes them less resistant. You must get rid of the congestion and stored-up impurities. Then Catarrh disappears.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous membrane. It gently stimulates the delicate tissues to throw off the accumulated poisons. Nature then quickly restores tone, vigor and health.

A Proved Treatment

Ointments alone have proved ineffective. Salves give but temporary relief. To end catarrh, you must treat the cause.

This Hall's Catarrh Medicine does because it is a combined treatment—a tonic that acts thru the blood on the mucous membranes, and an ointment that soothes and relieves.

If you have colds, catarrh, sinusitis, catarrhal deafness or catarrhal bad breath, get Hall's Catarrh Medicine today. Ask your druggist. Price 85c. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Patients, Pay As You Go

The City hospital staff, which includes all physicians of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, faced with the alternative of increasing fees for those who pay promptly, or demanding settlements on the part of delinquents, today served notice upon the public of the adoption of a pay-as-you-go policy for medical services.

Henceforth, office work and obstetrics will be on a cash basis. Interests will be charged on all accounts which are not paid within 30 days. All bills must be settled by cash or negotiable note within 90 days.

As the physicians point out, they hesitate to increase fees in the East Liverpool district, although their minimum charges are from 33 1-3 to 100 per cent less than the cost of medical service in many communities comparable with East Liverpool and other nearby towns. For the increase would be a penalty upon the patient who pays promptly and have little bearing upon others.

The doctor, who has spent many years in study and thousands of dollars to prepare to serve the sick, not to mention his investment in books, medical journals and equipment, is as much entitled to prompt payment as the grocer, butcher, milk man, clothier or shoe merchant. And like other business and professional men, there are times when he must borrow to meet his obligations.

All physicians are willing to do some charity work, but if the compensation for most of their services is "I can't pay you today," they soon find themselves in financial difficulties. So henceforth, as a means of self-protection, they will demand prompt settlement of accounts by persons who can afford to pay.

And why not? The doctor is as worthy of his hire as the butcher, baker, candlestick maker or pottery worker.

State Laws Not Enough

The committee on child welfare of the National League of of Women Voters has been studying the child labor situation throughout the country, primarily to discover whether children are receiving under state legislation as much protection as they would have received under either of the former federal laws. The conclusion they have reached is that state labor laws are not enough. They find:

1. Even with recent improvements state laws do not accord children adequate protection against the evils of child labor.

2. Federal child labor legislation (in effect for nearly four years during the period 1917-1922) assisted in improving the situation by automatically raising standards in states where they were conspicuously low, by encouraging states to pass increasingly good laws and by developing enforcement methods.

3. Only one state with low standards has brought up its state laws to the very moderate standards of the two federal laws, even as regards work in factories, since the second federal law was declared unconstitutional.

The League's committee seems to feel that the backward states never will raise their standards unless they are spurred on by national authority. With the approaching observance of National Child Labor Day the end of this month, intelligent discussion of the situation ought to be in order in every group and organization interested in child-saving and its resultant citizen-saving.

Babson On Booze

Roger Babson, the statistician, made some observations on prohibition the other day that should carry weight.

Prohibition, he finds, "has resulted in increasing the working power of the wage worker and has been a great factor in bringing about higher wages."

What has been done, then, with their extra money?

"Instead of being employed uselessly for hiring labor to manufacture whisky and beer, it has been used in hiring labor to build houses, make clothes and other things that are worth while."

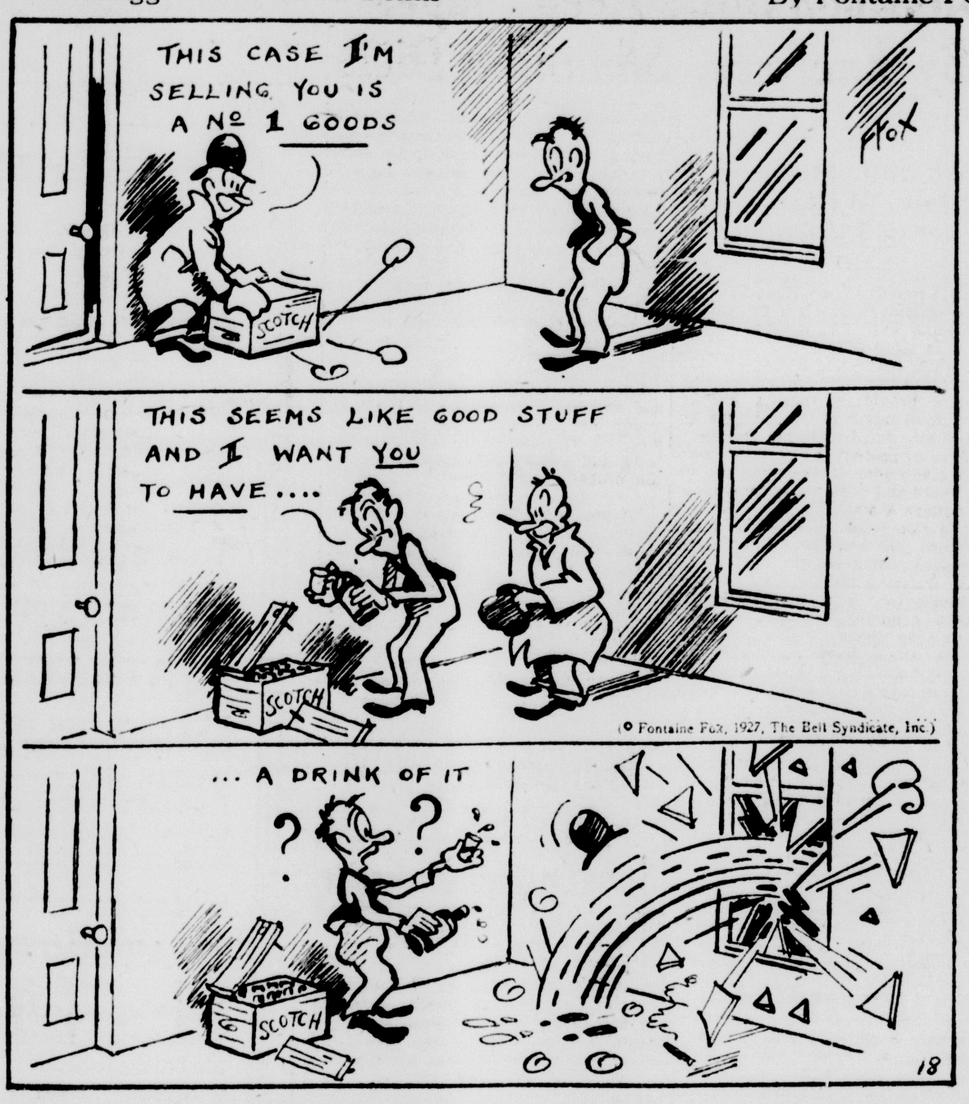

Among the other things, labor savings, formerly spent on liquor, have gone into saving banks and helped to keep interest rates low.

Especially interesting is Mr. Babson's reference to installment buying.

"Had it not been for prohibition," he says, "the present growth in the stallment business would have been impossible. It was prohibition which enabled workers to establish credits. Without prohibition these credits could not have been established; the goods purchased could never have been manufactured, and the prosperity which we now enjoy would not exist."

All this Mr. Babson deduces not from his moral code or his inner consciousness, but from careful study of thousands of facts and acres of figures.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Trick dinners are being revived by those generous hosts with corpulent bank rolls. They are supreme efforts to perk up the jaded souls who agonize that with prohibition dining out has lost zest.

Unless a dinner offers a super thrill these days the host finds himself all alone with the butlers. At a recent dinner the ball room was flossed up to represent Venice. There were real canals with miniature gondolas and booming voiced gondoliers.

At another on Park Avenue a mammoth apartment was fashioned into a wild frontier town with cowboys, Indians, pool halls, tough saloons and dance palaces. Roulette and faro flourished. It is said the host lost $18 000 banking the games aside from the cost of the party.

The expensive stunt dinner is not new. It flourished in the nineties. Reggie Vanderbilt celebrated his 21st birthday with a stag that set him back $22.000. The favors for 22 guests cost $500 each. The famous "subway dinner" was another expensive affair.

It was given by promoters of the enterprise. The table was shaped o represent the subway lines. Toy electric trains carried food and drink in gastronomic order. The most unusual dinner perhaps was the one given by C. K. G. Billings, a celebrated turfman.

It was held at old Sherry's and guests came on prancing horses. So seated, they partook of a sumptuous fare from tables built up seven feet high. The waiters carried food up ladders and afterward guests rode to Central Park for a gallop around the bridle path.

Still another talked about dinner was one at which Jerome Siegel was host. Each guest was given a rod and reel and in evening dress they tried their luck in a pool of live trout in the center of the dining room. Their catches were immediately prepared by a French chef.

There is one trick dinner that is said to have alienated a stage star from many friends. He was invited as guest of honor. He saw notables from all walks of life. The cafe was a tony one of the moment—and he was a proud Thespian. The soup was cold, oysters hot and the fish a trifle old and smelly. Salad was banana skins and strips from old shoes. The napkins were sliced from the seats of ancient overalls. The cigars were stubs like Na Wills used to carry in his tramp sketch. The ice cream was stuffed with cotton and wine was pop served in fragile champage glasses. In a word the dinner was awful. The guest of honor looked on in white faced anger as one dish after another was brought in. Then he suddenly stood up, his overturned chair pistoling a silence, and in a calm, cold voice said: "This is a joke I shall not forget. It means the end of my friendship with each of you." And he stalked out of the room.

There is a shop on Tenth Avenue where confidence men go for habiliments when they are grooming a sucker for trimming. The proprietor outfits them in correct dress for hire. By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Being Paid for Exercising.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 18.—Think of being paid for playing golf or tennis, swimming, skating, taking a long walk, playing basketball or handball, working in a gymnasium, doing your daily dozen at home, riding horseback, or, perhaps, even dancing, an hour every day!

Incredible? Not a bit of it. A great national welfare organization has just made an offer to its large office staff that is in effect just such a proposal. The National Safety Council, a cooperative, non-profit-making association composed of community safety councils, corporations, and public spirited citizens interested primarily in preventing accidents on the streets, in homes, and throughout industry, has notified the employees in its headquarters at Chicago that cash awards will be paid weekly to those of them who exercise for at least one hour each day.

And in making the public announcement of this unique offer it is stated that officers of the accident prevention institution are watching with keen interest the development in this experiment, which is designed to keep brain workers feeling fit, and that if the results are satisfactory it is likely that thousands of other employers will offer similar inducements in the hope of keeping their office employees in a healthier and happier frame of mind.

"I am convinced that our employees ought to take a more active part in the national health campaign and feel confident the attendance and efficiency of the staff will be improved if each one will take regular daily exercise," said W. H. Cameron, managing director of the council, in explaining the reason for the innovation. "I know that the increased efficiency will be worth money to our organization and I have therefore offered to pay a small cash bonus to each staff member who submits a certificate at the end of the week that he or she has taken one hour's continuous exercise each day. Of course the offer h no strings attached to it and the exercise will be purely voluntary and must not interfere with our present working hours."

Healthy Workers Are Happy.

It is Mr. Cameron's belief that healthy workers are happy workers. If people are not in good health, naturally they are not very much interested in their daily duties. He says his organization has no money to spend foolishly, but that he is confident the proposed investment will pay big dividends.

His own experience over a period of twenty-five years has taught him that it is comparatively easy to exercise an hour a day and that many infections, colds, sore throats and disabilities due to congestion and constipation, can be so remedied. Good health is the best and most desirable asset in life, but it can not be secured or maintained unless the body is kept lubricated by a period of vigorous exercise daily. Little dabs of exercise—such as walking a few blocks three or four times a day—are not sufficient for the average person.

"Our staff members have the option of a straight walk in an hour, skating for an hour, or any other exercise they may select," he adds. "It is my conviction that the employees who take advantage of this offer will be better workers. They will come back to work with greater enthusiasm for their daily efforts and will feel full of pep. Also, there should be fewer absences due to minor ailments."

Associates of Mr. Cameron say that he is a man who practices what he preaches. He goes skating several times a week in the winter, conditions permitting, and in warm weather goes swimming two or three times a day. It is one of his frequent stunts to walk from his home in Evanston to the headquarters of the institution in East Ohio street, Chicago, and when his favorite exercises fail him he finds other things to do to keep himself fit. That he succeeds in doing this is evidenced by the fact that while he has a thorough physical examination twice every year he never requires medical treatment.

In making the offer, skating and walking were the exercises named, but it was stated that the employees were free to select any other form. This led one of the stenographers to inquire if dancing all evening would be considered real exercise. Her private opinion publicly expressed was that anyone who danced the Charleston continuously for even fifteen minutes would be taking more exercise than could be derived from a ten-mile walk, besides it was lots more fun than walking, skating, or swimming. A ruling on her question has not been announced, but the additional point may be made that if dancing the Charleston isn't exercise then riding a horse can't be, for recent news dispatches told of a girl who had broken a leg doing the strenuous dance, while the Prince of Wales does a world of horseback riding and the worst that has happened to him was a sprained shoulder.

Golf May Fill the Boll.

Golf may meet all requirements. Anyone who chases the elusive pill around nine holes in the early morning takes more exercise than in an hour's walk of any kind, save possibly mountain climbing. Furthermore, the game has the additional advantage that those who become golf addicts almost invariably stick to it. Physicians discovered some years ago that patients for whom they had prescribed walking, gymnasium work, setting-up exercises, and the like, would not keep it up for any length of time, so they began prescribing golf and found that their patients rarely abandoned it.

Also, golf is a game that men and women of all agees can play and enjoy, and in a large part of the United States it can be played practically the year around. Therein it has it all over skating and swimming, which, while all there is to be desired in the way of exercise, are distinctly seasonal sports and present far more elements of danger.

Tennis is recognized as a splendid exercise, but it is too strenuous save for the young and hardy and it, too, is a seasonal sport except for a few favored localities and where indoor courts ar available.

Leading employers of the country have for the last decade or more agreed as to the value of exercise for their workers—not only exercise, but recreation of any wholesome kind. Many of them have provided gymnasiums for their employees and some have maintained athletic fields and encouraged the formation of various kinds of athletic teams.

Unfortunately, in many instances this has all been done under the name of welfare work and instead of being appreciated by the employees has been resented by large numbers of them who have an abiding prejudice against anything's being done for them for their welfare by their employers except the granting of more pay and shorter hours.

Perhaps the experiment now being tried in Chicago will demonstrate that the only way to put the exercise proposition over is to offer a bonus for it.

Patients, Pay As You Go

The City hospital staff, which includes all physicians of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, faced with the alternative of increasing fees for those who pay promptly, or demanding settlements on the part of delinquents, today served notice upon the public of the adoption of a pay-as-you-go policy for medical services.

Henceforth, office work and obstetrics will be on a cash basis. Interests will be charged on all accounts which are not paid within 30 days. All bills must be settled by cash or negotiable note within 90 days.

As the physicians point out, they hesitate to increase fees in the East Liverpool district, although their minimum charges are from 33 1-3 to 100 per cent less than the cost of medical service in many communities comparable with East Liverpool and other nearby towns. For the increase would be a penalty upon the patient who pays promptly and have little bearing upon others.

The doctor, who has spent many years in study and thousands of dollars to prepare to serve the sick, not to mention his investment in books, medical journals and equipment, is as much entitled to prompt payment as the grocer, butcher, milk man, clothier or shoe merchant. And like other business and professional men, there are times when he must borrow to meet his obligations.

All physicians are willing to do some charity work, but if the compensation for most of their services is "I can't pay you today," they soon find themselves in financial difficulties. So henceforth, as a means of self-protection, they will demand prompt settlement of accounts by persons who can afford to pay.

And why not? The doctor is as worthy of his hire as the butcher, baker, candlestick maker or pottery worker.

State Laws Not Enough

The committee on child welfare of the National League of of Women Voters has been studying the child labor situation throughout the country, primarily to discover whether children are receiving under state legislation as much protection as they would have received under either of the former federal laws. The conclusion they have reached is that state labor laws are not enough. They find:

1. Even with recent improvements state laws do not accord children adequate protection against the evils of child labor.

2. Federal child labor legislation (in effect for nearly four years during the period 1917-1922) assisted in improving the situation by automatically raising standards in states where they were conspicuously low, by encouraging states to pass increasingly good laws and by developing enforcement methods.

3. Only one state with low standards has brought up its state laws to the very moderate standards of the two federal laws, even as regards work in factories, since the second federal law was declared unconstitutional.

The League's committee seems to feel that the backward states never will raise their standards unless they are spurred on by national authority. The league points out the fact that the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution, although not ratified, also is not finally defeated, since subsequent legislatures have the right to reverse the decisions of those that turned down ratification.

The whole subject, therefore, should be kept before the public eye until all the country's children are afforded at least a reasonable minimum of protection. With the approaching observance of National Child Labor Day the end of this month, intelligent discussion of the situation ought to be in order in every group and organization interested in child-saving and its resultant citizen-saving.

Babson On Booze

Roger Babson, the statistician, made some observations on prohibition the other day that should carry weight.

Prohibition, he finds, "has resulted in increasing the working power of the wage worker and has been a great factor in bringing about higher wages."

What has been done, then, with their extra money?

"Instead of being employed uselessly for hiring labor to manufacture whisky and beer, it has been used in hiring labor to build houses, make clothes and other things that are worth while."

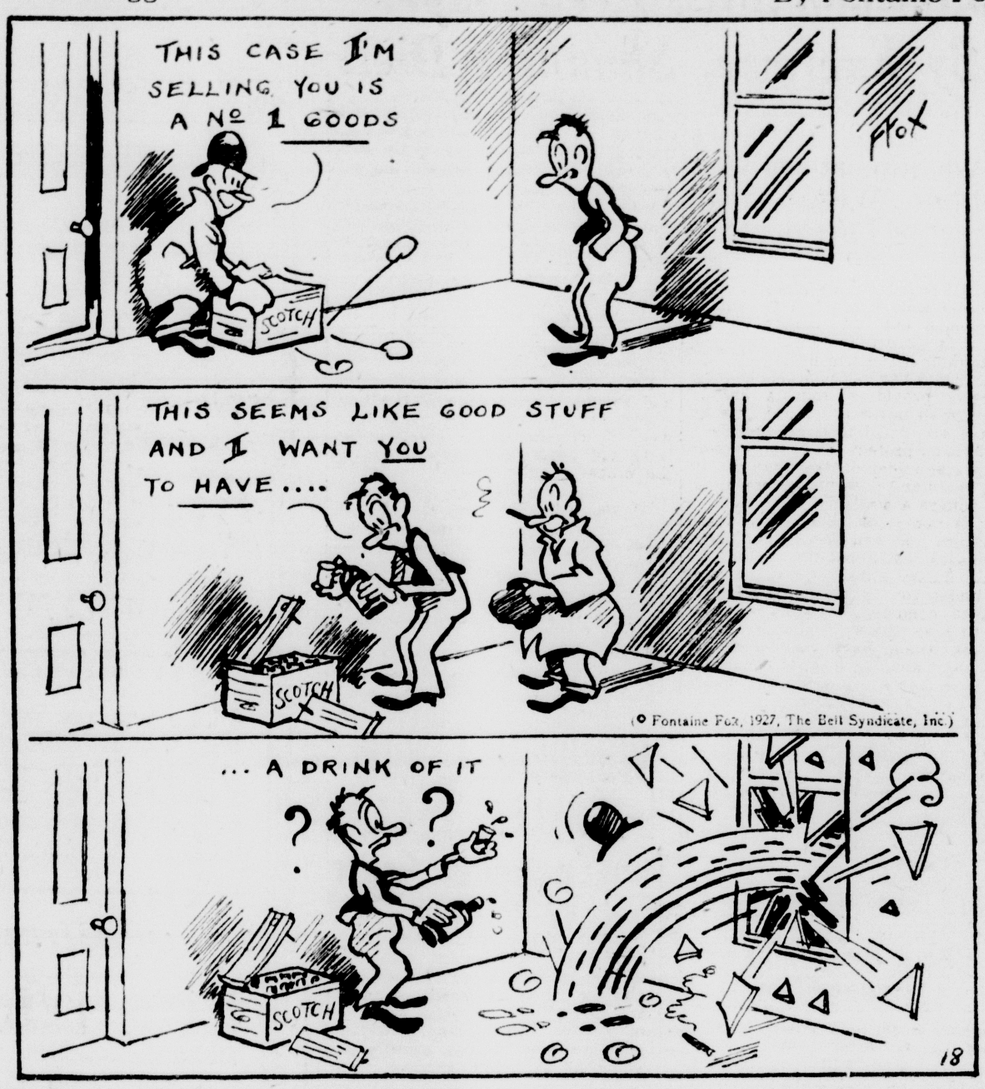

Among the other things, labor savings, formerly spent on liquor, have gone into savings banks and helped to keep interest rates low.

Especially interesting is Mr. Babson's reference to installment buying.

"Had it not been for prohibition," he says, "the present growth in the stallment business would have been impossible. It was prohibition which enabled workers to establish credits. Without prohibition these credits could not have been established; the goods purchased could never have been manufactured, and the prosperity which we now enjoy would not exist."

All this Mr. Babson deduces not from his moral code or his inner consciousness, but from careful study of thousands of facts and acres of figures.

SOCIETY

Methodist Church Society Members Are Dinner Guests

Members of the Queen Esther society and Standard Bearers of the First Methodist Episcopal church entertained last evening with a 6 o'clock dinner. Places were arranged for 24 guests. The dinner was served by a group of seniors in the high school, with Miss Grace McConnell as chairman.

Following the dinner a program was carried out. The president, Miss Georgia McVay, was the leader. The devotionals were in charge of Miss McVay, Misses Bertha Artz and Daisy Shenkle. Group singing of old hymns was featured.

Miss Ogalalla Boden, organizer and director of the two societies, was granted a leave of absence, while recuperating from illness.

Hollywood Stars Keep Shapes By Exercise, Shunning Diets

Most Film Actresses Have Stipulations That Certain Weight Shall Never be Passed.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Keeping thin is a hefty enough problem for almost any woman but for motion picture stars it is more than that.

It is their bread and butter.

Most stars have stipulations in their contracts providing that a certain weight shall never be passed. On an average this deadline is 120 pounds.

This is to protect the producer who puts a star under contract for two or three years and pays her several thousand dollars a week.

Many dainty actresses, however, are way under the 120 pound mark, but it takes considerable work on their part to stay there.

All of them have various unique methods of keeping in good condition.

Colleen Moore has a bicycle, which she rides to the sets and back to her bungalow. This gives here exercise throughout the day. Colleen also practices fancy dancing between scenes whenever the scales say she has gained a pound or two. Dancing, she says, is one of the easiest ways to take off weight. Miss Moore's normal weight is 105.

Horseback Riding.

Anna Q. Nilsson keeps in shape by swimming and by skating. She is considered one of the best skaters in Hollywood, and is frequently to be seen in fancy turns at the various "ice palaces" of Los Angeles.

Billie Dove, who is credited with being one of the most beautiful women in Hollywood, keeps her figure by playing tennis and golf, and by walking at least a mil every morning.

Mary Astor, she of the titian hair, finds that skipping the rope for fifteen minute each morning and evening is just the thing to keep her weight where she wants it.

Doris Kenyon believes in swimming and rowing. "Swimming is the best exercise in the world," says Miss Kenyon. "It exercises every muscle in the body and keeps them smooth and at the proper tension.

No Dieting.

"If you want to keep thin in the easiest and most pleasant manner, swim every day for 20 minutes or half an hour."

Florence Vidor is a tennis fan and plays regularly. Her court is a mecca for the elite among the tennis playing stars in Hollywood.

Exercise is the thing, most of the stars agree. Dieting isn't in it.

"I believe in exercise but I simply refuse to become a diet fanatic," the exquisite Dolores del Rio said the other day.

Rita Carewe chimed in with a similar view. "I think dieting is harmful," she opined, "and what's more it isn't necessary. Plenty of outdoor exercise and moderation in eating, yes. Dieting, no!"

And to this Maryon Aye, who was among those present, chirped a loud "Amen!"

Mrs. Lundy Price, 530 Palissey street, East End, will receive the members of the Missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

WELLSVILLE CITY FACES $40,000 TAX SHRINKAGE

SOLONS STUDY WAYS TO SOLVE FUND DECREASE

Levy Slash Probably Will Hit Municipal Departments.

MEETING TONIGHT

Mayor Fogo Fears Corporation Will Feel "Pinch."

The City of Wellsville will have $40,000 less to operate on during 1927 than it did in 1926, according to figures in the office of the city auditor.

The closeness with which the budget commission has estimated local requirements and the reduction of three mills or more in the municipal rate, as a result of a decrease in sinking fund requirements, with fewer bonds coming due, are the primary causes.

The city in 1926 received $115,000, with a higher tax rate. This year, it will get approximately $40,000.

Wellsville pared its rate by better than three mills, but the total levy dropped only a half mill as a result of a boost in school requirements.

The reduction, according to Mayor W. L. Fogo, may cause the city to "scrape" before the year is over.

Attention of city council will be brought to the problem tonight.

SCIENTISTS STILL WORKING FOR UNCLE SAM AT SMALL PAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Pure science is unprofitable.

Applied science can be hitched up with the manufacture of radio apparatus or the development of new cleansing compounds or some other industry and made to pay good dividends.

National Museum

But pure science, for itself alone, does well if it yields a bare living.

The government service is full of men who have devoted lifetimes to the most abstruse research along the lines of their various specialties, and what do they get for it? The ones who pay income taxes on as much as $5,000 apiece annually are the exceptions.

THE bureau of standards consists of next to nothing but scientists. The department of agriculture bulges with them. The geological survey is all science. Ditto the hydrographic office and the naval observatory. These are just a few samples.

The Smithsonian Institution, as everybody knows, is world renowned for its scientific achievements—and poverty-stricken to the last extremity.

The scientists who man these outfits work simply for their salaries—mighty skimpy ones. If they discover anything with money in it somebody else rakes in the profits.

THE government scientist on a $5,000-a-year stipend—and a very, very few draw as much as six, seven or eight thousand each—is able to make ends meet, doubtless.

But, remember, he's a super-scientist by the time he gets that high up the ladder. He classes, in his particular field, with business multimillionaires and with the $75,000 or $100,000 a year practioners in most of the other professions.

He could quit, in all probability, and get a job as an applied scientist in some such thing as a soap factory, for instance, at two or three times his government salary.

Why doesn't he do it?

As nearly as I can figure out, simply because he loves pure science, which the government is willing to pay very moderately for, whereas commercially applied science, while offering far larger rewards, must show tangible financial results in return for them.

NOT but what these pure scientists do get financial results, only they're of a kind which no single individual or corporation can deposit in a bank and check against.

For example, one of the agriculture department's scientists finds a bug in some out of the way place which preys on another insect that playing smash with one crop or another. He imports the new bug and sets it to preying. It stays the bad bug's depredations and the threatened crop flourishes and yields golden harvests again.

SOME of these experts have international reputations among savants

They're recognized as the world's greatest authorities in their respective spheres of activity. People come from all over the face of the earth to consult them—gratis.

But any small town business or professional man, of importance enough to belong to the Rotary club, would turn up his nose at what they're paid for it.

Cold, Weather Deals Knockout Blow to Venango Oil Drilling

FRANKLIN, Pa.—The winter season has hit the oil drilling in the Venango fields a knockout blow. Winter conditions coupled with the recent price cut of crude oil to $3.05 has caused activity to be halted until spring.

Independent operators are hoping for a 25 cent price advance which will make it profitable to resume activities in the spring. There has been no increase in the crude oil market since February, 1926, when a 25 cent rise put the price at $3.80. Every change in the market since that time has been on the decline.

But pure science, for itself alone, does well if it yields a bare living.

The government service is full of men who have devoted lifetimes to the most abstruse research along the lines of their various specialties, and what do they get for it? The ones who pay income taxes on as much as $5,000 apiece annually are the exceptions.

THE bureau of standards consists of next to nothing but scientists. The department of agriculture bulges with them. The geological survey is all science. Ditto the hydrographic office and the naval observatory. These are just a few samples.

The Smithsonian Institution, as everybody knows, is world renowned for its scientific achievements—and poverty-stricken to the last extremity.

The scientists who man these outfits work simply for their salaries—mighty skimpy ones. If they discover anything with money in it somebody else rakes in the profits.

THE government scientist on a $5,000-a-year stipend—and a very, very few draw as much as six, seven or eight thousand each—is able to make ends meet, doubtless.

But, remember, he's a super-scientist by the time he gets that high up the ladder. He classes, in his particular field, with business multimillionaires and with the $75,000 or $100,000 a year practioners in most of the other professions.

He could quit, in all probability, and get a job as an applied scientist in some such thing as a soap factory, for instance, at two or three times his government salary.

Why doesn't he do it?

As nearly as I can figure out, simply because he loves pure science, which the government is willing to pay very moderately for, whereas commercially applied science, while offering far larger rewards, must show tangible financial results in return for them.

NOT but what these pure scientists do get financial results, only they're of a kind which no single individual or corporation can deposit in a bank and check against.

For example, one of the agriculture department's scientists finds a bug in some out of the way place which preys on another insect that playing smash with one crop or another. He imports the new bug and sets it to preying. It stays the bad bug's depredations and the threatened crop flourishes and yields golden harvests again.

They're recognized as the world's greatest authorities in their respective spheres of activity. People come from all over the face of the earth to consult them—gratis.

But any small town business or professional man, of importance enough to belong to the Rotary club, would turn up his nose at what they're paid for it.

Cold, Weather Deals Knockout Blow to Venango Oil Drilling

FRANKLIN, Pa.—The winter season has hit the oil drilling in the Venango fields a knockout blow. Winter conditions coupled with the recent price cut of crude oil to $3.05 has caused activity to be halted until spring.

Independent operators are hoping for a 25 cent price advance which will make it profitable to resume activities in the spring. There has been no increase in the crude oil market since February, 1926, when a 25 cent rise put the price at $3.80. Every change in the market since that time has been on the decline.

FIVE MEN WHO DEFIED SENATE FACE PUNISHMENT

INSULL, CROWE, SINCLAIR AND OTHERS LISTED

Threatened With Prison Sentences Under Contempt Move.

DAUGHERTY CASE

Decision Said to Block Escape of Oil Man.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Having at one time or another defied the authority of the senate, five well-known men appeared headed toward punishment today as a result of congressional committees' efforts to compel attendance of witnesses at their investigations.

The list of men, threatened with prison sentences under contempt proceedings, includes Samuel Insull, multi-millionaire head of Illinois public utilities; Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney of Chicago; Harry F. Sinclair, multi-millionaire oil man; Thomas F. Cunninghmam, clerk of the quarter session court of Philadelphia, and Mal S. Daugherty, brother of the former attorney general.

In the opinion of the state's constitutional authorities, the decision while made directly upon the case of Mal Daugherty, had even greater effect on the contempt case against Sinclair, now pending in the District of Columbia court. The decision, according to Senator Walsh (D.) of Montana, virtually blocks every avenue by which Sinclair might escape a jail term on the pending contempt charge.

May Cite Mal Daugherty.

"The decision settled once and for all the authority of the senate to investigate on behalf of legislation and its right to subpoena witnesses and to take testimony," said Walsh. "I feel it removes the only serious question in the prosecution of Mr. Sinclair for refusing to testify. It will apply equally well against every other person who defied the senate's power to compel testimony.

Contempt citations will be made to the senate against Insull, Crowe and Cunningham in the near future, Senator Reed (D.) of Missouri, announced yesterday.

Action on the case of Mal Daugherty was delayed while senators communicated with District Attorney Buckner in New York city. Led by Senator Wheeler (D.) of Montana, who headed the old Daugherty investigation, they sought to learn whether action against Daugherty would embarrass the government's case in the federal court at New York.

"I expect to ask that Mr. Daugherty be brought before the bar of the senate and punished for contempt," said Wheeler. "I am conferring with other senators over the course of action and we may decide to cite him to the federal courts here for contempt."

Another Reduction In Ford Car Prices Hinted by Witness

DETROIT, Jan. 18.—Peter E. Martin, vice president of the Ford Motor company, on the stand at the government's $34,000,000 tax suit against former Ford stockholders today, told of prospects for further reductions in Ford prices.

Martin was asked if in 1913 there was a prospect of reducing Ford prices and producing the car in greater quantities.

"There was a prospect of still further reductions then as there is a prospect of further reductions now," he replied.

Chaplin to Fight

Drives Against Fortune.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18.—Hollywood and Los Angeles today were wondering just how long Charlie Chaplin's fortune, variously estimated at from $10,000,000 to $16,000,000, would be able to stand the concerted drives being made against it by the United States government and by attorneys representing the comedian's 18-year old wife, Lity Grey Chaplin, who is seeking a divorce from her famous husband.

Chaplin today stood ordered by a Los Angeles court to pay Mrs. Chaplin $4,000 a month temporary maintenance pending the outcome of her divorce. In addition the comedian must pay $8,000 to his wife at once to cover maintenance for the last two months, also $4,000 as a part fee for her battery of attorneys, $2,150 to pay for bonds under which receivers have taken over the Chaplin property, and $250 for attorneys' expenses.

At the same time the noted comedian was defendant in six income tax suits aggregating $1,073,700 filed by the United States government in Los Angeles on the ground that Chaplin's tax returns for six of the last 10 years had revealed alleged irregularities.

Added on top of all this was the report that Mrs. Chaplin would probably be awarded at least half of her husband's fortune, if not more, in the event she won her divorce action.

Nine Ohioans Held As Jurors Probe "Orgies on Beach"

PAINESVILLE, O., Jan. 18.—Information of clandestine meetings between young girl students with high school boys and older men, who conducted classes in "sophistication," was being laid before a Lake county grand jury here today, presaging a scandal which may involve several prominent local men.

Nine men are under arrest in connection with the affair. The latest to be held is a 20-year-old basketball star of the Willoughby high school who is charged with contributing to the delinquency of young girls. One of the men is more than 83 years of age.

The towns of Willoughby, Kirtland and Painesville are involved in the alleged "beach orgies," in which it is declared that extremely young girls and boys were tutored in abnormal practices by a group of older men.

Superintendent Frank N. Shenkland, of Andrews Institute an exclusive school for girls, went before the grand jury today. He was followed by Mrs. Mary Seeley, matron, and Mrs. Ethel Viall, principal of Willoughby schools.

HABEAS CORPUS CASE DROPPED

Court Action Over Mrs. Mary McCoy's Son Dismissed.

Hebeas corpus proceedings against Edward S. Ruhl, 17-year-old son of Mrs. Mary McCoy of Detroit, brought by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ruhl, his foster parents, of Elkrun township, were dismissed yesterday afternoon by Judge Charles Moore in common pleas court No. 2, Lisbon.

At a recent hearing, the youth chose to live with his mother, who has offered him a home in Detroit. Evidence showed that the young man will be 18 years old next month, at which time, by an agreement made when he was taken from the Fairmount children's home, he is to be returned to the institution.

Upon his return, the law provides that he shall be given $50 in money and two suits of clothes by the family with whom he has been residing.

Edward Ridgley, father of the boy, today denied that he had placed Edward and his brother, Russell, in the Fairmount home when they were one and two years of age, respectively, while the mother was in a hospital. Ridgley said that he was separated from his wife and was residing in Oklahoma at the time that his children were placed in the home.

Pay-as-you-go

ment, not for his own pleasure or personal advantage, but to enable him to keep up with medical advancement and give you as good service as can be gotten in any other community.

"This medical knowledge and equipment are your doctor's sole stock in trade. They are all he has to sell, and you have no more right to expect him to furnish you his wares free, or to wait months or years for his pay than you would have to expect your grocer, clothier, shoe merchant, auto or gasoline salesman to do the same thing.

Ask Regular Pay Day.

"Or put it another way: Most of you work for firms who have regular pay days, when you know you will be paid all you have earned since last pay day.

"How many of you would work for any one if he came to you on pay day and said, "I can't pay you now. I have some other bills to pay first and then I'll get around to you," and would wait months or years before paying you, or would pay only a small part of what you had earned?

"Your doctor must borrow money at more or less frequent intervals to purchase equipment or to pay bills to people who are not so lenient as he. When he borrows money, of course, he pays interest. Is it fair that he should pay interest on every penny he owes, even for a few days, while he has thousands of dollars of uncollected accounts which are drawing no interest?

"Each and every physician is willing at all times to do his share of charity work, but no one who maintains an automobile, a radio, a pack of hunting dogs or other luxuries, will be considereed a worthy object of charity.

Doctor Must Pay His Debts.

"Obstetrics should be cash because you have had 40 weeks to prepare for this, and that means saving only 62½ cents per week.

"Many more facts and arguments could be stated, but enough has been said to show you that your doctor is not a capitalist. He has the same economic conditions to meet as you have. He depends entirely upon the payment for his service to you, for his livelihood, and is furnishing you this service for a much lower fee than physicians in similar communities are receiving for the same service. He can not pay his debts with your intention to pay, unless that intention is reduced to writing in the form of a negotiable note.

"He hopes to continue to serve you for his present moderate fees, and can do so if you will observe the stated business policy."

Congressman Calls For Prosecution of U. S. Speakeasy Men

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Representative Laguardia (R.) of New York today served another demand upon the district attorney's office at New York for federal prosecution of prohibition agents who operated the "Bridge Whist club," a government "speakeasy" used to entrap liquor law violators.

Laguardia dispatched a telegram to Robert E. Manley, chief assistant federal district attorney, upon being informed that District Attorney Buckner was recuperating in Florida after an operation

DR. FIFE HITS SLANDEROUS, LYING TONGUES

Tabernacle Church of Christ Sermon Condemns Gossip.

EAST END MEN

High School Pupils Will Hear "Bobbed Hair" Discourse.

"Any man who will take a ham to a widow and six starving children and stay there until it is cooked and all eaten is doing nothing to comfort the fatherless in their affliction," Dr. Clyde Lee Fife, head of Radio Log Cabin Boys from Kentucky, in a sermon declared last night at the Tabernacle church, 1202 Pennsylvania avenue, East End. "Oh, God, how many of you here tonight wish that some dark day in your life could be written on the blackboard of memory and that you could take a sponge and wipe it away forever. You cannot do that alone but through faith in the atoning blood of Christ, our God can do it for you."

Bob Fife led the choir and played "Just a Cottage Small By a Waterfall" and "Abide With Me," on the hand saw. The brothers sang: "Nobody Knows the Trouble I see." and "Jesus Settin' By the Water's Side," with banio accompaniment.

Rev. Mr. Garrett, of New Cumberland, W. Va., and members of his church board conferred with Dr. Fife about the possibility of a campaign this year. The visiting pastor led in prayer.

"I believe honestly that more trouble is caused in the home, in business and in the church of the living God by gossiping, slanderous, lying tongues than by all the thieves and hold-up guys in the state of Ohio, and I hold no brief for that gang. Some women have tongues long enough to hang out a three weeks' washing and never lap any of the clothes. They dip into everything, tell guesses and surmises for the truth and break homes and wreck lives.

"Down in my old log cabin home Ma used to tell us:—"Boys, tell nothing you hear and half you see and then not unless it is necessary. It is better to have the good will of a dog than the ill will. If you can't say something good about anybody, you had better keep your mouth still."

"Abraham Lincoln said:—"If I were to read, much less to answer, all the thrusts and threats against my administration, I might as well close this executive office. If the end bring me out all wrong, ten thousand legions of angels would not make it right. But if all right, the work will stand for itself." And that is just my ticket in all my meetings—treat everyone on the square, no abuse or criticism for those who differ from me and condemn sin and preach Christ and Him crucified as the only hope for poor sinners."

The Fife brothers, All-American Red Seal Radio artists, will join Dr. Royal S. Copeland, senator from New York, in the program at the Chamber of Commerce dinner at 6 o'clock tonight.

The Log Cabin boys will leave the diner in time for the tabernacle services when they speak to high school punils on the text, "Bobbed Hair."

On Thursday night the Fifes will entertain at the Kiwanis club's Ladies' Night dinner. Tomorrow night, Dr. Fife will deliver his eye-witness report of the Dempsey-Tunney fight.

Thursday is Lodge night. Lodge members may come with or without regalia.

On Friday night, at the request of Dr. Fife, who is a southern man, a choir of 75 voices from the churches of the colored people of this valley will sing the old-time songs of God and religion of the south.

In MEMORIAM.

In memory of our only child, Julia Olivia Byland, called away seven yrs. ago today. Age 3 yrs. 6 mos.:
Alone in our home we sit today.
And think of our darling that's gone away
Gone to dwell with the God of Love

Dearest Julia how we miss you
You was sunshine i our home
Which has grown, oh, so lonely
Since God called you for his own.

Sadly missed by father and mother,
MR. AND MRS HARRY BYLAND.

As well as years to your life. Life without health is burdensome and the lack of it casts a shadow over all our activities. Texas Murder Trial Delayed Because of Illness of Pastor

COURT ROOM, AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 18.—The trial of Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the Fort Worth First Baptist church, charged with murdering D. E. Chipps at Fort Worth last July 17, was delayed until 2 p. m. today because of the illness of the minister.

Rev. Norris came here eight days ago suffering with what was said to be tonsilitis, and today was said to be feeling worse, to such an extent that he could not be in the courtroom here.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Price movement in the early trading in the stock market today were irregular and erratic, being nothing more than the continuance of the highly professional market which concluded Monday's session.

The $27,000,000 decline in brokers' loans was taken to indicate the distribution of both speculative and investment stocks, the latter into the hands of permanent holders. Heaviness predominated in the motor and industrial stocks, but the professionals found a good underpinning of buying orders, sufficient to prevent any wide decline in prices. The rails held firmly and the oils made fractional gains at the start.

Speculative interest centered in Lehigh Valley, in view of the annual meeting of the shareholders in Philadelphia. But no change in directors was made.

Reading sold into new high territory at 102 1-8. The Missouri Pacifics, Erie, Pete Marquette, the Northwestern rails and other stocks in the rail group which have recently stepped into the limelight presented a strong front, with prices up a point or so on the average.

Efforts to push the motor shares below Monday's close were generally unsuccessful, and the overcrowded bears were compelled to cover their short lines. Acute weakness in American Woolen common and preferred accompanied heavy offering of the stock, the common declining 3 points to 26 and the preferred 3 1-2 to 79.

Call money unchanged at 4 1-2 per cent.

PASTOR GIVES BIBLE LECTURE

Rev. John MacDonald Speaks in Free Methodist Church.

First of a series of Bible lectures was given at the Avondale street Free Methodist church last evening by Rev. John MacDonald, pastor. His subject was "The Question Answered."

Rev. Mr. MacDonald took his text from Job 14:10 "But man dieth and wasteth away; yea man giveth up the ghost, and where is he?"

He said:

"To begin: What is man?

"Man is not merely an over-grown tad-pole, nor an ape, nor an over-size monkey. 'In the image of God created He him.' This image is not in man's material nature, for that is visible. God is spirit and invisible. But man became a living soul, that has a future that will paralell the life-time of God.

"Does the 'soul' mean the natural breath, as some say?

"No, is cannot, for God 'breathed' it into man and God's breath is not air as our's is. It would make nonsense of the Bible to put the word 'breath' in the places where it says 'soul' or 'Spirit'. For example in Romans 8:16 'The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit.' How would it sound to say breath instead of spirit?

"Does 'soul' mean natural life, as some say?

"No, that is confusing the act with the agent. The natural life is the act; the soul is the agent.

"Does Psalm 37:36 'Yet he (the wicked) passed away, and, lo, he was not,' mean that he was annihilated?

"No, neither does the 10th verse, which says 'For yet a little while and the wicked shall not be; yea, thou shalt diligently consider his place and it shall not be.' These verses mean simply, that the wicked person had been removed from the earth, or had been cast down from his high position as you may readily see by reading the whole Psalm.

"It is said also of the righteous Enoch that 'He walked with God three hundred years; and was not for God took him.' Now he was not annihilated, but translated. So when it says that the wicked was not, we can understand that the wicked walked with the Devil and was not, for the Devil took him.

"Does Hell mean the grave?

"No, it was not so used by the Lord Jesus. Hades, one of the Greek words for Hell, meant the unseen state. Gehenna, the garbage-dump, where fire burnt continually, is Christ's description of the punishment of morally offensive characters. Tartarus, always recognized by the Greeks as a place of retribution, is mentioned by

"Jesus spoke of those in Hades as Peter as a place of punishment. under-going retribution. There is never any mention of a funeral at Hades. Burials took place at tombs, graves or sepulchres, known in the Greek tongue as taphos or mnameion. Hell is never in the plural number."

Senate to Bar Smith

to bar Smith from taking the oath of office and an even larger number prepared subsequently to deny him a seat in the senate. If he fails to become a senator, on the appointment of Governor Len Small, not even his warmest friends anticipate he will be able to enter the seventieth congress on the strength of last November's election.

The poll showed 52 senators ready to bar Smith from the oath of office—more than a majority of the senate—thirty senators ready to give him the oath, eleven non-commital and two absent. At least six of the senators, ready to give Smith the oath, will not vote to seat him finally even on his governor's certificate.

Early Decision Expected.

The first move Smith makes to present his credentials to the senate, it was announced, will be the signal to slam the doors in his face. A motion formally denying him the right to take his oath of office by referring his credentials to the senate elections committee, will be made by Senator James A. Reed (D.) of Missouri, chairman of the campaign fund committee which investigated the Illinois primary last fall. This motion will easily prevail, the poll indicated.

Administration leaders, anticipating this result, were concentrating on getting an early report from the committee and then rushing the whol Smith question to an early decision. Their plan was to get rid of the Smith case as quickly as possible in order to avoid the necessity for an extra session of congress. It was indicated the committee might make its report within two or three days in the hope of disposing of the whole question within ten days.

How Senators Line Up.

For Smith. Total 30.

Republicans: Bingham, Cameron, Curtis, Deneen, Dupont, Edge, Ernst, Fess, Gould, Greene, Hale, McLean, Means, Metcalf, Moses, Oddie, Pepper, Phillips, Pine, Reed (Pennsylvania), Schall, Shortridge, Smoot, Stanfield, Wadsworth, Warren, Watson and Weller, (28.)

Democrats: Blease and Overman (2).

Against Smith. Total 52.

Republicans: Borah, Capper, Couzens, Dale, Frazier, Gooding, Howell, Johnson, Lafollette, McNary, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Robinson (Indiana) and Willis. (15.)

Farmer-Laborite: Shipstead (1).

Non-commital: total 11.

Absent: total 2.

Harreld (R.) of Oklahoma and Underwood (D.) Alabama.

Unless a political miracle occurs, this poll indicated conclusively that Smith will be barred from the senate.

SUNDAY BALL FANS TO FIGHT ACKERMAN BILL

"Clean Sports" Measure Introduced in Ohio Senate.

BANS ADMISSION

Gov. Donahey Silent Relative to Prohibitory Clause.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 18.—Sunday baseball enthusiasts in Ohio, both amateur and professional, were lining up for battle here today to oppose the "clean sports" bill introduced in the state senate by Senator Joseph W. Ackerman.

Joseph Carr, president of the Columbus American association baseball team, said today that regulation and state control of sports would not meet with much opposition in the state, but that the clause pertaining to Sunday sports if passed would sound the knell of baseball in Ohio.

"Such bills bob up almost at every session," said Carr, "some parts are good but to wipe out Sunday sports would be a step toward Puritan days. Only two states prohibit Sunday baseball, and public opinion and demand will soon bring them to rewrite this law."

Gov. Donahey, while silent regarding the Ackerman bill, today expressed himself in favor of a law regulating sports, without committing himself upon the reference to Sunday sport.

Ackerman's bill reads in part:

"Boxing, sparring and wrestling matches or exhibitions for prizes or purses or where an admission fee is charged or received, harness horse and running horse race meetings, dog races and races or athletic exhibitions or contests of any nature or character may be held within the state of Ohio except on Sunday or Christmas day, subject to the direction of the management and control of the state athletic commission."

Ackerman's bill would provide for a state sports commission of five members appointed by the governor. This body could name a county commission of three. He recommended that one member of the state board be an athletic director or coach in a college, the second a newspaperman and the third a physician.

"The bill was not drafted to prohibit Sunday baseball," Ackerman declared today, though he admitted the language was vague and might be so interpreted.

Of course it would prohibit any athletic exhibitions on Sunday or Christmas day, where an admission is charged," he concluded.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 18.—Sabotage and disorders have followed the inauguration of a stret car strike here.

Physicians' Business Policy

The City Hospital Staff, which includes all physicians of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, rather than increase minimum fees, which in other cities range from 33⅓% to 100% more than in the East Liverpool district, has adopted the following business policy:

Office work and obstetrics, Cash.

Interest charged on all accounts after 30 days.

All accounts must be settled by cash or negotiable note in 90 days.

This does not mean that if a patient needs office attention and does not have the fee he will be refused; but it does mean that the doctor prefers and expects the patient o pay cash for office consultation if the patient has the fee, even though the patient may have an account with the physician.

FIVE MEN WHO DEFIED SENATE FACE PUNISHMENT

INSULL, CROWE, SINCLAIR AND OTHERS LISTED

Threatened With Prison Sentences Under Contempt Move.

DAUGHERTY CASE

Decision Said to Block Escape of Oil Man.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Having at one time or another defied the authority of the senate, five well-known men appeared headed toward punishment today as a result of congressional committees' efforts to compel attendance of witnesses at their investigations.

The list of men, threatened with prison sentences under contempt proceedings, includes Samuel Insull, multi-millionaire head of Illinois public utilities; Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney of Chicago; Harry F. Sinclair, multi-millionaire oil man; Thomas F. Cunninghmam, clerk of the quarter session court of Philadelphia, and Mal S. Daugherty, brother of the former attorney general.

In the opinion of the state's constitutional authorities, the decision while made directly upon the case of Mal Daugherty, had even greater effect on the contempt case against Sinclair, now pending in the District of Columbia court. The decision, according to Senator Walsh (D.) of Montana, virtually blocks every avenue by which Sinclair might escape a jail term on the pending contempt charge.

May Cite Mal Daugherty.

"The decision settled once and for all the authority of the senate to investigate on behalf of legislation and its right to subpoena witnesses and to take testimony," said Walsh. "I feel it removes the only serious question in the prosecution of Mr. Sinclair for refusing to testify. It will apply equally well against every other person who defied the senate's power to compel testimony.

Contempt citations will be made to the senate against Insull, Crowe and Cunningham in the near future, Senator Reed (D.) of Missouri, announced yesterday.

Action on the case of Mal Daugherty was delayed while senators communicated with District Attorney Buckner in New York city. Led by Senator Wheeler (D.) of Montana, who headed the old Daugherty investigation, they sought to learn whether action against Daugherty would embarrass the government's case in the federal court at New York.

"I expect to ask that Mr. Daugherty be brought before the bar of the senate and punished for contempt," said Wheeler. "I am conferring with other senators over the course of action and we may decide to cite him to the federal courts here for contempt."

Another Reduction In Ford Car Prices Hinted by Witness

DETROIT, Jan. 18.—Peter E. Martin, vice president of the Ford Motor company, on the stand at the government's $34,000,000 tax suit against former Ford stockholders today, told of prospects for further reductions in Ford prices.

Martin was asked if in 1913 there was a prospect of reducing Ford prices and producing the car in greater quantities.

"There was a prospect of still further reductions then as there is a prospect of further reductions now," he replied.

Chaplin to Fight

Drives Against Fortune.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18.—Hollywood and Los Angeles today were wondering just how long Charlie Chaplin's fortune, variously estimated at from $10,000,000 to $16,000,000, would be able to stand the concerted drives being made against it by the United States government and by attorneys representing the comedian's 18-year old wife, Lity Grey Chaplin, who is seeking a divorce from her famous husband.

Chaplin today stood ordered by a Los Angeles court to pay Mrs. Chaplin $4,000 a month temporary maintenance pending the outcome of her divorce. In addition the comedian must pay $8,000 to his wife at once to cover maintenance for the last two months, also $4,000 as a part fee for her battery of attorneys, $2,150 to pay for bonds under which receivers have taken over the Chaplin property, and $250 for attorneys' expenses.

At the same time the noted comedian was defendant in six income tax suits aggregating $1,073,700 filed by the United States government in Los Angeles on the ground that Chaplin's tax returns for six of the last 10 years had revealed alleged irregularities.

Added on top of all this was the report that Mrs. Chaplin would probably be awarded at least half of her husband's fortune, if not more, in the event she won her divorce action.

Nine Ohioans Held As Jurors Probe "Orgies on Beach"

PAINESVILLE, O., Jan. 18.—Information of clandestine meetings between young girl students with high school boys and older men, who conducted classes in "sophistication," was being laid before a Lake county grand jury here today, presaging a scandal which may involve several prominent local men.

Nine men are under arrest in connection with the affair. The latest to be held is a 20-year-old basketball star of the Willoughby high school who is charged with contributing to the delinquency of young girls. One of the men is more than 83 years of age.

The towns of Willoughby, Kirtland and Painesville are involved in the alleged "beach orgies," in which it is declared that extremely young girls and boys were tutored in abnormal practices by a group of older men.

Superintendent Frank N. Shenkland, of Andrews Institute an exclusive school for girls, went before the grand jury today. He was followed by Mrs. Mary Seeley, matron, and Mrs. Ethel Viall, principal of Willoughby schools.

HABEAS CORPUS CASE DROPPED

Court Action Over Mrs. Mary McCoy's Son Dismissed.

Hebeas corpus proceedings against Edward S. Ruhl, 17-year-old son of Mrs. Mary McCoy of Detroit, brought by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ruhl, his foster parents, of Elkrun township, were dismissed yesterday afternoon by Judge Charles Moore in common pleas court No. 2, Lisbon.

At a recent hearing, the youth chose to live with his mother, who has offered him a home in Detroit. Evidence showed that the young man will be 18 years old next month, at which time, by an agreement made when he was taken from the Fairmount children's home, he is to be returned to the institution.

Upon his return, the law provides that he shall be given $50 in money and two suits of clothes by the family with whom he has been residing.

Edward Ridgley, father of the boy, today denied that he had placed Edward and his brother, Russell, in the Fairmount home when they were one and two years of age, respectively, while the mother was in a hospital. Ridgley said that he was separated from his wife and was residing in Oklahoma at the time that his children were placed in the home.

Pay-as-you-go

ment, not for his own pleasure or personal advantage, but to enable him to keep up with medical advancement and give you as good service as can be gotten in any other community.

"This medical knowledge and equipment are your doctor's sole stock in trade. They are all he has to sell, and you have no more right to expect him to furnish you his wares free, or to wait months or years for his pay than you would have to expect your grocer, clothier, shoe merchant, auto or gasoline salesman to do the same thing.

Ask Regular Pay Day.

"Or put it another way: Most of you work for firms who have regular pay days, when you know you will be paid all you have earned since last pay day.

"How many of you would work for any one if he came to you on pay day and said, "I can't pay you now. I have some other bills to pay first and then I'll get around to you," and would wait months or years before paying you, or would pay only a small part of what you had earned?

"Your doctor must borrow money at more or less frequent intervals to purchase equipment or to pay bills to people who are not so lenient as he. When he borrows money, of course, he pays interest. Is it fair that he should pay interest on every penny he owes, even for a few days, while he has thousands of dollars of uncollected accounts which are drawing no interest?

"Each and every physician is willing at all times to do his share of charity work, but no one who maintains an automobile, a radio, a pack of hunting dogs or other luxuries, will be considereed a worthy object of charity.

Doctor Must Pay His Debts.

"Obstetrics should be cash because you have had 40 weeks to prepare for this, and that means saving only 62½ cents per week.

"Many more facts and arguments could be stated, but enough has been said to show you that your doctor is not a capitalist. He has the same economic conditions to meet as you have. He depends entirely upon the payment for his service to you, for his livelihood, and is furnishing you this service for a much lower fee than physicians in similar communities are receiving for the same service. He can not pay his debts with your intention to pay, unless that intention is reduced to writing in the form of a negotiable note.

"He hopes to continue to serve you for his present moderate fees, and can do so if you will observe the stated business policy."

Congressman Calls For Prosecution of U. S. Speakeasy Men

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Representative Laguardia (R.) of New York today served another demand upon the district attorney's office at New York for federal prosecution of prohibition agents who operated the "Bridge Whist club," a government "speakeasy" used to entrap liquor law violators.

Laguardia dispatched a telegram to Robert E. Manley, chief assistant federal district attorney, upon being informed that District Attorney Buckner was recuperating in Florida after an operation

DR. FIFE HITS SLANDEROUS, LYING TONGUES

Tabernacle Church of Christ Sermon Condemns Gossip.

EAST END MEN

High School Pupils Will Hear "Bobbed Hair" Discourse.

"Any man who will take a ham to a widow and six starving children and stay there until it is cooked and all eaten is doing nothing to comfort the fatherless in their affliction," Dr. Clyde Lee Fife, head of Radio Log Cabin Boys from Kentucky, in a sermon declared last night at the Tabernacle church, 1202 Pennsylvania avenue, East End. "Oh, God, how many of you here tonight wish that some dark day in your life could be written on the blackboard of memory and that you could take a sponge and wipe it away forever. You cannot do that alone but through faith in the atoning blood of Christ, our God can do it for you."

Bob Fife led the choir and played "Just a Cottage Small By a Waterfall" and "Abide With Me," on the hand saw. The brothers sang: "Nobody Knows the Trouble I see," and "Jesus Settin' By the Water's Side," with banio accompaniment.

Rev. Mr. Garrett, of New Cumberland, W. Va., and members of his church board conferred with Dr. Fife about the possibility of a campaign this year. The visiting pastor led in prayer.

"I believe honestly that more trouble is caused in the home, in business and in the church of the living God by gossiping, slanderous, lying tongues than by all the thieves and hold-up guys in the state of Ohio, and I hold no brief for that gang. Some women have tongues long enough to hang out a three weeks' washing and never lap any of the clothes. They dip into everything, tell guesses and surmises for the truth and break homes and wreck lives.

"Down in my old log cabin home Ma used to tell us:—"Boys, tell nothing you hear and half you see and then not unless it is necessary. It is better to have the good will of a dog than the ill will. If you can't say something good about anybody, you had better keep your mouth still."

"Abraham Lincoln said:—"If I were to read, much less to answer, all the thrusts and threats against my administration, I might as well close this executive office. If the end brings me out all wrong, ten thousand legions of angels would not make it right. But if all right, the work will stand for itself." And that is just my ticket in all my meetings—treat everyone on the square, no abuse or criticism for those who differ from me and condemn sin and preach Christ and Him crucified as the only hope for poor sinners."

The Fife brothers, All-American Red Seal Radio artists, will join Dr. Royal S. Copeland, senator from New York, in the program at the Chamber of Commerce dinner at 6 o'clock tonight.

The Log Cabin boys will leave the diner in time for the tabernacle services when they speak to high school pupils on the text, "Bobbed Hair."

On Thursday night the Fifes will entertain at the Kiwanis club's Ladies' Night dinner. Tomorrow night, Dr. Fife will deliver his eye-witness report of the Dempsey-Tunney fight.

Thursday is Lodge night. Lodge members may come with or without regalia.

On Friday night, at the request of Dr. Fife, who is a southern man, a choir of 75 voices from the churches of the colored people of this valley will sing the old-time songs of God and religion of the south.

In MEMORIAM.

In memory of our only child, Julia Olivia Byland, called away seven yrs. ago today. Age 3 yrs. 6 mos.:

Alone in our home we sit today.
And think of our darling that's gone away
Gone to dwell with the God of Love

Dearest Julia how we miss you
You was sunshine i our home
Which has grown, oh, so lonely
Since God called you for his own.

Sadly missed by father and mother,

Texas Murder Trial Delayed Because of Illness of Pastor

COURT ROOM, AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 18.—The trial of Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the Fort Worth First Baptist church, charged with murdering D. E. Chipps at Fort Worth last July 17, was delayed until 2 p. m. today because of the illness of the minister.

Rev. Norris came here eight days ago suffering with what was said to be tonsilitis, and today was said to be feeling worse, to such an extent that he could not be in the courtroom here.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Price movement in the early trading in the stock market today were irregular and erratic, being nothing more than the continuance of the highly professional market which concluded Monday's session.

The $27,000,000 decline in brokers' loans was taken to indicate the distribution of both speculative and investment stocks, the latter into the hands of permanent holders. Heaviness predominated in the motor and industrial stocks, but the professionals found a good underpinning of buying orders, sufficient to prevent any wide decline in prices. The rails held firmly and the oils made fractional gains at the start.

Speculative interest centered in Lehigh Valley, in view of the annual meeting of the shareholders in Philadelphia. But no change in directors was made.

Reading sold into new high territory at 102 1-8. The Missouri Pacifics, Erie, Pete Marquette, the Northwestern rails and other stocks in the rail group which have recently stepped into the limelight presented a strong front, with prices up a point or so on the average.

Efforts to push the motor shares below Monday's close were generally unsuccessful, and the overcrowded bears were compelled to cover their short lines. Acute weakness in American Woolen common and preferred accompanied heavy offering of the stock, the common declining 3 points to 26 and the preferred 3 1-2 to 79.

Call money unchanged at 4 1-2 per cent.

PASTOR GIVES BIBLE LECTURE

Rev. John MacDonald Speaks in Free Methodist Church.

First of a series of Bible lectures was given at the Avondale street Free Methodist church last evening by Rev. John MacDonald, pastor. His subject was "The Question Answered."

Rev. Mr. MacDonald took his text from Job 14:10 "But man dieth and wasteth away; yea man giveth up the ghost, and where is he?"

He said:

"To begin: What is man?

"Man is not merely an over-grown tad-pole, nor an ape, nor an over-size monkey. 'In the image of God created He him.' This image is not in man's material nature, for that is visible. God is spirit and invisible. But man became a living soul, that has a future that will parallel the life-time of God.

"Does the 'soul' mean the natural breath, as some say?

"No, is cannot, for God 'breathed' it into man and God's breath is not air as our's is. It would make nonsense of the Bible to put the word 'breath' in the places where it says 'soul' or 'Spirit'. For example in Romans 8:16 'The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit.' How would it sound to say breath instead of spirit?

"Does 'soul' mean natural life, as some say?

"No, that is confusing the act with the agent. The natural life is the act; the soul is the agent.

"Does Psalm 37:36 'Yet he (the wicked) passed away, and, lo, he was not,' mean that he was annihilated?

"No, neither does the 10th verse, which says 'For yet a little while and the wicked shall not be; yea, thou shalt diligently consider his place and it shall not be.' These verses mean simply, that the wicked person had been removed from the earth, or had been cast down from his high position as you may readily see by reading the whole Psalm.

"It is said also of the righteous Enoch that 'He walked with God three hundred years; and was not for God took him.' Now he was not annihilated, but translated. So when it says that the wicked was not, we can understand that the wicked walked with the Devil and was not, for the Devil took him.

"Does Hell mean the grave?

"No, it was not so used by the Lord Jesus. Hades, one of the Greek words for Hell, meant the unseen state. Gehenna, the garbage-dump, where fire burnt continually, is Christ's description of the punishment of morally offensive characters. Tartarus, always recognized by the Greeks as a place of retribution, is mentioned by "Jesus spoke of those in Hades as Peter as a place of punishment. under-going retribution. There is never any mention of a funeral at Hades. Burials took place at tombs, graves or sepulchres, known in the Greek tongue as taphos or mnameion. Hell is never in the plural number."

to bar Smith from taking the oath of office and an even larger number prepared subsequently to deny him a seat in the senate. If he fails to become a senator, on the appointment of Governor Len Small, not even his warmest friends anticipate he will be able to enter the seventieth congress on the strength of last November's election.

The poll showed 52 senators ready to bar Smith from the oath of office—more than a majority of the senate—thirty senators ready to give him the oath, eleven non-commital and two absent. At least six of the senators, ready to give Smith the oath, will not vote to seat him finally even on his governor's certificate.

Early Decision Expected.

The first move Smith makes to present his credentials to the senate, it was announced, will be the signal to slam the doors in his face. A motion formally denying him the right to take his oath of office by referring his credentials to the senate elections committee, will be made by Senator James A. Reed (D.) of Missouri, chairman of the campaign fund committee which investigated the Illinois primary last fall. This motion will easily prevail, the poll indicated.

Administration leaders, anticipating this result, were concentrating on getting an early report from the committee and then rushing the whol Smith question to an early decision. Their plan was to get rid of the Smith case as quickly as possible in order to avoid the necessity for an extra session of congress. It was indicated the committee might make its report within two or three days in the hope of disposing of the whole question within ten days.

How Senators Line Up.

For Smith. Total 30.

Republicans: Bingham, Cameron, Curtis, Deneen, Dupont, Edge, Ernst, Fess, Gould, Greene, Hale, McLean, Means, Metcalf, Moses, Oddie, Pepper, Phillips, Pine, Reed (Pennsylvania), Schall, Shortridge, Smoot, Stanfield, Wadsworth, Warren, Watson and Weller, (28.)

Democrats: Blease and Overman (2).

Against Smith. Total 52.

Republicans: Borah, Capper, Couzens, Dale, Frazier, Gooding, Howell, Johnson, Lafollette, McNary, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Robinson (Indiana) and Willis. (15.)

Farmer-Laborite: Shipstead (1).

Non-commital: total 11.

Absent: total 2.

Harreld (R.) of Oklahoma and Underwood (D.) Alabama.

Unless a political miracle occurs, this poll indicated conclusively that Smith will be barred from the senate.

SUNDAY BALL FANS TO FIGHT ACKERMAN BILL

"Clean Sports" Measure Introduced in Ohio Senate.

BANS ADMISSION

Gov. Donahey Silent Relative to Prohibitory Clause.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 18.—Sunday baseball enthusiasts in Ohio, both amateur and professional, were lining up for battle here today to oppose the "clean sports" bill introduced in the state senate by Senator Joseph W. Ackerman.

Joseph Carr, president of the Columbus American association baseball team, said today that regulation and state control of sports would not meet with much opposition in the state, but that the clause pertaining to Sunday sports if passed would sound the knell of baseball in Ohio.

"Such bills bob up almost at every session," said Carr, "some parts are good but to wipe out Sunday sports would be a step toward Puritan days. Only two states prohibit Sunday baseball, and public opinion and demand will soon bring them to rewrite this law."

Gov. Donahey, while silent regarding the Ackerman bill, today expressed himself in favor of a law regulating sports, without committing himself upon the reference to Sunday sport.

Ackerman's bill reads in part:

"Boxing, sparring and wrestling matches or exhibitions for prizes or purses or where an admission fee is charged or received, harness horse and running horse race meetings, dog races and races or athletic exhibitions or contests of any nature or character may be held within the state of Ohio, except on Sunday or Christmas day, subject to the direction of the management and control of the state athletic commission."

Ackerman's bill would provide for a state sports commission of five members appointed by the governor. This body could name a county commission of three. He recommended that one member of the state board be an athletic director or coach in a college, the second a newspaperman and the third a physician.

"The bill was not drafted to prohibit Sunday baseball," Ackerman declared today, though he admitted the language was vague and might be so interpreted.

Of course it would prohibit any athletic exhibitions on Sunday or Christmas day, where an admission is charged," he concluded.

Physicians' Business Policy

The City Hospital Staff, which includes all physicians of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, rather than increase minimum fees, which in other cities range from 33⅓% to 100% more than in the East Liverpool district, has adopted the following business policy:

Office work and obstetrics, Cash.

Interest charged on all accounts after 30 days.

All accounts must be settled by cash or negotiable note in 90 days.

This does not mean that if a patient needs office attention and does not have the fee he will be refused; but it does mean that the doctor prefers and expects the patient o pay cash for office consultation if the patient has the fee, even though the patient may have an account with the physician.

Rev. C. E. Rostofer, of Ashtabula, O., spoke to a large crowd last night at the revival services in the First Christian church. His subject was "What Think Ye of Christ."

He spoke in part as follows: "Christ established his claim to be the Son of God by what he said, did and was. His teaching was perfect. Not only good or better than some others, but it was without blemish. His teaching has been put to the test in every possible way by philosophers, statesmen, Jew, infidel and pagan, but it stands today as the only teaching admitted to be without a flaw. He not only gave the world a perfect teaching, but he practiced perfectly what he taught. This is not true of any other teacher.

"Ordinary means did not produce such a teacher, for ordinary means cannot produce extraordinary results. Judged by his life, his death, his teaching and the influence he has had on the human race, we have to conclude that he has justified all titles bestowed upon him. No person less than God could have carried the message or rendered the service he did to mankind."

Rev. Rostofer will have as his subject tonight "An Infidel Converted." C. G. Woods has arranged a number of special musical numbers. Wednesday night he will deliver a special sermon to women, while on Thursday evening his sermon will be for men. Men and women are both urged to attend these two services. Friday night will be "Family Night."

LEGISLATURE IS DOWN TO GRIND

Many Measures Dropped Into Hoppers of Both Houses Yesterday.

The legislature got down to business yesterday at Charleston with the naming of committees in both houses and the introduction of bills for consideration at the long session which opens next month.

The case of State Auditor John C. Bond made its first appearance for legislative review when the report of Governor Gore on his removal of that official was presented for review by the legislature and was sent to the judiciary committee of the House of Delegates.

Proposals for increasing and decreasing the gasoline tax, for a constitutional convention, for building the capital, for increasing supreme court judges salaries and retiring them on pensions, and for putting prohibition officers in uniform, as well as for amending various of the present statutes were including in the griest that went into the legislative hopper today, along with numerous local bills.

The Republican majority leadership on the floors of the Senate and House was settled with the committee assignments, Senator W. S. Wilkin of Brooke county being chosen by President White as chairman of the judiciary committee in that body and Delegate J. Howard Hundley of Kanawha county being speaker Johnson's selection for the similar place in the house of delegates, with the leadership accepted as a function of the committee chairman. In choosing the heads of the taxation and finance committees of the two houses, next in importance, Senator C. B. Highland of Wetzel county and Delegate C. L. Heaberlin, drawing these assignments in senate and house, respectively. A feature of the house committee assignments was the placing of two delegates each from Cabell, Kanawha, Harrison and Berkeley counties on the judiciary committee.

A bill to amend the code to relieve double taxation by exempting notes and bonds to the extent that they are secured by lien on property already assessed was introduced in both houses, by Senator Hallanan, in the upper branch and by Delegate Keatley in the house.

Senator Hugus introduced a bill to increase supreme court judges' salaries to $10,000, with Delegate Robinson filing a similar one in the house, and Mr. Hugus also proposed another for retiring supreme court judges on pensions at the age of 65, providing they had served one full term, this being duplicated in the house by a bill by Delegate Hundley.

SEATTLE'S 1926 DEATHS FROM POISON LIQUOR EQUAL 1925 RECORD

SEATTLE.—Alcoholic deaths in Seattle for the year 1926 were the same as in 1925, according to Dr. E. T. Hanley, city health commissioner, who issued a scathing denouncement of bootleggers who are flooding the market with poison liquor.

"The bootlegger who sell redistilled denatured alcohol under the guise of whiskey is a potential murderer," Dr. Hanley said. "If one of thei victims should die, the seller should receive the extreme penalty."

SEATTLE'S 1926 DEATHS FROM POISON LIQUOR EQUAL 1925 RECORD

SEATTLE.—Alcoholic deaths in Seattle for the year 1926 were the same as in 1925, according to Dr. E. T. Hanley, city health commissioner, who issued a scathing denouncement of bootleggers who are flooding the market with poison liquor.

"The bootlegger who sell redistilled denatured alcohol under the guise of whiskey is a potential murderer," Dr. Hanley said. "If one of thei. victims should die, the seller should receive the extreme penalty."

Coal miners employed and idle in Great Britain now number 1,125,000.

Expert Predicts Increase In Apple Crop ot County

C. S. Holland, Extension Service Department of State University, Speaks at Lisbon.

C. S. Holland, horticultural expert, extension service department, Ohio State university, speaking at the annual meeting of the County Horticultural society in the farm bureau office at Lisbon, predicted an increase from 150,000 to 240,000 bushels in the county apple crop within the next five years.

All former officers were re-elected for another year, as follows: President W. H. Matthews, Salem; vice president Homer Shelton, Salem township; secretary-treasurer L. J. Kirk, Fairfield township.

During the meeting orders for nitrate of soda and sulphate of amonia were placed, these two being the main fertilizers used by apple and fruit growers in this section of the state.

Hollands address follows:

In order to make an intelligent program for the development of an industry, it is necessary that a full understanding of the problem is secured. Sometimes an industry develops more rapidly than its markets. Rarely the industry does not develop to supply the market. More often it fails to develop along the special needs of that market. Columbiana and Mahoning fruit growers are in danger of this condition.

The production of apples in Columbiana county must be considered with that of Mahoning county since both counties can serve much the same markets. The orchards of Mahoning county are usually small and appear to be designed for supplying the local markets of Youngstown.

Columbiana county — Total, 2,156; over 5 years, 1,294; under 5 years, 862 —40 per cent.

Mahoning county — Total, 1,556; over 5 years, 918; under 5 years, 638 —41 per cent.

Total, both counties—3,712; over 5 years, 2,212; under 5 years, 1,490.

From these figures it can be seen that only about 60 per cent of the trees are bearing and that the young trees will more than offset the decline of the old trees. This is especially true when we consider that about 25 per cent or nearly half of the bearing trees are between the ages of 5 to 12 years and only 30 to 35 per cent of the acreage is fully mature.

Taking into account the age of these apple trees, it is probable that the present production of the two counties will average around 250,000 bushels. Of this figure about 150,000 bushels come from Columbiana county and 100,000 bushels from Mahoning. Within the next five or 10 years, the probable production will increase to a crop of 400,000 bushels.

Other parts of northeastern Ohio enter into the production of apples for much the same market. Ashtabula, Lake and Geauga counties are the other principle fruit counties. Some fruit from Ashtabula county goes into your markets, but not a large amount. Cleveland's growth will absorb many of the orchards in Geauga and Lake counties for subdivision and it is probable that the production will decrease.

Of all the counties in northwestern Ohio, 75 per cent of the apple acreage is in Columbiana and Mahoning counties. Hence, a study of the situation in this section will tell the biggest part of the story.

The total commercial production of northeastern Ohio, exclusive of Ashtabula, Lake and Geauga counties, is about 380,000 bushels with a probable increase to 600,000 bushels by 1931. The orchards outside of Columbiana county are all scattered to take into account the nearby markets and their fruit will probably never move into the markets in a carlot manner, but will be trucked in to nearby towns, sold on curb markets, to grocers, and at retail both in town nad at the orchard from roadside stands.

In this way, it would seem that the production of fruit in northeastern Ohio, exclusive of the counties along Lake Erie will be.

Present Production:

Columbiana and Mahoning counties, 250,000 bushels.

Other counties, 130,000 bushels.

Total 380,000 Bushels.

Production in 1932.

Columbiana and Mahoning counties, 400,000 bushels.

Other counties, 200,000 bushels.

Total, 600,000 bushels.

In consideration of the market, Youngstown with 132,000 people in the first market for Mahoning county fruit and with Warren and Niles this market will probably take all of Mahoning county fruit and some from Columbiana county. The growth of this steel district will probably continue but hardly enough to equal the local apple production. The market will tend to be more thoroughly supplied with local fruit and either some fruit from Mahoning county must be shipped out or less of Columbiana county fruit will be trucked in.

If Mahoning county supplied Youngstown and Warren, Columbiana county with 150,000 bushels can then have other markets within a radius of 50 miles, consisting of Canton, Steubenville, Wellsville, East Liverpool, Salem, New Castle, Pa., and Alliance or 233,000 people which will just comfortably take the crop. Within that 50 miles, of course, lies Pittsburgh with 588,000 people. This market is a carlot receiving market and will take a portion by truck movement.

Within the ext five years, this crop of Columbiana county will probably increase from 150,000 bushels to about 240,000 bushels to supply 233,000 people exclusive of Pittsburgh. The increase seems just a little more than the market will increase.

Thus it would seem that the fruit from Columbiana county could find a local market among the 233,000 people within trucking distance if the growers have what those people want Ordinarily, the average consumption of apples for urban people is 1 1-2 bushels a year. If we play safe and figure on 1 1-2 bushels a year, then we have a probable consumption of 291,000 bushels for 233,000 people. If this territory expands at the rate it has in the past, this market will increase over 5 per cent in five years or 305,000 bushels. Thus we have for production and markets of Columbiana county:

1927—150,000 bushels; 233,000 people; 291 000 market requirement.

1932—240,000 bushels; 245,000 people; 306 000 market requirement.

The potential market is this: The normal market will get half of its apples shipped in so that the normal trend would make the conditions harder each year to sell local fruit on local markets unless some is shipped out, or unless practically no apples are shipped in.

Apple production in northeastern Ohio exclusive of counties on Lake Erie:

Hence the conclusion is reached that the district must operate as a shipping district unless Pittsburgh develops a trucking business of sufficient quantity to take off about 75,000 bushels. This might be possible, but it leaves the local markets from local fruit in a price condition so that the price is Pittsburgh or Cleveland price less freight and brokerage. If on the other hand, the local fruit did not supply the local markets, the price would be the Pittsburgh or Cleveland price plus freight and brokerage. Hence, this difference between a local marketing conditions and a shipping one becomes a serious difference. For example, let the Pittsburgh price be $1.50 per bushel, brokerage 12 per cent or 18c and freight 15c, the lower return will be $1.50—(18c plus 15c)—$1.17. On the other hand, suppose the local market is taking the local fruit and must ship in and the same price conditions occur in Pittsburgh. Then the price is $1.50 plus (10c plus 15c)—$1.83.

The real difference beween the tow situations is 66c. The problem is how to get it. There might be two solutions, reduce production and improve consumption.

In this case, it would require a reduction of nearly 20 per cent if the assumptions are correct to make the local markets take local fruit. This reduction is not probable till after some damage price has been done.

The people at present are consuming all the fruit necessary to fake Columbiana and Mahoning counties' apples, but they are shipping in fruit from other sections to the extent that they must change their habits to take the probable increase in fruit production. For example, excluding Pittsburgh and within 50 miles of Columbiana and Mahoning fruit sections, there ar nearly 400,000 people who normally consume 500,000 bushels and which will probably increase 10 per cent in five year period to 440,000 people consuming 550,000 to 600,000. That is just about what the probable production of the orchards in the territory will be: namely about 600,000 bushels by 1932.

Northern Ohio is particularly blessed with the varieties of apples that have been planted. In Columbiana county, Baldwin is at present the leading variety, but will probably soon give way to Stayman. At the present time 23 per cent of the trees are Stayman, 20 per cent Baldwin, 11 per cent Jonathan, 4 per cent Delicious, 3 per cent Rome and 40 per cent other varieties.

Probably it would be advisable to start a campaign in this section to reduce this 40 per cent of other varieties. If this could be done, it would leave the section with good markets and remove those sorts that are hard to sell. How it is to be done must rest with the growers of the community.

The surest way to solve the problem is to start an educational campaign to take the community through the various steps of production to insure better quality fruit so that local fruit can prevent outside fruit from entering. Such a program has been successfully developed in New England as regards the Boston market. A few years back western Jonathans dominated the early winter apple trade. Today, local McIntosh in the Boston box have driven the Jonathans off to a minor place on the market.

The same thing can be done on the local markets and in Pittsburgh as regard Columbiana and Mahoning county fruit. The extension horticulture department recognized this problem two years ago after a superficial survey. A better spraying campaign was instituted with some results. The following steps need to be developed further to make progress toward the goal:

Better spraying, thinning of fruit, better pruning on old trees, fertilization, proper grades (contigent on good production), proper handling and packing, local-common storage to cut costs.

As a furtherance of this program, rather intensible work is to be planned on thinning of apples this year with continual work on proper spraying and other factors affecting production, packing and marketing.

The growers themselves in Columbiana county have been behind the times in their development of the local markets. They have been used to easy sales in the fall. They must now face the need of development salesmanship and facilities to store the fruit locally, so that it can be sold over a long period by their own salesmen in thair local markets, instead of depending upon the salesmen in the concentrated areas. Mahoning county is not as fully guilty of this lack of development as Columbiana county.

How to Reinforce Glands Explained by Physician

IF you are weak, worn-out, run-down, exhausted, losing strength and energy, you may be suffering from glandular weakness or glandular insufficiency and fail to recognize the cause. Heed these warning signals before more serious trouble develops. Seek the thrill of vigorous health this new scientific way—glandular treatment.

When the glands function normally they supply the vitalizing glandular secretions which are essential to physical well-being, and when the glands fail, health fails.

Dr. Arnold Lorand says in his book, "Old Age Deferred, in speaking of the glands: "We must insist upon the reinforcement of their functions by means of extracts obtained from the similar organs of Lealthy animals."

The new scientific gland tonic, Glandogen, embodies this method, and provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for both men and women. Accept no substitutes; insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic. Mathews Cut Rate Store will supply you.

Expert Predicts Increase In Apple Crop ot County

C. S. Holland, Extension Service Department of State University, Speaks at Lisbon.

C. S. Holland, horticultural expert, extension service department, Ohio State university, speaking at the annual meeting of the County Horticultural society in the farm bureau office at Lisbon, predicted an increase from 150,000 to 240,000 bushels in the county apple crop within the next five years.

All former officers were re-elected for another year, as follows: President W. H. Matthews, Salem; vice president Homer Shelton, Salem township; secretary-treasurer L. J. Kirk, Fairfield township.

During the meeting orders for nitrate of soda and sulphate of amonia were placed, these two being the main fertilizers used by apple and fruit growers in this section of the state.

Hollands address follows:

In order to make an intelligent program for the development of an industry, it is necessary that a full understanding of the problem is secured. Sometimes an industry develops more rapidly than its markets. Rarely the industry does not develop to supply the market. More often it fails to develop along the special needs of that market. Columbiana and Mahoning fruit growers are in danger of this condition.

The production of apples in Columbiana county must be considered with that of Mahoning county since both counties can serve much the same markets. The orchards of Mahoning county are usually small and appear to be designed for supplying the local markets of Youngstown.

Columbiana county — Total, 2,156; over 5 years, 1,294; under 5 years, 862 —40 per cent.

Mahoning county — Total, 1,556; over 5 years, 918; under 5 years, 638 —41 per cent.

Total, both counties—3,712; over 5 years, 2,212; under 5 years, 1,490.

From these figures it can be seen that only about 60 per cent of the trees are bearing and that the young trees will more than offset the decline of the old trees. This is especially true when we consider that about 25 per cent or nearly half of the bearing trees are between the ages of 5 to 12 years and only 30 to 35 per cent of the acreage is fully mature.

Taking into account the age of these apple trees, it is probable that the present production of the two counties will average around 250,000 bushels. Of this figure about 150,000 bushels come from Columbiana county and 100,000 bushels from Mahoning. Within the next five or 10 years, the probable production will increase to a crop of 400,000 bushels.

Other parts of northeastern Ohio enter into the production of apples for much the same market. Ashtabula, Lake and Geauga counties are the other principle fruit counties. Some fruit from Ashtabula county goes into your markets, but not a large amount. Cleveland's growth will absorb many of the orchards in Geauga and Lake counties for subdivision and it is probable that the production will decrease.

Of all the counties in northwestern Ohio, 75 per cent of the apple acreage is in Columbiana and Mahoning counties. Hence, a study of the situation in this section will tell the biggest part of the story.

The total commercial production of northeastern Ohio, exclusive of Ashtabula, Lake and Geauga counties, is about 380,000 bushels with a probable increase to 600,000 bushels by 1931. The orchards outside of Columbiana county are all scattered to take into account the nearby markets and their fruit will probably never move into the markets in a carlot manner, but will be trucked in to nearby towns, sold on curb markets, to grocers, and at retail both in town nad at the orchard from roadside stands.

In this way, it would seem that the production of fruit in northeastern Ohio, exclusive of the counties along Lake Erie will be.

Present Production:

Columbiana and Mahoning counties, 250,000 bushels.

Other counties, 130,000 bushels.

Total 380,000 Bushels.

Production in 1932.

Columbiana and Mahoning counties, 400,000 bushels.

Other counties, 200,000 bushels.

Total, 600,000 bushels.

In consideration of the market, Youngstown with 132,000 people in the first market for Mahoning county fruit and with Warren and Niles this market will probably take all of Mahoning county fruit and some from Columbiana county. The growth of this steel district will probably continue but hardly enough to equal the local apple production. The market will tend to be more thoroughly supplied with local fruit and either some fruit from Mahoning county must be shipped out or less of Columbiana county fruit will be trucked in.

If Mahoning county supplied Youngstown and Warren, Columbiana county with 150,000 bushels can then have other markets within a radius of 50 miles, consisting of Canton, Steubenville, Wellsville, East Liverpool, Salem, New Castle, Pa., and Alliance or 223,000 people which will just comfortably take the crop. Within that 50 miles, of course, lies Pittsburgh with 588,000 people. This market is a carlot receiving market and will take a portion by truck movement.

Within the ext five years, this crop of Columbiana county will probably increase from 150,000 bushels to about 240,000 bushels to supply 233,000 people exclusive of Pittsburgh. The increase seems just a little more than the market will increase.

Thus it would seem that the fruit from Columbiana county could find a local market among the 233,000 people within trucking distance if the growers have what those people want Ordinarily, the average consumption of apples for urban people is 1 1-2 bushels a year. If we play safe and figure on 1 1-2 bushels a year, then we have a probable consumption of 291,000 bushels for 233,000 people. If this territory expands at the rate it has in the past, this market will increase over 5 per cent in five years or 305,000 bushels. Thus we have for production and markets of Columbiana county:

1927—150,000 bushels; 233,000 people; 291 000 market requirement.

1932—240,000 bushels; 245,000 people; 306 000 market requirement.

The potential market is this: The normal market will get half of its apples shipped in so that the normal trend would make the conditions harder each year to sell local fruit on local markets unless some is shipped out, or unless practically no apples are shipped in.

Apple production in northeastern Ohio exclusive of counties on Lake Erie:

Hence the conclusion is reached that the district must operate as a shipping district unless Pittsburgh develops a trucking business of sufficient quantity to take off about 75,000 bushels. This might be possible, but it leaves the local markets from local fruit in a price condition so that the price is Pittsburgh or Cleveland price less freight and brokerage. If on the other hand, the local fruit did not supply the local markets, the price would be the Pittsburgh or Cleveland price plus freight and brokerage. Hence, this difference between a local marketing conditions and a shipping one becomes a serious difference. For example, let the Pittsburgh price be $1.50 per bushel, brokerage 12 per cent or 18c and freight 15c, the lower return will be $1.50—(18c plus 15c)—$1.17. On the other hand, suppose the local market is taking the local fruit and must ship in and the same price conditions occur in Pittsburgh. Then the price is $1.50 plus (10c plus 15c)—$1.83.

The real difference beween the tow situations is 66c. The problem is how to get it. There might be two solutions, reduce production and improve consumption.

In this case, it would require a reduction of nearly 20 per cent if the assumptions are correct to make the local markets take local fruit. This reduction is not probable till after some damage price has been done.

The people at present are consuming all the fruit necessary to fake Columbiana and Mahoning counties' apples, but they are shipping in fruit from other sections to the extent that they must change their habits to take the probable increase in fruit production. For example, excluding Pittsburgh and within 50 miles of Columbiana and Mahoning fruit sections, there ar nearly 400,000 people who normally consume 500,000 bushels and which will probably increase 10 per cent in five year period to 440,000 people consuming 550,000 to 600,000. That is just about what the probable production of the orchards in the territory will be: namely about 600,000 bushels by 1932.

Northern Ohio is particularly blessed with the varieties of apples that have been planted. In Columbiana county, Baldwin is at present the leading variety, but will probably soon give way to Stayman. At the present time 23 per cent of the trees are Stayman, 20 per cent Baldwin, 11 per cent Jonathan, 4 per cent Delicious, 3 per cent Rome and 40 per cent other varieties.

Probably it would be advisable to start a campaign in this section to reduce this 40 per cent of other varieties. If this could be done, it would leave the section with good markets and remove those sorts that are hard to sell. How it is to be done must rest with the growers of the community.

The surest way to solve the problem is to start an educational campaign to take the community through the various steps of production to insure better quality fruit so that local fruit can prevent outside fruit from entering. Such a program has been successfully developed in New England as regards the Boston market. A few years back western Jonathans dominated the early winter apple trade. Today, local McIntosh in the Boston box have driven the Jonathans off to a minor place on the market.

The same thing can be done on the local markets and in Pittsburgh as regard Columbiana and Mahoning county fruit. The extension horticulture department recognized this problem two years ago after a superficial survey. A better spraying campaign was instituted with some results. The following steps need to be developed further to make progress toward the goal:

Better spraying, thinning of fruit, better pruning on old trees, fertilization, proper grades (contigent on good production), proper handling and packing, local-common storage to cut costs.

As a furtherance of this program, rather intensible work is to be planned on thinning of apples this year with continual work on proper spraying and other factors affecting production, packing and marketing.

The growers themselves in Columbiana county have been behind the times in their development of the local markets. They have been used to easy sales in the fall. They must now face the need of development salesmanship and facilities to store the fruit locally, so that it can be sold over a long period by their own salesmen in thair local markets, instead of depending upon the salesmen in the concentrated areas. Mahoning county is not as fully guilty of this lack of development as Columbiana county.

How to Reinforce Glands Explained by Physician

IF you are weak, worn-out, run-down, exhausted, losing strength and energy, you may be suffering from glandular weakness or glandular insufficiency and fail to recognize the cause. Heed these warning signals before more serious trouble develops. Seek the thrill of vigorous health this new scientific way—glandular treatment.

When the glands function normally they supply the vitalizing glandular secretions which are essential to physical well-being, and when the glands fail, health fails.

Dr. Arnold Lorand says in his book, "Old Age Deferred, in speaking of the glands: "We must insist upon the reinforcement of their functions by means of extracts obtained from the similar organs of healthy animals."

The new scientific gland tonic, Glandogen, embodies this method, and provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for both men and women. Accept no substitutes; insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic. Mathews Cut Rate Store will supply you.

Ban Johnson Calls Meeting of American League Directors

Junior Loop Head to Abide by Magnates' Decision in Respect to Submission of Data on Speaker-Cobb Affair.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—The storm brewing between Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis and President Ban Johnson of the American league, grew more intense today with the announcement of Johnson that he had called a special meeting of the board of directors of the American league for next Sunday, the day before the "show-down" meeting called by Commissioner Landis.

At the American league meeting Sunday the directors will decide whether or not they will attend the hearing called by Landis. It is believed they will agree to attend. That there will be plenty of pyrotechnics at this session was indicated by President Johnson, who said:

"I have reports on Speaker which Landis will never get unless we go to court."

In announcing the call for Sunday's meeting, Johnson declared that if the directors voted to attend the Landis hearing and turn over all their data on the Cobb-Speaker affair, he would abide by the decision, but that he would not, under any circumstances, appear as a witness under oath before the commissioner.

"It is not a court and I would refuse to be sworn at any such meeting," Johnson declared. He suggested that if the matter is to be publicly aired that it be in a United States court, where he would gladly take the oath.

In a dispatch from French Lick, Ind., where he is attending a major-minor league meeting, Commissioner Landis was quoted as saying the hearing next Monday would be open to the public.

Reiterating his charge that Landis, and not the American league, is responsible for smearing the records of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, Johnson continues:

"I've fired a broadside, and now I'm going to stand by my guns. Landis isn't going to make the public think the American league passed the buck on the Cobb-Speaker case without a fight."

Renewing his attack on Commissioner Landis, Johnson said:

"Mr. Landis seems extremely anxious to investigate charges of fixed games back in 1917. Why doesn't he investigate some of our recent world series, for instance that peculiar series played in 1922.

"The American league is still trying to unearth facts concerning that series, which the Giants won in five games by calling reporters names. If Mr. Landis is content to answer questions about that world's title his attitude is worthy of study.

Several days after the Risberg scandal charge was aired, Commissioner Landis denied that he was investigating the world series of 1922. He dismissed it with the hint that there was nothing to investigate.

FRENCH LICK, Ind., Jan. 18.—The Landis-Johnson feud today monopolized the attention of major and minor baseball league officials who gathered here to discuss such routine matters as the commulsory draft and the increasing of optional players held by major league clubs in minor outfits.

Commissioner Landis is here, and has presided over all sessions. He remained silent today concerning the latest outburst of President Johnson.

"I have nothing to say," was the commissioner's reply to all questions. But a sharp flash in his dark eyes indicated he would like to say a lot.

Aside from ratifying the commissioner's four new rules designed to "clean up baseball," the major and minor league magnates did little else than argue to a standstill over the draft.

One of the new rules proposed by Landis, dubbed "the statute of limitations" which regulates the time after which charges against ball players would be void, places such a limit at five years.

George E. Muehlebach, Kansas City Blues; Ross C. Herriott, Terre Haute; S. L. Robertson, Buffalo, and H. W. Lane, Hollywood, Calif., represent the four leagues which have hitherto resisted the draft.

Officials of minor leagues which now need the draft include A. J. Heinemann, New Orleans club; Arthur J. Shean, Springfield, Mass., club; Walter Morris, Dalla, Texas, club; M. H. Sexton, president National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, and J. R. Darrell, secretary of the association.

Ban Storm Center In New "Scandal" Move In Baseball

BAN E. JOHNSON

Ban B. Johnson, president of the American League, the man mainly responsible for its growth and a foe of Judge Landis, czar of the game, is the latest storm center in the developments growing out of the Cobb-Speaker case.

This is Critics' Opinion After Looking New Pug Over.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Inspired by reportorial zeal and what not, which sometimes retails as low as fifty cents a shot, a covey of news scavengers returned today from the Shrewsbury river whence they had gone with the idea of seeing what manner of man Elky Clark was. It seems, judging by the boys' reports, that all they discovered was what Elky was not.

The young man, who is flyweight champion of Europe, will meet Fidel La Barba, of Los Angeles, for the world's title on Friday night. Therefore, the boys' findings on the following points may be of general interest:

That Clark is not so equipped that he can land an effective punch, except at close quarters.

If what the boys say is true, La Barba should cake-walk to the judge's "nod" next Friday night at Madison Square Garden, after which we may be able to turn our attention to something important.

This Clark party had been megaphoned as a better man than Wilde, who was better than the best in his day, and Rickard was making ready to suffer a rush of blooded saps to the box office but now the business looks like a plain case of non-support.

Of course, our boy friends have made their mistakes. I seem to remember them gushing rhapsodies about Dempsey's marvelous condition or about September 23 and Berlanbach was to be a romp in the last Delaney fight.

But the boy friends are not always wrong and all I ask of them is to be right in two particulars, viz, that Clark is a set up for a left hand and that he must get in close to do his punching. If that combination proves true, La Barba couldnt lose unless he forgets to show up.

First of all, he has one of the finest lefts extant. Second, can't everyone imagine how easy it will be for Clark, being left handed all over the place, to get in close for his effective punching? Neither can I.

Michigan, Indiana Run Neck and Neck For Big Ten Title

Michigan and Indiana remained in a deadlock for first place following victories last night at Ann Arbor and Evanston respectively. The Wolverines kept their unbeaten record intact by trouncing Illinois, 25 to 24, while Indiana won easily over Northwestern, 36 to 24.

In the third conference game played last night, Wisconsin defeated Chicago in a thrilling overtime session, 33 to 30. The teams were tied at the close of the regular period, 27 to 27.

It was the third victory of the season for both Michigan and Indiana. Neither five has lost a conference game.

Illinois lost another heartbreaker to Michigan. The margin of defeat was one point, the same as on the Saturday night before when the luckless Illini lost to Ohio State.

RICKARD LINES UP STAR BOUTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—With Jack Delaney lined up under his banner at last, Rex Rickard today was in a position to outline a tentative program in the heavyweight division that will have its climax in the spectacle of Gene Tunney defending his title against the best man available late next summer. Delaney signed yesterday to meet Jimmy Maloney, of Boston, on February 18 at Madison Square Garden.

In the event that the light heavyweight champion is successful in that bout, he will be asked to meet Jack Sharkey, conqueror of Harry Wills, also at the Garden. The winner of that bout, according to Rickard's plans, will meet Jack Dempsey in late May or early June at the Yankee stadium for the right to challenge Tunney.

DAHER AND RENEY ARE CUE VICTORS

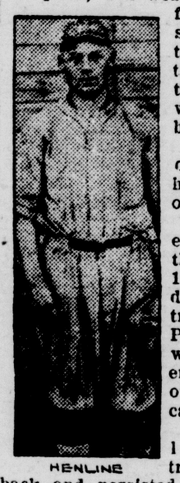

Daher and Reney were victors in last night's matches in the American Pocket Billiard tournament, both games being close all the way.

Daher finished ahead of Sainer by a score of 75 to 68 and Reney downed C. Moore, 75 to 73.

Herbert vs. Moore and Lanning vs. Sainer are the matches billed tonight.

Movin' On

WALTER HENLINE, for five years the mainstay of the Phillies behind the plate, will wear a Brooklyn uniform the coming season. He went to Dodgertown via the Giants a short time ago in a bewildering swap of baseball material.

HENLINE

It was the second time Henline had been a Giant, on paper at least.

He was purchased by the club in the winter of 1920-21 from Indianapolis and was traded to the Phils in July, 1921, with Curtis Walker for Emil Meusel, other players and cash.

A couple of years later McGraw tried to buy him back and persisted for a couple of years. Had to let him go to the Dodgers this time to get Burleigh Grimes, veteran pitcher, after he got his hands on him (Henline).

Henline received his first tryout with the Ft. Wayne team in the Central League in 1915. Released without trial he played semi-pro ball there and in Cleveland, O., for a couple of years. Signed with Indianapolis in 1918 only to join the army. Loaned to Bloomington by the Hoosiers in 1919 and recalled.

Is a .300 hitter and heardy backstop.

ELKS FACING COLUMBIANA, LISBON GAMES

Must Win Both This Week to Stay in Lead.

BILL POWELL'S ELKS, now leading the Columbiana County Amateur Basketball league by a single game margin over the Salem and Damascus teams, tied for second place, will figure in two of the four actual loop engagements billed for the present week.

Four forfeit games—those in which East Palestine and Wellsville are billed—cut down the list of attractions.

Both Salem and Damascus are assured of victories this week, each having two forfeits coming while the Elks must keep traveling if they would achieve their first half title expectations.

At the end of the week, Salem and Damascus will have won nine games each and lost three for a percentage of .750.

The Elks, facing games with Lisbon and Columbiana, will have to come through with victories to retain their hold on first place. One defeat in the two games would make a three-cornered tie out of the race.

The Powell passers will play at Lisbon Wednesday night and will conclude the first half series with Columbiana here Saturday night.

Ban Johnson Calls Meeting of American League Directors

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—The storm brewing between Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis and President Ban Johnson of the American league, grew more intense today with the announcement of Johnson that he had called a special meeting of the board of directors of the American league for next Sunday, the day before the "show-down" meeting called by Commissioner Landis.

At the American league meeting Sunday the directors will decide whether or not they will attend the hearing called by Landis. It is believed they will agree to attend. That there will be plenty of pyrotechnics at this session was indicated by President Johnson, who said:

"I have reports on Speaker which Landis will never get unless we go to court."

In announcing the call for Sunday's meeting, Johnson declared that if the directors voted to attend the Landis hearing and turn over all their data on the Cobb-Speaker affair, he would abide by the decision, but that he would not, under any cimcumstances, appear as a witness under oath before the commissioner.

"It is not a court and I would refuse to be sworn at any such meeting," Johnson declared. He suggested that if the matter is to be publicly aired that it be in a United States court, where he would gladly take the oath.

In a dispatch from French Lick, Ind., where he is attending a major-minor league meeting, Commissioner Landis was quoted as saving the hearing next Monday would be open to the public.

Reiterating his charge that Landis, and not the American league, is responsible for smearing the records of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, Johnson continues:

"I've fired a broadside, and now I'm going to stand by my guns. Landis isn't going to make the public think the American league passed the buck on the Cobb-Speaker case without a fight."

Renewing his attack on Commissioner Landis, Johnson said:

"Mr. Landis seems extremely anxious to investigate charges of fixed games back in 1917. Why doesn't he investigate some of our recent world series, for instance that peculiar series played in 1922.

"The American league is still trying to unearth facts concerning that series, which the Giants won in five games by calling reporters names. If Mr. Landis is content to answer questions about that world's title his attitude is worthy of study.

Several days after the Risberg scandal charge was aired, Commissioner Landis denied that he was investigating the world series of 1922. He dismissed it with the hint that there was nothing to investigate.

FRENCH LICK, Ind., Jan. 18.—The Landis-Johnson feud today monopolized the attention of major and minor baseball league officials who gathered here to discuss such routine matters as the compulsory draft and the increasing of optional players held by major league clubs in minor outfits.

Commissioner Landis is here, and has presided over all sessions. He remained silent today concerning the latest outburst of President Johnson.

"I have nothing to say," was the commissioner's reply to all questions. But a sharp flash in his dark eyes indicated he would like to say a lot.

Aside from ratifying the commissioner's four new rules designed to "clean up baseball," the major and minor league magnates did little else than argue to a standstill over the draft.

One of the new rules proposed by Landis, dubbed "the statute of limitations" which regulates the time after which charges against ball players would be void, places such a limit at five years.

George E. Muehlebach, Kansas City Blues; Ross C. Herriott, Terre Haute; S. L. Robertson, Buffalo, and H. W. Lane, Hollywood, Calif., represent the four leagues which have hitherto resisted the draft.

Officials of minor leagues which now need the draft include A. J. Heinemann, New Orleans club; Arthur J. Shean, Springfield, Mass., club; Walter Morris, Dalla, Texas, club; M. H. Sexton, president National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, and J. R. Darrell, secretary of the association.

Ban Storm Center In New "Scandal" Move In Baseball

BAN E. JOHNSON

Ban B. Johnson, president of the American League, the man mainly responsible for its growth and a foe of Judge Landis, czar of the game, is the latest storm center in the developments growing out of the Cobb-Speaker case.

Bennett defeated Parrar, 25 to 17, in the three-cushion league last night at the Academy Billiard parlor.

RICKARD LINES UP STAR BOUTS

NEW YORK, Jar. 18.—With Jack Delaney lined up under his banner at last, Rex Rickard today was in a position to outline a tentative program in the heavyweight division that will have its climax in the spectacle of Gene Tunney defending his title against the best man available late next summer. Delaney signed yesterday to meet Jimmy Maloney, of Boston, on February 18 at Madison Square Garden.

In the event that the light heavyweight champion is successful in that bout, he will be asked to meet Jack Sharkey, conqueror of Harry Wills, also at the Garden. The winner of that bout, according to Rickard's plans, will meet Jack Dempsey in late May or early June at the Yankee stadium for the right to challenge Tunney.

DAHER AND RENEY ARE CUE VICTORS

Daher and Reney were victors in last night's matches in the American Pocket Billiard tournament, both games being close all the way.

Daher finished ahead of Sainer by a score of 75 to 73 and Reney downed C. Moore, 75 to 73.

Herbert vs. Moore and Lanning vs. Sainer are the matches billed tonight.

Movin' On

WALTER HENLINE, for five years the mainstay of the Phillies behind the plate, will wear a Brooklyn uniform the coming season. He went to Dodgertown via the Giants a short time ago in a bewildering swap of baseball material.

HENLINE

It was the second time Henline had been a Giant, on paper at least.

He was purchased by the club in the winter of 1920-21 from Indianapolis and was traded to the Phils in July, 1921, with Curtis Walker for Emil Meusel, other players and cash.

A couple of years later McGraw tried to buy him back and persisted for a couple of years. Had to let him go to the Dodgers this time to get Burleigh Grimes, veteran pitcher, after he got his hands on him (Henline).

Henline received his first tryout with the Ft. Wayne team in the Central League in 1915. Released without trial he played semi-pro ball there and in Cleveland, O., for a couple of years. Signed with Indianapolis in 1918 only to join the army. Loaned to Bloomington by the Hoosiers in 1919 and recalled.

Is a .300 hitter and heardy backstop.

ELKS FACING COLUMBIANA, LISBON GAMES

Must Win Both This Week to Stay in Lead.

BILL POWELL'S ELKS, now leading the Columbiana County Amateur Basketball league by a single game margin over the Salem and Damascus teams, tied for second place, will figure in two of the four actual loop engagements billed for the present week.

Four forfeit games—those in which East Palestine and Wellsville are billed—cut down the list of attractions.

Both Salem and Damascus are assured of victories this week, each having two forfeits coming while the Elks must keep traveling if they would achieve their first half title expectations.

At the end of the week, Salem and Damascus will have won nine games each and lost three for a percentage of .750.

The Elks, facing games with Lisbon and Columbiana, will have to come through with victories to retain their hold on first place. One defeat in the two games would make a three-cornered tie out of the race.

The Powell passers will play at Lisbon Wednesday night and will conclude the first half series with Columbiana here Saturday night.

IF YOU FEEL OLD, STIFF, RHEUMATIC TAKE "CHIEF" BENDER'S LITTLE TIP

As Old As He Is He Pitches, Runs, Catches, Bats and Plays Around Like a Kid—Never Feels Achy, Sore, Rheumatic, Lame, or Stiff.

TELLS YOU HOW TO KEEP SUPPLE, LIMBER AND FREE OF ACHES, PAINS

CHIEF BENDER, COACH Chicago "White Sox," one of the greatest, most famous pitchers of the old days

"You Old Chaps Who Are Stiff and Lame Can Feel Like This

"I suppose I would be as stiff, sore, lame and rheumatic as any man my age if it wasn't for the liniment we use in the big leagues. It is wonderful stuff. You just rub it in good or have somebody rub you good with Mike Martin's Liniment and right away all the soreness, aches and pains vanish away and you feel like a 2-year-old.

"If you old fellows want to feel frisky, supple and fine, get a bottle of Mike Martin's Liniment and use it like Mike Martin tells you to on the label. Mike Martin, as you doubtless know, is the trainer of Washington Baseball club. His liniment is used by big league ball players everywhere. It is wonderful for sore and aching muscles. His liniment enabled me to pitch to batting practice every day without any bad results during the whole past summer," declares "Chief" C. A. Bender, of the Chicago White Sox, and one of the most famous Indian athletes of all times.

If the reader feels aged, old, stiff, achy and rheumatic, let him get a bottle of Mike Martin's Liniment and rub with it good tonight. You will be positively amazed how fine you feel in the morning. If by any chance your druggist hasn't it, send dollar bill direct to Mike Martin, trainer, Washington Ball club, for large bottle, parcels post, to your door.

New Propellor for By Dutch Engineer Vessels Invented

AMSTERDAM.—A Dutch marine engineer has invented a propellor for boats which has the shape of a fin.

The fin is placed at the back of the boat and performs both a spinning movement on its own axis and a circular movement. It is claimed that this gives twenty per cent more motive force than a screw and also renders a rudder unnecessary.

Ceramic, four days commencing Wednesday.

Q. How much gasoline will it take for the planes making the Pan-American flight? B. D.

A. It will take 10,000 gallons of gasoline to serve each one of the five amphibian planes on the Pan-American flight around South America, according to recent announcement. Approximately 50,000 gallons of gasoline, 2,000 gallons of benzol, and 5,000 gallons of lubricating oil have been shipped to the various ports of call to be visited by the Army fliers.

Q. Is Lewis Stone married? S. J. H.

A. He is married to a non-professional. He has two daughters.

Q. Where are the Thousand Islands? Are there in reality more than 1,000? B. E. R.

A. The Thousand Islands are a collection of small islands, numbering about 1,700, situated in an expansion of the St. Lawrence river, about 40 miles long and from four to seven miles wide, between Ontario, Canada, and Jefferson and St. Lawrence counties, New York. They are favorite resorts for summer tourists on account of their picturesque beauty. Many are private property and contain the summer homes of wealthy Americans and Canadians.

Q. Please tell what causes the eyes in bird's eye maple. Where is this wood found? N. P. N.

A. Bird's eye maple is found from Newfoundland to Georgia and westward to the northern shores of the Great Lakes, eastern Nebraska, and Kansas. When the grain has a pronounced wavy appearance the wood is called bird's eye maple and is used as a veneer. The Forest Service says that there is a parasitic growth that gets into the wood of the maple and causes a swelling, which when cut off straight by the saw appears as eyes. This does not harm the wood but makes it more valuable. Generally speaking, this wood is scarce.

Q. Is it true that a successful toe dancer has to train from childhood? D. G.

A. We are informed that toe dancers start their careers early in life. It has been stated that the Russian Ballet masters would not accept applicants over eight years of age.

Q. How long before Mussolini became premier of Italy was the Fascisti party started? E. E. F.

A. The decree of King Victor Immanuel by virtue of which Mussolini became premier is dated October 31, 1922. The first Fascisti meeting occurred March 23, 1919.

Q. What became of the statue of Athena or Minerva as she was called? C. B.

A. The celebrated statue of Athena which was in the Parthenon is no longer extant. A statuette not quite 3 1-2 feet high, evidently a copy of this great statue was found in Athens in 1880. So far as we know, it remains in the National Museum, in the Greek capital.

Q. Can ether be taken from the air? E. J. T.

A. It is only assumed to exist, to account for the transmission of light and heat through space.

New Propellor for By Dutch Engineer Vessels Invented

AMSTERDAM.—A Dutch marine engineer has invented a propellor for boats which has the shape of a fin.

The fin is placed at the back of the boat and performs both a spinning movement on its own axis and a circular movement. It is claimed that this gives twenty per cent more motive force than a screw and also renders a rudder unnecessary.

Ceramic, four days commencing Wednesday.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Find out whatever you want to know. There is no room for ignorance in this busy world. The person who loses out is the one who guesses. The person who gets on is always the one who acts upon reliable information. This paper employs Frederic J. Haskin to conduct an information bureau in Washington for the free use of the public. There is no charge except two cents in stamps for return postage. Write to him today for any facts you desire. Address The East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. How much gasoline will it take for the planes making the Pan-American flight? B. D.

A. It will take 10,000 gallons of gasoline to serve each one of the five amphibian planes on the Pan-American flight around South America, according to recent announcement. Approximately 50,000 gallons of gasoline, 2,000 gallons of benzol, and 5,000 gallons of lubricating oil have been shipped to the various ports of call to be visited by the Army fliers.

Q. Is Lewis Stone married? S. J. H.

A. He is married to a non-professional. He has two daughters.

Q. Where are the Thousand Islands? Are there in reality more than 1,000? B. E. R.

A. The Thousand Islands are a collection of small islands, numbering about 1,700, situated in an expansion of the St. Lawrence river, about 40 miles long and from four to seven miles wide, between Ontario, Canada, and Jefferson and St. Lawrence counties, New York. They are favorite resorts for summer tourists on account of their picturesque beauty. Many are private property and contain the summer homes of wealthy Americans and Canadians.

Q. Please tell what causes the eyes in bird's eye maple. Where is this wood found? N. P. N.

A. Bird's eye maple is found from Newfoundland to Georgia and westward to the northern shores of the Great Lakes, eastern Nebraska, and Kansas. When the grain has a pronounced wavy appearance the wood is called bird's eye maple and is used as a veneer. The Forest Service says that there is a parasitic growth that gets into the wood of the maple and causes a swelling, which when cut off straight by the saw appears as eyes. This does not harm the wood but makes it more valuable. Generally speaking, this wood is scarce.

Q. Is it true that a successful toe dancer has to train from childhood? D. G.

A. We are informed that toe dancers start their careers early in life. It has been stated that the Russian Ballet masters would not accept applicants over eight years of age.

Q. How long before Mussolini became premier of Italy was the Fascisti party started? E. E. F.

A. The decree of King Victor Immanuel by virtue of which Mussolini became premier is dated October 31, 1922. The first Fascisti meeting occurred March 23, 1919.

Q. What became of the statue of Athena or Minerva as she was called? C. B.

A. The celebrated statue of Athena which was in the Parthenon is no longer extant. A statuette not quite 3 1-2 feet high, evidently a copy of this great statue was found in Athens in 1880. So far as we know, it remains in the National Museum, in the Greek capital.

Q. Can ether be taken from the air? E. J. T.

A. It is only assumed to exist, to account for the transmission of light and heat through space.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Gargle Aspirin for Tonsilitis or Sore Throat

A harmless and effective gargle is to dissolve two "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in four tablespoonfuls of water, and gargle throat thoroughly. Repeat in two hours if necessary.

Be sure you use only the genuine Bayer Aspirin, marked with the Bayer Cross, which can be had in tin boxes of twelve tablets fo. few cents.

FULTZ CASE GOES TO COURT

Today

The Stage Is a Mirror.
Less Mexican Strain.
Success and Age.
Paul Rainey's Killing.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

Copyright, 1927, by the Star Co.

There must be a board to decide what is bad. It usually does not agree.

There must be a grand jury willing to indict. It usually does not agree.

And if you indict, you must get an ordinary jury to convict. It usually does not agree.

STEAL a dollar and all agree to put you in jail. Steal a community's sense of decency and it is not quite sure that it has lost anything.

Congo natives eat decayed rhinoceros meat, unpleasant and bad for the health, but you could not convict decayed rhinoceros meat dealers if there were any there.

An indecent stage is a mirror reflecting a considerable part of the public mind. That is the difficulty.

LESS strain in our relations with Mexico. There is talk of reaching peace by the road of arbitration in Nicaragua and in Mexico.

In Nicaragua, the revolutionary row of Diaz and Sacasa would be arbitrated, and in Mexico the oil question—not the right of Mexico to make what laws she pleases, but their interpretation as regards American rights already acquired.

THE University of Pennsylvania's school of finance and commerce finds great business and industrial organization in this country controlled by men averaging 60 years of age. Bankers are younger, the average for bank presidents being 55 years. That is because old financiers put in younger men to run their banks.

BIG business is self-made, the first generation of success, and it takes a lifetime to get ahead of others. None the less, 60, as the average successful age, is an encouraging sign of longer life.

PAUL RAINEY'S moving pictures of animal life in Africa provided interesting, valuable education to millions. He is dead, unfortunately, and an Englishman publishes a book foolishly criticizing Rainey's "slaughtering of game."

The game that Paul Rainey slaughtered ought to be slaughtered, lions, leopards, panthers and other animals, of which he killed many, sufficiently savage to provide the danger that Paul Rainey thoroughly enjoyed.

EVERY time Rainey killed one of those savage beasts he protected the lives of natives and their children, saved native livestock, preserved harmless deer and other gentle animals innumerable.

RAINEY, an efficient killer of dangerous, savage animals, believed in getting rid of them. Others would like to nurse them along to kill them, a few at a time, for amusement. If in the meantime they ate a few natives, why, there would always be plenty of natives.

Moody, Red-headed Lawyer of 33, Now Governor of Texas

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Jan. 18.—Dan Moody, young attorney general, was inaugurated as governor of Texas at noon today.

The red-headed young lawyer of 33, from Taylor, who has fought his way up the ladder of success, rung by rung, first as county attorney, then district attorney, attorney general, and now governor, was acclaimed by thousands who stood in the open to witness the passing of the affairs of state from the guidance of the retiring governor, Miriam A. Ferguson, into the hands of the youth who made his campaign issue an uncompromising fight against "Fergusonism" and won by an overwhelming majority.

Vaudeville Star Sues Violinist for $50,000 Heart Balm

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 18.—Musical and theatrical circles were atwitter here today as a result of Gertrude McCushion, 21, vaudeville actress, filing a breach of promise suit for $50,000 against Duci De Kerekjarto, Hungarian concert violinist.

Miss McCushion, appearing this week at an Indianapolis theatre, through her attorney here, alleges that the young artist, after sending her a bushel of love letters and having played for her on the long distance telephone from New York to Seattle, proposed marriage.

"PAY-AS-YOU GO" POLICY IS DEMANDED BY DOCTORS HERE

City Hospital Staff Calls for Prompt Settlement.

RULES ADOPTED

Office Work and Obstetrics Cash; Will Charge Interest.

Facing the alternative of increasing fees, thus imposing upon persons who pay as they go, or demanding prompt settlement of all accounts, the City hospital staff, including all physicians of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, today announced the adoption of a business policy which calls for a better understanding and co-operation between physicians and their patients.

The policy provides:

1—Office work and obstetrics cash.

2—Interest will be charged on all accounts not paid within 30 days.

3—All accounts must be settled by cash or negotiable note within 90 days.

"This does not mean, "says the physicians' statement, "that if you need office attention and do not have the fee you will be refused; but it does mean that your doctor prefers and expects you to pay cash for office consultation if you have the fee, even though you have an account with him."

Physicians' Statement.

Pointing out, despite the fact that medical service charges in the district are from 33 1-3 to more than 100 per cent less than in other communities comparable with the East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, that an increase in fees would have the effect of penalizing patients who pay as they go and have little bearing upon those who could, but do not pay promptly, if at all, the staff says:

"It was therefore decided that for the present, no increase would be made in minimum fees but that a uniform business policy should be adopted, and in putting it into effect this statement should be made to the public with the hope that it will be conducive to a better understanding and co-operation between physicians and patients.

"Your doctor has spent several years of hard study and several thousands of dollars to prepare himself to serve you, and still spend much time and money in study, attendance at medical society meetings, post graduate course, and in the purchase of books, medical journals, and equip-

U. S. MARINES TO STAY ON JOB UNTIL COUNTRY IS IN PEACEFUL MOOD

With Obvious Reference to Resolutions Introduced in Both Houses of Congress Demanding Recall of Troops, President Explains His Policy to Callers at White House.

LEATHERNECKS WILL DO POLICE WORK AS LONG AS CIVIL WAR GOES ON

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A staunch defense of the policy of keeping U. S. marines in Nicaragua until the country is restored to tranquility was made by President Coolidge today following the cabinet meeting.

With obvious reference to the resolutions that have been introduced in both houses of congress demanding the recall of the marines, President Coolidge informed callers that it is the determination of the administration to keep the troops in Nicaragua until there is an adjustment of Nicaraguan affairs sufficiently to safeguard American interests.

The American government was confronted with the alternative of compelling President Adolfo Diaz to make peace, or of settling the marines down for a prolonged military occupation of the little republic.

Diaz' rejection of the mediation proposed by President Jiminez of Costa Rica, which Secretary of State Kellogg said this government "welcomed," rather put the proposition squarely up to the state department, and there was keen speculation in Latin-American quarters here today over the next step in the situation.

Could Force Diaz to Act.

It is accepted that Diaz could be "persuaded" by the department to make peace. His continuance in the presidential palace at Managua is dependent upon the support of the department and the presence of marines, who have neutralized most of the fighting zones, and disarmed many of his enemies, the Sacasa revolutionists. Consequently, Diaz is peculiarly amenable to the state department's wishes.

The department, however, is admittedly in a somewhat delicate position because of the Mexican irritant. While desirous of restoring peace and stability in Nicaragua, the department is nevertheless determined to have in Managua a regime that leans to this government rather than to Mexico.

American Sloop Seized.

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, Jan. 18.—The Diaz government has seized the American-owned sloop "Union," on grounds of its having participated in the revolution of last May. This action, which was permitted by the commander of the American forces here, has caused considerable comment.

The sloop was involved in a fight in the bay here last May but through the efforts of the American consul eventually had the owner's ship restored to him. When the neutral zones were declared here it was claimed that the "Union" was aiding the liberal forces, although this was denied by her owners. The ship was towed here for repairs and seized by the Diaz forces.

Arbitration Is Urged.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 18.—A resolution calling upon the Washington government to submit the Nicaraguan controversy to arbitration will be submitted to delegates to the union of American Hebrew congregations, in general convention, here today.

52 SENATORS READY TO BAR F. L. SMITH FROM OATH OF OFFICE

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A 24-hour truce was declared today between a hostile senate and Senator-elect Frank L. Smith (R) of Illinois, who seeks to serve under an appointment from Governor Small of Illinois.

Facing a hopeless fight, Smith will present his credentials to the senate at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

This action will be the signal for open hostilities, with more than a majority of senators ready to deny him even the right to take his oath of office. A poll by International News Service made this clear today.

Under an agreement, the senate will go into executive session at 2 o'clock to consider the Lausanne treaty.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN WILL FIGHT $4,000 MONTHLY ALIMONY AWARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 18—Charlie Chaplin announced today through his attorney, Nathan Burkan, that he would fight the award by the superior court at Los Angeles of $4,000 monthly as temporary alimony to his wife, Lita Gray Chaplin.

Discussing the court decree in Los Angeles, Burkan said:

"We certainly shall contest that award. Mr. Chaplin waited two months in California to be served, but he was not. Then when he left the state the papers were served.

"It is all part of a scheme of Mrs. Chaplain, her family and her lawyers to get a lot of cheap publicity. It was cooked up just for that purpose.

"Mr. Chaplin tried several times to pay for the support of his children, but was refused by his wife. He offered half a million dollars in settlement of her claims and another $100,000 for custody of his eldest son. That also was refused.

The comedian is expected to be

CHAPTER SIXTEEN.

"It all seems to turn upon a handkerchief," I began.

"Handkerchief?" repeated Claypole.

"Yes," I said; "for some unknown reason the handkerchief appears to be vital."

I told the little detective of the strange interview which I had had with Baldassare in the morning, of the frantic searching of my room, and the still stranger interview with the little Japanese in the afternoon, after I had been kidnapped.

Claypole listened in silence, but with astonished eyes. The moment I had finished he started to his feet in a state of suppressed excitement.

"Bully for you!" he exclaimed. "If that don't beat the band. We'll be after that little kerchief as soon as we set foot on terra cotta again, as the old lady said as she passed the statue of Liberty."

"But why in heaven's name do they want it?" I exclaimed. "It's a perfectly ordinary handkerchief. I examined it again and again."

"That is just what we want to find out," said Claypole. "I've a notion that it's about the best clew we shall ever get to the operations of the gang. Anyhow, it's important enough to set them kidnapping a citizen of the United States in broad daylight. We're properly on the trail this journey. That's as plain as the way to parish church."

Our further conversation was interrupted by the entry of several passengers, the rattling of chains and the buzz of the engine telegraph. Looking up, I saw we were alongside a wooden pier and amid the lights of the city of Geneva. Claypole seized hold of my arm.

"Stick close to me," he said.

We got up, paid our reckoning, and joined the crowd which was pressing towards the gangway.

There was an official standing at the pier collecting tickets from the passengers as they disembarked. Beside him was Baldassare Marce. I nudged Claypole.

"Sure," he whispered. "I've seen the gargoyle. But he doesn't cut any ice, not at this tide in the affairs of men."

I must admit I did not share the cool assurance of my companion. I could not wholly master my tremors on perceiving, as we moved nearer to the ticket collector, that the swivel eye of Signor Marce was raking the passengers. We soon drew level and I handed up both tickets. Marce saw us at once and stepped directly in our way.

Before he could say anything, however, Claypole went straight up to him, and looked him quietly up and down.

"Good evening dago," he said "Mighty friendly of you to meet us. But we're pressed for time just now, so we'll just say good day. Make a noise like a tree and leave, will you." He pushed past him, Marce gazing in astonishment, but offering no resistance. He looked baffled.

"The central police station, please," said Claypole briskly, in French.

The gendarme looked at him.

"It's in the Hotel de Ville, but the office is closed, Monsieur."

"Not to this child," replied Claypole, and he held out something in his hand which I could not see.

"I will call a taxi for Monsieur," he said.

"Thank you," said Claypole.

We followed in the wake of the gendarme to where a taxi stood by the pavement. The gendarme opened the door and we stepped in.

Claypole, his head out of the window, looked back smilingly at Marce, whose suppressed emotions had caused him to flush a dull purple.

"Guess that guy won't be needing any pink pills for pale, people this evening," he remarked, as the taxi moved away.

As we drove to the Hotel de Ville, I asked Claypole why he had not committed Baldasarre on a charge of assault.

"I'm out to catch bigger fish than Marce," he replied. "We shall have to pay out a good deal more of the hempen coil before we really invite these guys to hang themselves with same."

"But who are they?" I asked. "And who is the Center?"

"I'll perhaps be able to put you wiser about that when we have a moment to spare," replied Claypole. "The present job is to get the authorities to round up those thugs in Count Emilco's lakeside residence."

We settled that he should go with the police to the villa at Bellevue, where we had been confined, and that I should, if possible, proceed to the laundry and endeavor to obtain the handkerchief. Meanwhile, Claypole would ask for police protection for both of us. He did not disguise from me that we should probably need as much of it as we could get.

Already we were climbing the steep streets of the old town, the original Geneva, where Calvin ruled and where the descendants of the City Fathers still live in an atmosphere of decayed but exclusive dignity.

The taxi stopped opposite a fine seventeen-century building, and we were conducted immediately to the room of the Chief Commissioner of Police. He was apparently awaiting us, having received a telephone warning of our approach from the gendarme whom we had encountered on leaving the boat.

On entering his presence, Claypole produced the talisman he had already shown to the gendarme on the quai, and I perceived it to be a metal token of some kind, stamped with a number and a star. At the same time he took from an inner pocket a small oilskin packet, which he opened, and, taking thence a folded document, spread it before the official.

Claypole explained that I was a private individual, who had already been of great assistance, and the he would esteem it a favor if I could continue to work with him. He himself would be entirely responsible.

The Commissioner nodded, apparently satisfied. He then inquired our particular business.

Claypole explained rapidly in French that he was on the track of an organization known as the Center.

"Indeed," said the Commissioner, "we have had news of these people through our office at Berne from the New York authorities. No details, however, have been given. Perhaps you would be good enough to supplement our information."

This, Claypole said, he was unable to do. He knew little more of their existence than the fact that they were men engaged in the illicit drug traffic on a large scale, and their methods were criminal. He detailed briefly his operations in Paris and ended with a formal request for the immediate arrest of all the persons in the villa at Bellevue, more particularly of the Japanese who appeared to be the head of the organization.

It seemed to me, when he had finished speaking, that the official was somewhat embarrassed.

"It is difficult, gentlemen," he said slowly, "to know exactly what action should be taken. I do not for a moment doubt your credentials, though your appearance, if you will forgive me saying so (here he looked pointedly at our soiled and sodden garments) is not reassuring. It is, however, in every case necessary to proceed with caution and with due regard to the regulations. The issue of a wararnt for the arrest of any one could only be granted by a Judge d'Instruction, and on the evidence before us I doubt whether I can recommend that application be made."

"But surely," I burst out "we have both been flagrantly assaulted, and this gentleman, at least, has narrowly escaped assassination."

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oft-times all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

LILLIAN GISH IN FILM HIT

"Scarlet Letter" is Screen Offering at American.

There's one thing the flapper of today wouldn't want to be—and that's a Puritan flapper. It just couldn't be done!

Girls of today with their lipsticks, rolled hose and other fads and foibles can get almost a shudder in contemplating Lillian Gish in her Puritan life in "The Scarlet Letter," now playing at the American theatre.

She got put in the stocks for laughing and singing on the Sabbath—and faced the deepest disgrace for something that really was sweet and beautiful—almost sublime.

Lillian is Beautiful.

Lillian Gish looks very beautiful in her severe Puritan garb—so beautiful that the simple costume seems almost better than the most fashionable gown of today. Her tragedy will wring every girl's heart—and her acting is wonderful. It is a story that holds one enthralled—and the great dramatic climax is one of the most remarkable things ever seen in a picture. The story, from Nathaniel Hawthorne's classic of Puritan days, will grip the heart of every woman who sees it by the immensity of its dramatic theme.

Incidentally, Miss Gish introduces a new matinee idol—from Sweden—to the American flapper in this new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature. He is Lars Hanson, known as "the Barrymore of Sweden," and he makes a wonderful lover in the leading role. Henry B. Walthall, once Miss Gish's lover in "Birth of a Nation," plays her enemy and pursuer in the new picture, and a wonderful cast, with Karl Dane, Marcelle Corday, Jules Cowles, William H. Tooker, little Joyce Coad and others appear. The scenes in the Puritan village are gorgeous.

It is romantic, tragic, gripping—but no flapper of today would ever want to be a Puritan girl in the stern, intolerent times depicted in the powerful picture.

But—they'll all thrill at the play, just the same!

Adolphe Menjou may remain Uncle Sam's suave sophisticate, Harold Lloyd should keep on as America's perennial playboy, Jack Holt can continue upholding the honor of the West, Bebe Daniels may well stay on as Hollywood's joyful tomboy but— as for Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton —let them continue to be the screen's funniest comedy team, in films similar to 1926's fun fest, "Behind the Front."

Paramount offficials realized the the public demand for a sequel to the first "sunny side of the war" picture and cast about for another good story. Monty Brice, adapter of the earlier production, handed in an orginal script, which upon being read caused everyone to fall into convulsions of laughter. It's name? "Were in the Navy Now."

And so—the picture which arrives at the Ceramic theatre tomorrow for a four-day run, traces the lives of a prize fighter and his manager from the day they innocently join the Navy till their final return to the ring. If you don't believe it to be chuck full of shrieks, listen to one typical situation.

After having been vamped by a nurse aboard ship, the boys are asked to take her over the side in a rowboat. They do this and she suddenly vanishes into thin air. Lost in a fog, their boat is cut in two by an immense dreadnaught. Picked up by rescuers, they tell of their adventures with a whole fleet of submarines! Then—but why continue? "We're in the Navy Now" is really a life-saver in a sea of inferior productions.

Don't Let Colds Turn Into Catarrh

Authorities say 85% of all catarrhal cases start as common colds

When a cold is hard to "shake off," watch out! When a cold "hangs on" week after week, be suspicious! In nine cases out of ten this is the way catarrh starts. The mucous membranes become inflamed and congested, and the catarrhal condition soon becomes chronic.

Stop Frequent Colds

The delicate linings of nose and throat are very sensitive. Cold germs weaken them. Each attack makes them less resistant. You must get rid of the congestion and stored-up impurities. Then Catarrh disappears.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous membrane. It gently stimulates the delicate tissues to throw off the accumulated poisons. Nature then quickly restores tone, vigor and health.

A Proved Treatment

Ointments alone have proved ineffective. Salves give but temporary relief. To end catarrh, you must treat the cause.

This Hall's Catarrh Medicine does because it is a combined treatment—a tonic that acts thru the blood on the mucous membranes, and an ointment that soothes and relieves.

If you have colds, catarrh, sinusitis, catarrhal deafness or catarrhal bad breath, get Hall's Catarrh Medicine today. Ask your druggist. Price 85c. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Patients, Pay As You Go

The City hospital staff, which includes all physicians of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, faced with the alternative of increasing fees for those who pay promptly, or demanding settlements on the part of delinquents, today served notice upon the public of the adoption of a pay-as-you-go policy for medical services.

Henceforth, office work and obstetrics will be on a cash basis. Interests will be charged on all accounts which are not paid within 30 days. All bills must be settled by cash or negotiable note within 90 days.

As the physicians point out, they hesitate to increase fees in the East Liverpool district, although their minimum charges are from 33 1-3 to 100 per cent less than the cost of medical service in many communities comparable with East Liverpool and other nearby towns. For the increase would be a penalty upon the patient who pays promptly and have little bearing upon others.

The doctor, who has spent many years in study and thousands of dollars to prepare to serve the sick, not to mention his investment in books, medical journals and equipment, is as much entitled to prompt payment as the grocer, butcher, milk man, clothier or shoe merchant. And like other business and professional men, there are times when he must borrow to meet his obligations.

All physicians are willing to do some charity work, but if the compensation for most of their services is "I can't pay you today," they soon find themselves in financial difficulties. So henceforth, as a means of self-protection, they will demand prompt settlement of accounts by persons who can afford to pay.

And why not? The doctor is as worthy of his hire as the butcher, baker, candlestick maker or pottery worker.

State Laws Not Enough

The committee on child welfare of the National League of of Women Voters has been studying the child labor situation throughout the country, primarily to discover whether children are receiving under state legislation as much protection as they would have received under either of the former federal laws. The conclusion they have reached is that state labor laws are not enough. They find:

1. Even with recent improvements state laws do not accord children adequate protection against the evils of child labor.

2. Federal child labor legislation (in effect for nearly four years during the period 1917-1922) assisted in improving the situation by automatically raising standards in states where they were conspicuously low, by encouraging states to pass increasingly good laws and by developing enforcement methods.

3. Only one state with low standards has brought up its state laws to the very moderate standards of the two federal laws, even as regards work in factories, since the second federal law was declared unconstitutional.

The League's committee seems to feel that the backward states never will raise their standards unless they are spurred on by national authority. The league points out the fact that the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution, although not ratified, also is not finally defeated, since subsequent legislatures have the right to reverse the decisions of those that turned down ratification.

The whole subject, therefore, should be kept before the public eye until all the country's children are afforded at least a reasonable minimum of protection. With the approaching observance of National Child Labor Day the end of this month, intelligent discussion of the situation ought to be in order in every group and organization interested in child-saving and its resultant citizen-saving.

Babson On Booze

Roger Babson, the statistician, made some observations on prohibition the other day that should carry weight.

Prohibition, he finds, "has resulted in increasing the working power of the wage worker and has been a great factor in bringing about higher wages."

What has been done, then, with their extra money?

"Instead of being employed uselessly for hiring labor to manufacture whisky and beer, it has been used in hiring labor to build houses, make clothes and other things that are worth while."

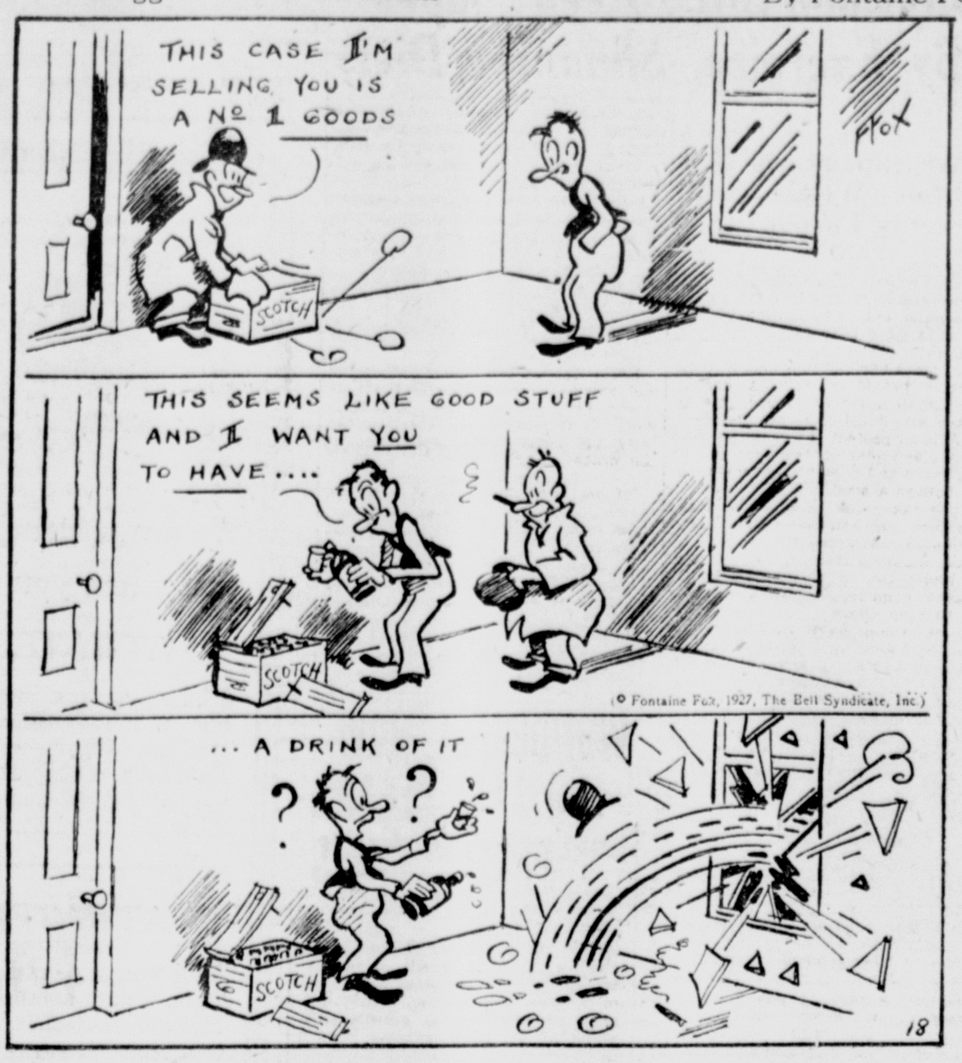

Among the other things, labor savings, formerly spent on liquor, have gone into saving banks and helped to keep interest rates low.

Especially interesting is Mr. Babson's reference to installment buying.

"Had it not been for prohibition," he says, "the present growth in the stallment business would have been impossible. It was prohibition which enabled workers to establish credits. Without prohibition these credits could not have been established; the goods purchased could never have been manufactured, and the prosperity which we now enjoy would not exist."

All this Mr. Babson deduces not from his moral code or his inner consciousness, but from careful study of thousands of facts and acres of figures.

My Favorite Stories

THE PERSONAL TOUCH WAS LACKING.

Among gamblers there is a saying, and a true one, that no matter how wise a guy may be in his own line he's always a sucker at some other fellow's game. The expert confidence man goes against the crooked roulette wheel. The promoter of fixed footraces blows his loot on faro.

It has remained for a sporting person whose specialty is poker to explain why, in his own case, he fails to garner any profits when he invades a kindred field of endeavor. He went to Belmont track one day to play the horses. When he returned home in the evening he was penniless. The hand book-makers had stripped him of his last dollar. His wife took him to task.

"You certainly are a sucker," she said. "Every time you go to the track you come home cleaned out. Why is it you always lose there when you always can win at cards?"

"Well," he said, "I've been thinking about that very thing myself, and I guess the answer is that I don't shuffle the horses."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Trick dinners are being revived by those generous hosts with corpulent bank rolls. They are supreme efforts to perk up the jaded souls who agonize that with prohibition dining out has lost zest.

Unless a dinner offers a super thrill these days the host finds himself all alone with the butlers. At a recent dinner the ball room was flossed up to represent Venice. There were real canals with miniature gondolas and booming voiced gondoliers.

At another on Park Avenue a mammoth apartment was fashioned into a wild frontier town with cowboys, Indians, pool halls, tough saloons and dance palaces. Roulette and faro flourished. It is said the host lost $18,000 banking the games aside from the cost of the party.

The expensive stunt dinner is not new. It flourished in the nineties. Reggie Vanderbilt celebrated his 21st birthday with a stag that set him back $22,000. The favors for 22 guests cost $500 each. The famous "subway dinner" was another expensive affair.

It was given by promoters of the enterprise. The table was shaped to represent the subway lines. Toy electric trains carried food and drink in gastronomic order. The most unusual dinner perhaps was the one given by C. K. G. Billings, a celebrated turfman.

It was held at old Sherry's and guests came on prancing horses. So seated, they partook of a sumptuous fare from tables built up seven feet high. The waiters carried food up ladders and afterward guests rode to Central Park for a gallop around the bridle path.

Still another talked about dinner was one at which Jerome Siegel was host. Each guest was given a rod and reel and in evening dress they tried their luck in a pool of live trout in the center of the dining room. Their catches were immediately prepared by a French chef.

There is one trick dinner that is said to have alienated a stage star from many friends. He was invited as guest of honor. He saw notables from all walks of life. The cafe was a tony one of the moment—and he was a proud Thespian. The soup was cold, oysters hot and the fish a trifle old and smelly. Salad was banana skins and strips from old shoes. The napkins were sliced from the seats of ancient overalls. The cigars were stubs like Na Wills used to carry in his tramp sketch. The ice cream was stuffed with cotton and wine was pop served in fragile champage glasses. In a word the dinner was awful. The guest of honor looked on in white faced anger as one dish after another was brought in. Then he suddenly stood up, his overturned chair pistoling a silence, and in a calm, cold voice said: "This is a joke I shall not forget. It means the end of my friendship with each of you." And he stalked out of the room.

There is a shop on Tenth Avenue where confidence men go for habiliments when they are grooming a sucker for trimming. The proprietor outfits them in correct dress for hire. In off hours a con man is given to sporty clothes. The outfitter tones him down in blues and soft grays, plain, serene scarves and colorless shirts. When he steps out he might pass for a conservative banker. After his "kill" he has no use for such clothes, that's why he rents them.

One of those slick telephone salesmen of phoney stocks phoned the other day with the palpitating information he had a two hour option on a block of stock. A big man, whose name he could not reveal, had given instructions I was to be let in on this killing. "He picked you," he said. He should have said selected. I have been "picked" before. Very handsomely, thank you.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Being Paid for Exercising.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 18.—Think of being paid for playing golf or tennis, swimming, skating, taking a long walk, playing basketball or handball, working in a gymnasium, doing your daily dozen at home, riding horseback, or, perhaps, even dancing, an hour every day!

Incredible? Not a bit of it. A great national welfare organization has just made an offer to its large office staff that is in effect just such a proposal. The National Safety Council, a cooperative, non-profit-making association composed of community safety councils, corporations, and public spirited citizens interested primarily in preventing accidents on the streets, in homes, and throughout industry, has notified the employees in its headquarters at Chicago that cash awards will be paid weekly to those of them who exercise for at least one hour each day.

And in making the public announcement of this unique offer it is stated that officers of the accident prevention institution are watching with keen interest the development in this experiment, which is designed to keep brain workers feeling fit, and that if the results are satisfactory it is likely that thousands of other employers will offer similar inducements in the hope of keeping their office employees in a healthier and happier frame of mind.

"I am convinced that our employees ought to take a more active part in the national health campaign and feel confident the attendance and efficiency of the staff will be improved if each one will take regular daily exercise," said W. H. Cameron, managing director of the council, in explaining the reason for the innovation. "I know that the increased efficiency will be worth money to our organization and I have therefore offered to pay a small cash bonus to each staff member who submits a certificate at the end of the week that he or she has taken one hour's continuous exercise each day. Of course the offer h[as] no strings attached to it and the exercise will be purely voluntary and must not interfere with our present working hours."

Healthy Workers Are Happy.

It is Mr. Cameron's belief that healthy workers are happy workers. If people are not in good health, naturally they are not very much interested in their daily duties. He says his organization has no money to spend foolishly, but that he is confident the proposed investment will pay big dividends.

His own experience over a period of twenty-five years has taught him that it is comparatively easy to exercise an hour a day and that many infections, colds, sore throats and disabilities due to congestion and constipation, can be so remedied. Good health is the best and most desirable asset in life, but it can not be secured or maintained unless the body is kept lubricated by a period of vigorous exercise daily. Little dabs of exercise—such as walking a few blocks three or four times a day—are not sufficient for the average person.

"Our staff members have the option of a straight walk in an hour, skating for an hour, or any other exercise they may select," he adds. "It is my conviction that the employees who take advantage of this offer will be better workers. They will come back to work with greater enthusiasm for their daily efforts and will feel full of pep. Also, there should be fewer absences due to minor ailments."

Associates of Mr. Cameron say that he is a man who practices what he preaches. He goes skating several times a week in the winter, conditions permitting, and in warm weather goes swimming two or three times a day. It is one of his frequent stunts to walk from his home in Evanston to the headquarters of the institution in East Ohio street, Chicago, and when his favorite exercises fail him he finds other things to do to keep himself fit. That he succeeds in doing this is evidenced by the fact that while he has a thorough physical examination twice every year he never requires medical treatment.

In making the offer, skating and walking were the exercises named, but it was stated that the employees were free to select any other form. This led one of the stenographers to inquire if dancing all evening would be considered real exercise. Her private opinion publicly expressed was that anyone who danced the Charleston continuously for even fifteen minutes would be taking more exercise than could be derived from a ten-mile walk, besides it was lots more fun than walking, skating, or swimming. A ruling on her question has not been announced, but the additional point may be made that if dancing the Charleston isn't exercise then riding a horse can't be, for recent news dispatches told of a girl who had broken a leg doing the strenuous dance, while the Prince of Wales does a world of horseback riding and the worst that has happened to him was a sprained shoulder.

Golf May Fill the Bill.

Golf may meet all requirements. Anyone who chases the elusive pill around nine holes in the early morning takes more exercise than in an hour's walk of any kind, save possibly mountain climbing. Furthermore, the game has the additional advantage that those who become golf addicts almost invariably stick to it. Physicians discovered some years ago that patients for whom they had prescribed walking, gymnasium work, setting-up exercises, and the like, would not keep it up for any length of time, so they began prescribing golf and found that their patients rarely abandoned it.

Also, golf is a game that men and women of all agees can play and enjoy, and in a large part of the United States it can be played practically the year around. Therein it has it all over skating and swimming, which, while all there is to be desired in the way of exercise, are distinctly seasonal sports and present far more elements of danger.

Tennis is recognized as a splendid exercise, but it is too strenuous save for the young and hardy and it, too, is a seasonal sport except for a few favored localities and where indoor courts ar available.

Leading employers of the country have for the last decade or more agreed as to the value of exercise for their workers—not only exercise, but recreation of any wholesome kind. Many of them have provided gymnasiums for their employees and some have maintained athletic fields and encouraged the formation of various kinds of athletic teams.

Unfortunately, in many instances this has all been done under the name of welfare work and instead of being appreciated by the employees has been resented by large numbers of them who have an abiding prejudice against anything's being done for them for their welfare by their employers except the granting of more pay and shorter hours.

Perhaps the experiment now being tried in Chicago will demonstrate that the only way to put the exercise proposition over is to offer a bonus for it.

Hollywood Stars Keep Shapes By Exercise, Shunning Diets

Most Film Actresses Have Stipulations That Certain Weight Shall Never be Passed.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Keeping thin is a hefty enough problem for almost any woman but for motion picture stars it is more than that.

Most stars have stipulations in their contracts providing that a certain weight shall never be passed. On an average this deadline is 120 pounds.

This is to protect the producer who puts a star under contract for two or three years and pays her several thousand dollars a week.

Colleen Moore has a bicycle, which she rides to the sets and back to her bungalow. This gives here exercise throughout the day. Colleen also practices fancy dancing between scenes whenever th scales say she has gained a pound or two. Dancing, she says, is one of the easiest ways to take off weight. Miss Moore's normal weight is 105.

Horseback Riding.

Anna Q. Nilsson keeps in shape by swimming and by skating. She is considered one of the best skaters in Hollywood, and is frequentiy to be seen in fancy turns at the various "ice palaces" of Los Angeles.

Billie Dove, who is credited with being one of the most beautiful women in Hollywood, keeps her figure by playing tennis and golf, and by walking at least a mil every morning.

Mary Astor, she of the titian hair, finds that skipping the rope for fifteen minute each morning and evening is just the thing to keep her weight where she wants it.

Doris Kenyon believes in swimming and rowing. "Swimming is the best exercise in the world," says Miss Kenyon. "It exercises every muscle in the body and keeps them smooth and at the proper tension.

No Dieting.

"If you want to keep thin in the easiest and most pleasant manner, swim every day for 20 minutes or half an hour."

Rita Carewe chimed in with a similar view. "I think dieting is harmful," she opined, "and what's more it isn't necessary. Plenty of outdoor exercise and moderation in eating, yes. Dieting, no!"

And to this Maryon Aye, who was among those present, chirped a loud "Amen!"

Mrs. Lundy Price, 530 Palissey street, East End, will receive the members of the Missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

WELLSVILLE CITY FACES $40,000 TAX SHRINKAGE

SOLONS STUDY WAYS TO SOLVE FUND DECREASE

Levy Slash Probably Will Hit Municipal Departments.

MEETING TONIGHT

Mayor Fogo Fears Corporation Will Feel "Pinch."

The City of Wellsville will have $40,000 less to operate on during 1927 than it did in 1926, according to figures in the office of the city auditor.

The closeness with which the budget commission has estimated local requirements and the reduction of three mills or more in the municipal rate, as a result of a decrease in sinking fund requirements, with fewer bonds coming due, are the primary causes.

The city in 1926 received $115,000, with a higher tax rate. This year, it will get approximately $40,000.

Wellsville pared its rate by better than three mills, but the total levy dropped only a half mill as a result of a boost in school requirements.

The reduction, according to Mayor W. L. Fogo, may cause the city to "scrape" before the year is over.

Attention of city council will be brought to the problem tonight.

APPROPRIATION BILL FOR SOLONS

In previous years, solons enacted appropriation ordinances semi-annually. This year, the ordinance will outline requirements up until 1928.

Several changes of various natures are embodied in the ordinance as it will go to the legislators.

SCIENTISTS STILL WORKING FOR UNCLE SAM AT SMALL PAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Pure science is unprofitable.

Applied science can be hitched up with the manufacture of radio apparatus or the development of new cleansing compounds or some other industry and made to pay good dividends.

National Museum

But pure science, for itself alone, does well if it yields a bare living.

The government service is full of men who have devoted lifetimes to the most abstruse research along the lines of their various specialties, and what do they get for it? The ones who pay income taxes on as much as $5,000 apiece annually are the exceptions.

THE bureau of standards consists of next to nothing but scientists. The department of agriculture bulges with them. The geological survey is all science. Ditto the hydrographic office and the naval observatory. These are just a few samples.

The Smithsonian Institution, as everybody knows, is world renowned for its scientific achievements—and poverty-stricken to the last extremity.

The scientists who man these outfits work simply for their salaries—mighty skimpy ones. If they discover anything with money in it somebody else rakes in the profits.

THE government scientist on a $5,000-a-year stipend—and a very, very few draw as much as six, seven or eight thousand each—is able to make ends meet, doubtless.

But, remember, he's a super-scientist by the time he gets that high up the ladder. He classes, in his particular field, with business multimillionaires and with the $75,000 or $100,000 a year practioners in most of the other professions.

He could quit, in all probability, and get a job as an applied scientist in some such thing as a soap factory, for instance, at two or three times his government salary.

Why doesn't he do it?

As nearly as I can figure out, simply because he loves pure science, which the government is willing to pay very moderately for, whereas commercially applied science, while offering far larger rewards, must show tangible financial results in return for them.

NOT but what these pure scientists do get financial results, only they're of a kind which no single individual or corporation can deposit in a bank and check against.

For example, one of the agriculture department's scientists finds a bug in some out of the way place which preys on another insect that playing smash with one crop or another. He imports the new bug and sets it to preying. It stays the bad bug's depredations and the threatened crop flourishes and yields golden harvests again.

SOME of these experts have international reputations among savants. They're recognized as the world's greatest authorities in their respective spheres of activity. People come from all over the face of the earth to consult them—gratis.

But any small town business or professional man, of importance enough to belong to the Rotary club, would turn up his nose at what they're paid for it.

Cold, Weather Deals Knockout Blow to Venango Oil Drilling

FRANKLIN, Pa.—The winter season has hit the oil drilling in the Venango fields a knockout blow. Winter conditions coupled with the recent price cut of crude oil to $3.05 has caused activity to be halted until spring.

Independent operators are hoping for a 25 cent price advance which will make it profitable to resume activities in the spring. There has been no increase in the crude oil market since February, 1926, when a 25 cent rise put the price at $3.80. Every change in the market since that time has been on the decline.

FIVE MEN WHO DEFIED SENATE FACE PUNISHMENT

INSULL, CROWE, SINCLAIR AND OTHERS LISTED

Threatened With Prison Sentences Under Contempt Move.

DAUGHERTY CASE

Decision Said to Block Escape of Oil Man.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Having at one time or another defied the authority of the senate, five well-known men appeared headed toward punishment today as a result of congressional committees' efforts to compel attendance of witnesses at their investigations.

The list of men, threatened with prison sentences under contempt proceedings, includes Samuel Insull, multi-millionaire head of Illinois public utilities; Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney of Chicago; Harry F. Sinclair, multi-millionaire oil man; Thomas F. Cunninghmam, clerk of the quarter session court of Philadelphia, and Mal S. Daugherty, brother of the former attorney general.

In the opinion of the state's constitutional authorities, the decision while made directly upon the case of Mal Daugherty, had even greater effect on the contempt case against Sinclair, now pending in the District of Columbia court. The decision, according to Senator Walsh (D.) of Montana, virtually blocks every avenue by which Sinclair might escape a jail term on the pending contempt charge.

May Cite Mal Daugherty.

"The decision settled once and for all the authority of the senate to investigate on behalf of legislation and its right to subpoena witnesses and to take testimony," said Walsh. "I feel it removes the only serious question in the prosecution of Mr. Sinclair for refusing to testify. It will apply equally well against every other person who defied the senate's power to compel testimony.

Contempt citations will be made to the senate against Insull, Crowe and Cunningham in the near future, Senator Reed (D.) of Missouri, announced yesterday.

Action on the case of Mal Daugherty was delayed while senators communicated with District Attorney Buckner in New York city. Led by Senator Wheeler (D.) of Montana, who headed the old Daugherty investigation, they sought to learn whether action against Daugherty would embarrass the government's case in the federal court at New York.

"I expect to ask that Mr. Daugherty be brought before the bar of the senate and punished for contempt," said Wheeler. "I am conferring with other senators over the course of action and we may decide to cite him to the federal courts here for contempt."

Another Reduction In Ford Car Prices Hinted by Witness

DETROIT, Jan. 18.—Peter E. Martin, vice president of the Ford Motor company, on the stand at the government's $34,000,000 tax suit against former Ford stockholders today, told of prospects for further reductions in Ford prices.

Martin was asked if in 1913 there was a prospect of reducing Ford prices and producing the car in greater quantities.

"There was a prospect of still further reductions then as there is a prospect of further reductions now," he replied.

Chaplin to Fight

Drives Against Fortune.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18.—Hollywood and Los Angeles today were wondering just how long Charlie Chaplin's fortune, variously estimated at from $10,000,000 to $16,000,000, would be able to stand the concerted drives being made against it by the United States government and by attorneys representing the comedian's 18-year old wife, Lity Grey Chaplin, who is seeking a divorce from her famous husband.

Chaplin today stood ordered by a Los Angeles court to pay Mrs. Chaplin $4,000 a month temporary maintenance pending the outcome of her divorce. In addition the comedian must pay $8,000 to his wife at once to cover maintenance for the last two months, also $4,000 as a part fee for her battery of attorneys, $2,150 to pay for bonds under which receivers have taken over the Chaplin property, and $250 for attorneys' expenses.

At the same time the noted comedian was defendant in six income tax suits aggregating $1,073,700 filed by the United States government in Los Angeles on the ground that Chaplin's tax returns for six of the last 10 years had revealed alleged irregularities.

Added on top of all this was the report that Mrs. Chaplin would probably be awarded at least half of her husband's fortune, if not more, in the event she won her divorce action.

Nine Ohioans Held As Jurors Probe "Orgies on Beach"

PAINESVILLE, O., Jan. 18.—Information of clandestine meetings between young girl students with high school boys and older men, who conducted classes in "sophistication," was being laid before a Lake county grand jury here today, presaging a scandal which may involve several prominent local men.

Nine men are under arrest in connection with the affair. The latest to be held is a 20-year-old basketball star of the Willoughby high school who is charged with contributing to the delinquency of young girls. One of the men is more than 83 years of age.

The towns of Willoughby, Kirtland and Painesville are involved in the alleged "beach orgies," in which it is declared that extremely young girls and boys were tutored in abnormal practices by a group of older men.

Superintendent Frank N. Shenkland, of Andrews Institute an exclusive school for girls, went before the grand jury today. He was followed by Mrs. Mary Seeley, matron, and Mrs. Ethel Viall, principal of Willoughby schools.

HABEAS CORPUS CASE DROPPED

Court Action Over Mrs. Mary McCoy's Son Dismissed.

Hebeas corpus proceedings against Edward S. Ruhl, 17-year-old son of Mrs. Mary McCoy of Detroit, brought by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ruhl, his foster parents, of Elkrun township, were dismissed yesterday afternoon by Judge Charles Moore in common pleas court No. 2, Lisbon.

At a recent hearing, the youth chose to live with his mother, who has offered him a home in Detroit. Evidence showed that the young man will be 18 years old next month, at which time, by an agreement made when he was taken from the Fairmount children's home, he is to be returned to the institution.

Upon his return, the law provides that he shall be given $50 in money and two suits of clothes by the family with whom he has been residing.

Edward Ridgley, father of the boy, today denied that he had placed Edward and his brother, Russell, in the Fairmount home when they were one and two years of age, respectively, while the mother was in a hospital. Ridgley said that he was separated from his wife and was residing in Oklahoma at the time that his children were placed in the home.

Pay-as-you-go

ment, not for his own pleasure or personal advantage, but to enable him to keep up with medical advancement and give you as good service as can be gotten in any other community.

"This medical knowledge and equipment are your doctor's sole stock in trade. They are all he has to sell, and you have no more right to expect him to furnish you his wares free, or to wait months or years for his pay than you would have to expect your grocer, clothier, shoe merchant, auto or gasoline salesman to do the same thing.

Ask Regular Pay Day.

"Or put it another way: Most of you work for firms who have regular pay days, when you know you will be paid all you have earned since last pay day.

"How many of you would work for any one if he came to you on pay day and said, "I can't pay you now. I have some other bills to pay first and then I'll get around to you," and would wait months or years before paying you, or would pay only a small part of what you had earned?

"Your doctor must borrow money at more or less frequent intervals to purchase equipment or to pay bills to people who are not so lenient as he. When he borrows money, of course, he pays interest. Is it fair that he should pay interest on every penny he owes, even for a few days, while he has thousands of dollars of uncollected accounts which are drawing no interest?

"Each and every physician is willing at all times to do his share of charity work, but no one who maintains an automobile, a radio, a pack of hunting dogs or other luxuries, will be considereed a worthy object of charity.

Doctor Must Pay His Debts.

"Obstetrics should be cash because you have had 40 weeks to prepare for this, and that means saving only 62½ cents per week.

"Many more facts and arguments could be stated, but enough has been said to show you that your doctor is not a capitalist. He has the same economic conditions to meet as you have. He depends entirely upon the payment for his service to you, for his livelihood, and is furnishing you this service for a much lower fee than physicians in similar communities are receiving for the same service. He can not pay his debts with your intention to pay, unless that intention is reduced to writing in the form of a negotiable note.

"He hopes to continue to serve you for his present moderate fees, and can do so if you will observe the stated business policy."

Congressman Calls For Prosecution of U. S. Speakeasy Men

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Representative Laguardia (R.) of New York today served another demand upon the district attorney's office at New York for federal prosecution of prohibition agents who operated the "Bridge Whist club," a government "speakeasy" used to entrap liquor law violators.

Laguardia dispatched a telegram to Robert E. Manley, chief assistant federal district attorney, upon being informed that District Attorney Buckner was recuperating in Florida after an operation

DR. FIFE HITS SLANDEROUS, LYING TONGUES

Tabernacle Church of Christ Sermon Condemns Gossip.

EAST END MEN

High School Pupils Will Hear "Bobbed Hair" Discourse.

"Any man who will take a ham to a widow and six starving children and stay there until it is cooked and all eaten is doing nothing to comfort the fatherless in their affliction," Dr. Clyde Lee Fife, head of Radio Log Cabin Boys from Kentucky, in a sermon declared last night at the Tabernacle church, 1202 Pennsylvania avenue, East End. "Oh, God, how many of you here tonight wish that some dark day in your life could be written on the blackboard of memory and that you could take a sponge and wipe it away forever. You cannot do that alone but through faith in the atoning blood of Christ, our God can do it for you."

Bob Fife led the choir and played "Just a Cottage Small By a Waterfall" and "Abide With Me," on the hand saw. The brothers sang: "Nobody Knows the Trouble I see." and "Jesus Settin' By the Water's Side," with banio accompaniment.

Rev. Mr. Garrett, of New Cumberland, W. Va., and members of his church board conferred with Dr. Fife about the possibility of a campaign this year. The visiting pastor led in prayer.

"I believe honestly that more trouble is caused in the home, in business and in the church of the living God by gossiping, slanderous, lying tongues than by all the thieves and hold-up guys in the state of Ohio, and I hold no brief for that gang. Some women have tongues long enough to hang out a three weeks' washing and never lap any of the clothes. They dip into everything, tell guesses and surmises for the truth and break homes and wreck lives.

"Down in my old log cabin home Ma used to tell us:—"Boys, tell nothing you hear and half you see and then not unless it is necessary. It is better to have the good will of a dog than the ill will. If you can't say something good about anybody, you had better keep your mouth still."

"Abraham Lincoln said:—"If I were to read, much less to answer, all the thrusts and threats against my administration, I might as well close this executive office. If the end bring me out all wrong, ten thousand legions of angels would not make it right. But if all right, the work will stand for itself." And that is just my ticket in all my meetings—treat everyone on the square, no abuse or criticism for those who differ from me and condemn sin and preach Christ and Him crucified as the only hope for poor sinners."

The Fife brothers, All-American Red Seal Radio artists, will join Dr. Royal S. Copeland, senator from New York, in the program at the Chamber of Commerce dinner at 6 o'clock tonight.

The Log Cabin boys will leave the diner in time for the tabernacle services when they speak to high school pupils on the text. "Bobbed Hair."

On Thursday night the Fifes will entertain at the Kiwanis club's Ladies' Night dinner. Tomorrow night, Dr. Fife will deliver his eye-witness report of the Dempsey-Tunney fight.

Thursday is Lodge night. Lodge members may come with or without regalia.

On Friday night, at the request of Dr. Fife, who is a southern man, a choir of 75 voices from the churches of the colored people of this valley will sing the old-time songs of God and religion of the south.

In MEMORIAM.

In memory of our only child, Julia Olivia Byland, called away seven yrs. ago today. Age 3 yrs. 6 mos.:
Alone in our home we sit today.
And think of our darling that's gone away
Gone to dwell with the God of Love

Dearest Julia how we miss you
You was sunshine in our home
Which has grown, oh, so lonely
Since God called you for his own.
Sadly missed by father and mother,
MR. AND MRS HARRY BYLAND.

Texas Murder Trial Delayed Because of Illness of Pastor

COURT ROOM, AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 18.—The trial of Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the Fort Worth First Baptist church, charged with murdering D. E. Chipps at Fort Worth last July 17, was delayed until 2 p. m. today because of the illness of the minister.

Rev. Norris came here eight days ago suffering with what was said to be tonsilitis, and today was said to be feeling worse, to such an extent that he could not be in the courtroom here.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Price movement in the early trading in the stock market today were irregular and erratic, being nothing more than the continuance of the highly professional market which concluded Monday's session.

The $27,000,000 decline in brokers' loans was taken to indicate the distribution of both speculative and investment stocks, the latter into the hands of permanent holders. Heaviness predominated in the motor and industrial stocks, but the professionals found a good underpinning of buying orders, sufficient to prevent any wide decline in prices. The rails held firmly and the oils made fractional gains at the start.

Speculative interest centered in Lehigh Valley, in view of the annual meeting of the shareholders in Philadelphia. But no change in directors was made.

Reading sold into new high territory at 102 1-8. The Missouri Pacifics, Erie, Pete Marquette, the Northwestern rails and other stocks in the rail group which have recently stepped into the limelight presented a strong front, with prices up a point or so on the average.

Efforts to push the motor shares below Monday's close were generally unsuccessful, and the overcrowded bears were compelled to cover their short lines. Acute weakness in American Woolen common and preferred accompanied heavy offering of the stock, the common declining 3 points to 26 and the preferred 3 1-2 to 79.

Call money unchanged at 4 1-2 per cent.

PASTOR GIVES BIBLE LECTURE

Rev. John MacDonald Speaks in Free Methodist Church.

First of a series of Bible lectures was given at the Avondale street Free Methodist church last evening by Rev. John MacDonald, pastor. His subject was "The Question Answered."

Rev. Mr. MacDonald took his text from Job 14:10 "But man dieth and wasteth away; yea man giveth up the ghost, and where is he?"

He said:

"To begin: What is man?

"Man is not merely an over-grown tad-pole, nor an ape, nor an over-size monkey. 'In the image of God created He him.' This image is not in man's material nature, for that is visible. God is spirit and invisible. But man became a living soul, that has a future that will paralell the life-time of God.

"Does the 'soul' mean the natural breath, as some say?

"No, is cannot, for God 'breathed' it into man and God's breath is not air as our's is. It would make nonsense of the Bible to put the word 'breath' in the places where it says 'soul' or 'Spirit'. For example in Romans 8:16 'The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit.' How would it sound to say breath instead of spirit?

"No, that is confusing the act with the agent. The natural life is the act; the soul is the agent.

"Does Psalm 37:36 'Yet he (the wicked) passed away, and, lo, he was not,' mean that he was annihilated?

"No, neither does the 10th verse, which says 'For yet a little while and the wicked shall not be; yea, thou shalt diligently consider his place and it shall not be.' These verses mean simply, that the wicked person had been removed from the earth, or had been cast down from his high position as you may readily see by reading the whole Psalm.

"It is said also of the righteous Enoch that 'He walked with God three hundred years; and was not for God took him.' Now he was not annihilated, but translated. So when it says that the wicked was not, we can understand that the wicked walked with the Devil and was not, for the Devil took him.

"Does Hell mean the grave?

"No, it was not so used by the Lord Jesus. Hades, one of the Greek words for Hell, meant the unseen state. Gehenna, the garbage-dump, where fire burnt continually, is Christ's description of the punishment of morally offensive characters. Tartarus, always recognized by the Greeks as a place of retribution, is mentioned by "Jesus spoke of those in Hades as Peter as a place of punishment, under-going retribution. There is never any mention of a funeral at Hades. Burials took place at tombs, graves or sepulchres, known in the Greek tongue as taphos or mnameion. Hell is never in the plural number."

Senate to Bar Smith

to bar Smith from taking the oath of office and an even larger number prepared subsequently to deny him a seat in the senate. If he fails to become a senator, on the appointment of Governor Len Small, not even his warmest friends anticipate he will be able to enter the seventieth congress on the strength of last November's election.

The poll showed 52 senators ready to bar Smith from the oath of office—more than a majority of the senate—thirty senators ready to give him the oath, eleven non-commital and two absent. At least six of the senators, ready to give Smith the oath, will not vote to seat him finally even on his governor's certificate.

Early Decision Expected.

The first move Smith makes to present his credentials to the senate, it was announced, will be the signal to slam the doors in his face. A motion formally denying him the right to take his oath of office by referring his credentials to the senate elections committee, will be made by Senator James A. Reed (D.) of Missouri, chairman of the campaign fund committee which investigated the Illinois primary last fall. This motion will easily prevail, the poll indicated.

Administration leaders, anticipating this result, were concentrating on getting an early report from the committee and then rushing the whol Smith question to an early decision. Their plan was to get rid of the Smith case as quickly as possible in order to avoid the necessity for an extra session of congress. It was indicated the committee might make its report within two or three days in the hope of disposing of the whole question within ten days.

How Senators Line Up.

For Smith. Total 30.

Republicans: Bingham, Cameron, Curtis, Deneen, Dupont, Edge, Ernst, Fess, Gould, Greene, Hale, McLean, Means, Metcalf, Moses, Oddie, Pepper, Phillips, Pine, Reed (Pennsylvania), Schall, Shortridge, Smoot, Stanfield, Wadsworth, Warren, Watson and Weller, (28.)

Democrats: Blease and Overman (2).

Against Smith. Total 52.

Republicans: Borah, Capper, Couzens, Dale, Frazier, Gooding, Howell, Johnson, Lafollette, McNary, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Robinson (Indiana) and Willis, (15.)

Farmer-Laborite: Shipstead (1).

Republicans: Gillett, Goff, Jones (Wash.), Keyes, Lenroot, McMaster, Sackett and Stewart, (8).

Absent: total 2.

Harreld (R.) of Oklahoma and Underwood (D.) Alabama.

Unless a political miracle occurs, this poll indicated conclusively that Smith will be barred from the senate.

SUNDAY BALL FANS TO FIGHT ACKERMAN BILL

"Clean Sports" Measure Introduced in Ohio Senate.

BANS ADMISSION

Gov. Donahey Silent Relative to Prohibitory Clause.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 18.—Sunday baseball enthusiasts in Ohio, both amateur and professional, were lining up for battle here today to oppose the "clean sports" bill introduced in the state senate by Senator Joseph W. Ackerman.

Joseph Carr, president of the Columbus American association baseball team, said today that regulation and state control of sports would not meet with much opposition in the state, but that the clause pertaining to Sunday sports if passed would sound the knell of baseball in Ohio.

"Such bills bob up almost at every session," said Carr, "some parts are good but to wipe out Sunday sports would be a step toward Puritan days. Only two states prohibit Sunday baseball, and public opinion and demand will soon bring them to rewrite this law."

Gov. Donahey, while silent regarding the Ackerman bill, today expressed himself in favor of a law regulating sports, without committing himself upon the reference to Sunday sport.

Ackerman's bill reads in part:

"Boxing, sparring and wrestling matches or exhibitions for prizes or purses or where an admission fee is charged or received, harness horse and running horse race meetings, dog races and races or athletic exhibitions or contests of any nature or character may be held within the state of Ohio, except on Sunday or Christmas day, subject to the direction of the management and control of the state athletic commission."

Ackerman's bill would provide for a state sports commission of five members appointed by the governor. This body could name a county commission of three. He recommended that one member of the state board be an athletic director or coach in a college, the second a newspaperman and the third a physician.

"The bill was not drafted to prohibit Sunday baseball," Ackerman declared today, though he admitted the language was vague and might be so interpreted.

Of course it would prohibit any athletic exhibitions on Sunday or Christmas day, where an admission is charged," he concluded.

Physicians' Business Policy

The City Hospital Staff, which includes all physicians of East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell, rather than increase minimum fees, which in other cities range from 33⅓% to 100% more than in the East Liverpool district, has adopted the following business policy:

Office work and obstetrics, Cash.

Interest charged on all accounts after 30 days.

All accounts must be settled by cash or negotiable note in 90 days.

This does not mean that if a patient needs office attention and does not have the fee he will be refused; but it does mean that the doctor prefers and expects the patient o pay cash for office consultation if the patient has the fee, even though the patient may have an account with the physician.

Rev. C. E. Rostofer, of Ashtabula, O., spoke to a large crowd last night at the revival services in the First Christian church. His subject was "What Think Ye of Christ."

He spoke in part as follows: "Christ established his claim to be the Son of God by what he said, did and was. His teaching was perfect. Not only good or better than some others, but it was without blemish. His teaching has been put to the test in every possible way by philosophers, statesmen, Jew, infidel and pagan, but it stands today as the only teaching admitted to be without a flaw. He not only gave the world a perfect teaching, but he practiced perfectly what he taught. This is not true of any other teacher.

"Ordinary means did not produce such a teacher, for ordinary means cannot produce extraordinary results. Judged by his life, his death, his teaching and the influence he has had on the human race, we have to conclude that he has justified all titles bestowed upon him. No person less than God could have carried the message or rendered the service he did to mankind."

Rev. Rostofer will have as his subject tonight "An Infidel Converted." C. G. Woods has arranged a number of special musical numbers. Wednesday night he will deliver a special sermon to women, while on Thursday evening his sermon will be for men. Men and women are both urged to attend these two services. Friday night will be "Family Night."

LEGISLATURE IS DOWN TO GRIND

Many Measures Dropped Into Hoppers of Both Houses Yesterday.

The legislature got down to business yesterday at Charleston with the naming of committees in both houses and the introduction of bills for consideration at the long session which opens next month.

The case of State Auditor John C. Bond made its first appearance for legislative review when the report of Governor Gore on his removal of that official was presented for review by the legislature and was sent to the judiciary committee of the House of Delegates.

Proposals for increasing and decreasing the gasoline tax, for a constitutional convention, for building the capital, for increasing supreme court judges salaries and retiring them on pensions, and for putting prohibition officers in uniform, as well as for amending various of the present statutes were including in the griest that went into the legislative hopper today, along with numerous local bills.

The Republican majority leadership on the floors of the Senate and House was settled with the committee assignments, Senator W. S. Wilkin of Brooke county being chosen by President White as chairman of the judiciary committee in that body and Delegate J. Howard Hundley of Kanawha county being speaker Johnson's selection for the similar place in the house of delegates, with the leadership accepted as a function of the committee chairman. In choosing the heads of the taxation and finance committees of the two houses, next in importance, Senator C. B. Highland of Wetzel county and Delegate C. L. Heaberlin, drawing these assignments in senate and house, respectively. A feature of the house committee assignments was the placing of two delegates each from Cabell, Kanawha, Harrison and Berkeley counties on the judiciary committee.

A bill to amend the code to relieve double taxation by exempting notes and bonds to the extent that they are secured by lien on property already assessed was introduced in both houses, by Senator Hallanan, in the upper branch and by Delegate Keatley in the house.

Senator Hugus introduced a bill to increase supreme court judges' salaries to $10,000, with Delegate Robinson filing a similar one in the house, and Mr. Hugus also proposed another for retiring supreme court judges on pensions at the age of 65, providing they had served one full term, this being duplicated in the house by a bill by Delegate Hundley.

ALLISON NAMED ON COMMITTEES

SEATTLE'S 1926 DEATHS FROM POISON LIQUOR EQUAL 1925 RECORD

SEATTLE.—Alcoholic deaths in Seattle for the year 1926 were the same as in 1925, according to Dr. E. T. Hanley, city health commissioner, who issued a scathing denouncement of bootleggers who are flooding the market with poison liquor.

"The bootlegger who sell redistilled denatured alcohol under the guise of whiskey is a potential murderer," Dr. Hanley said. "If one of thei victims should die, the seller should receive the extreme penalty."

Expert Predicts Increase In Apple Crop ot County

C. S. Holland, Extension Service Department of State University, Speaks at Lisbon.

C. S. Holland, horticultural expert, extension service department, Ohio State university, speaking at the annual meeting of the County Horticultural society in the farm bureau office at Lisbon, predicted an increase from 150,000 to 240,000 bushels in the county apple crop within the next five years.

All former officers were re-elected for another year, as follows: President W. H. Matthews, Salem; vice president Homer Shelton, Salem township; secretary-treasurer L. J. Kirk, Fairfield township.

During the meeting orders for nitrate of soda and sulphate of amonia were placed, these two being the main fertilizers used by apple and fruit growers in this section of the state.

Hollands address follows:

In order to make an intelligent program for the development of an industry, it is necessary that a full understanding of the problem is secured. Sometimes an industry develops more rapidly than its markets. Rarely the industry does not develop to supply the market. More often it fails to develop along the special needs of that market. Columbiana and Mahoning fruit growers are in danger of this condition.

The production of apples in Columbiana county must be considered with that of Mahoning county since both counties can serve much the same markets. The orchards of Mahoning county are usually small and appear to be designed for supplying the local markets of Youngstown.

Columbiana county — Total, 2,156; over 5 years, 1,294; under 5 years, 862 —40 per cent.

Mahoning county — Total, 1,556; over 5 years, 918; under 5 years, 638 —41 per cent.

Total, both counties—3,712; over 5 years, 2,212; under 5 years, 1,490.

From these figures it can be seen that only about 60 per cent of the trees are bearing and that the young trees will more than offset the decline of the old trees. This is especially true when we consider that about 25 per cent or nearly half of the bearing trees are between the ages of 5 to 12 years and only 30 to 35 per cent of the acreage is fully mature.

Taking into account the age of these apple trees, it is probable that the present production of the two counties will average around 250,000 bushels. Of this figure about 150,000 bushels come from Columbiana county and 100,000 bushels from Mahoning. Within the next five or 10 years, the probable production will increase to a crop of 400,000 bushels.

Other parts of northeastern Ohio enter into the production of apples for much the same market. Ashtabula, Lake and Geauga counties are the other principle fruit counties. Some fruit from Ashtabula county goes into your markets, but not a large amount. Cleveland's growth will absorb many of the orchards in Geauga and Lake counties for subdivision and it is probable that the production will decrease.

Of all the counties in northwestern Ohio, 75 per cent of the apple acreage is in Columbiana and Mahoning counties. Hence, a study of the situation in this section will tell the biggest part of the story.

The total commercial production of northeastern Ohio, exclusive of Ashtabula, Lake and Geauga counties, is about 380,000 bushels with a probable increase to 600,000 bushels by 1931. The orchards outside of Columbiana county are all scattered to take into account the nearby markets and their fruit will probably never move into the markets in a carlot manner, but will be trucked in to nearby towns, sold on curb markets, to grocers, and at retail both in town nad at the orchard from roadside stands.

In this way, it would seem that the production of fruit in northeastern Ohio, exclusive of the counties along Lake Erie will be.

Present Production:

Columbiana and Mahoning counties, 250,000 bushels.
Other counties, 130,000 bushels.
Total 380,000 Bushels.

Production in 1932.

Columbiana and Mahoning counties, 400,000 bushels.
Other counties, 200,000 bushels.
Total, 600,000 bushels.

In consideration of the market, Youngstown with 132,000 people in the first market for Mahoning county fruit and with Warren and Niles this market will probably take all of Mahoning county fruit and some from Columbiana county. The growth of this steel district will probably continue but hardly enough to equal the local apple production. The market will tend to be more thoroughly supplied with local fruit and either some fruit from Mahoning county must be shipped out or less of Columbiana county fruit will be trucked in.

If Mahoning county supplied Youngstown and Warren, Columbiana county with 150,000 bushels can then have other markets within a radius of 50 miles, consisting of Canton, Steubenville, Wellsville, East Liverpool, Salem, New Castle, Pa., and Alliance or 223,000 people which will just comfortably take the crop. Within that 50 miles, of course, lies Pittsburgh with 588,000 people. This market is a carlot receiving market and will take a portion by truck movement.

Within the ext five years, this crop of Columbiana county will probably increase from 150,000 bushels to about 240,000 bushels to supply 233,000 people exclusive of Pittsburgh. The increase seems just a little more than the market will increase.

Thus it would seem that the fruit from Columbiana county could find a local market among the 233,000 people within trucking distance if the growers have what those people want Ordinarily, the average consumption of apples for urban people is 1 1-2 bushels a year. If we play safe and figure on 1 1-2 bushels a year, then we have a probable consumption of 291,000 bushels for 233,000 people. If this territory expands at the rate it has in the past, this market will increase over 5 per cent in five years or 305,000 bushels. Thus we have for production and markets of Columbiana county:

1927—150,000 bushels; 233,000 people; 291,000 market requirement.

1932—240,000 bushels; 245,000 people; 306,000 market requirement.

The potential market is this: The normal market will get half of its apples shipped in so that the normal trend would make the conditions harder each year to sell local fruit on local markets unless some is shipped out, or unless practically no apples are shipped in.

Apple production in northeastern Ohio exclusive of counties on Lake Erie:

Hence the conclusion is reached that the district must operate as a shipping district unless Pittsburgh develops a trucking business of sufficient quantity to take off about 75,000 bushels. This might be possible, but it leaves the local markets from local fruit in a price condition so that the price is Pittsburgh or Cleveland price less freight and brokerage. If on the other hand, the local fruit did not supply the local markets, the price would be the Pittsburgh or Cleveland price plus freight and brokerage. Hence, this difference between a local marketing conditions and a shipping one becomes a serious difference. For example, let the Pittsburgh price be $1.50 per bushel, brokerage 12 per cent or 18c and freight 15c, the lower return will be $1.50—(18c plus 15c)—$1.17. On the other hand, suppose the local market is taking the local fruit and must ship in and the same price conditions occur in Pittsburgh. Then the price is $1.50 plus (10c plus 15c)—$1.83.

The real difference beween the tow situations is 66c. The problem is how to get it. There might be two solutions, reduce production and improve consumption.

In this case, it would require a reduction of nearly 20 per cent if the assumptions are correct to make the local markets take local fruit. This reduction is not probable till after some damage price has been done.

The people at present are consuming all the fruit necessary to fake Columbiana and Mahoning counties' apples, but they are shipping in fruit from other sections to the extent that they must change their habits to take the probable increase in fruit production. For example, excluding Pittsburgh and within 50 miles of Columbiana and Mahoning fruit sections, there ar nearly 400,000 people who normally consume 500,000 bushels and which will probably increase 10 per cent in five year period to 440,000 people consuming 550,000 to 600,000. That is just about what the probable production of the orchards in the territory will be: namely about 600,000 bushels by 1932.

Northern Ohio is particularly blessed with the varieties of apples that have been planted. In Columbiana county, Baldwin is at present the leading variety, but will probably soon give way to Stayman. At the present time 23 per cent of the trees are Stayman, 20 per cent Baldwin, 11 per cent Jonathan, 4 per cent Delicious, 3 per cent Rome and 40 per cent other varieties.

Probably it would be advisable to start a campaign in this section to reduce this 40 per cent of other varieties. If this could be done, it would leave the section with good markets and remove those sorts that are hard to sell. How it is to be done must rest with the growers of the community.

The surest way to solve the problem is to start an educational campaign to take the community through the various steps of production to insure better quality fruit so that local fruit can prevent outside fruit from entering. Such a program has been successfully developed in New England as regards the Boston market. A few years back western Jonathans dominated the early winter apple trade. Today, local McIntosh in the Boston box have driven the Jonathans off to a minor place on the market.

The same thing can be done on the local markets and in Pittsburgh as regard Columbiana and Mahoning county fruit. The extension horticulture department recognized this problem two years ago after a superficial survey. A better spraying campaign was instituted with some results. The following steps need to be developed further to make progress toward the goal:

Better spraying, thinning of fruit, better pruning on old trees, fertilization, proper grades (contigent on good production), proper handling and packing, local-common storage to cut costs.

As a furtherance of this program, rather intensible work is to be planned on thinning of apples this year with continual work on proper spraying and other factors affecting production, packing and marketing.

The growers themselves in Columbiana county have been behind the times in their development of the local markets. They have been used to easy sales in the fall. They must now face the need of development salesmanship and facilities to store the fruit locally, so that it can be sold over a long period by their own salesmen in thair local markets, instead of depending upon the salesmen in the concentrated areas. Mahoning county is not as fully guilty of this lack of development as Columbiana county.

How to Reinforce Glands Explained by Physician

IF you are weak, worn-out, run-down, exhausted, losing strength and energy, you may be suffering from glandular weakness or glandular insufficiency and fail to recognize the cause. Heed these warning signals before more serious trouble develops. Seek the thrill of vigorous health this new scientific way—glandular treatment.

When the glands function normally they supply the vitalizing glandular secretions which are essential to physical well-being, and when the glands fail, health fails.

Dr. Arnold Lorand says in his book, "Old Age Deferred," in speaking of the glands: "We must insist upon the reinforcement of their functions by means of extracts obtained from the similar organs of healthy animals."

The new scientific gland tonic, Glandogen, embodies this method, and provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for both men and women. Accept no substitutes; insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic. Mathews Cut Rate Store will supply you.

A Body Sweetness that Even Perspiration Can't Spoil

A hundred different drugs will purge the bowels, but a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew!

Your grandparents took "salts," and slowly washed away the mucous membrane with the waste! Mineral oils are better, but they leave the coating that your blood must then carry off through the pores. But when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

Don't get in the habit of taking medicine for constipation—or even for auto-intoxication. If you have the habit, stop it. A candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them and the taste tempts most grown-ups to take "more." And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a cascaret tonight! All druggists, 10c & 25c.

Ban Johnson Calls Meeting of American League Directors

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—The storm brewing between Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis and President Ban Johnson of the American league, grew more intense today with the announcement of Johnson that he had called a special meeting of the board of directors of the American league for next Sunday, the day before the "show-down" meeting called by Commissioner Landis.

At the American league meeting Sunday the directors will decide whether or not they will attend the hearing called by Landis. It is believed they will agree to attend. That there will be plenty of pyrotechnics at this session was indicated by President Johnson, who said:

"I have reports on Speaker which Landis will never get unless we go to court."

In announcing the call for Sunday's meeting, Johnson declared that if the directors voted to attend the Landis hearing and turn over all their data on the Cobb-Speaker affair, he would abide by the decision, but that he would not, under any cimcumstances, appear as a witness under oath before the commissioner.

"It is not a court and I would refuse to be sworn at any such meeting," Johnson declared. He suggested that if the matter is to be publicly aired that it be in a United States court, where he would gladly take the oath.

In a dispatch from French Lick, Ind., where he is attending a major-minor league meeting, Commissioner Landis was quoted as saving the hearing next Monday would be open to the public.

Reiterating his charge that Landis, and not the American league, is responsible for smearing the records of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, Johnson continues:

"I've fired a broadside, and now I'm going to stand by my guns. Landis isn't going to make the public think the American league passed the buck on the Cobb-Speaker case without a fight."

Renewing his attack on Commissioner Landis, Johnson said:

"Mr. Landis seems extremely anxious to investigate charges of fixed games back in 1917. Why doesn't he investigate some of our recent world series, for instance that peculiar series played in 1922.

"The American league is still trying to unearth facts concerning that series, which the Giants won in five games by calling reporters names. If Mr. Landis is content to answer questions about that world's title his attitude is worthy of study.

Several days after the Risberg scandal charge was aired, Commissioner Landis denied that he was investigating the world series of 1922. He dismissed it with the hint that there was nothing to investigate.

FRENCH LICK, Ind., Jan. 18.—The Landis-Johnson feud today monopolized the attention of major and minor baseball league officials who gathered here to discuss such routine matters as the compulsory draft and the increasing of optional players held by major league clubs in minor outfits.

Commissioner Landis is here, and has presided over all sessions. He remained silent today concerning the latest outburst of President Johnson.

"I have nothing to say," was the commissioner's reply to all questions. But a sharp flash in his dark eyes indicated he would like to say a lot.

Aside from ratifying the commissioner's four new rules designed to "clean up baseball," the major and minor league magnates did little else than argue to a standstill over the draft.

One of the new rules proposed by Landis, dubbed "the statute of limitations" which regulates the time after which charges against ball players would be void, places such a limit at five years.

George E. Muehlebach, Kansas City Blues; Ross C. Herriott, Terre Haute; S. L. Robertson, Buffalo, and H. W. Lane, Hollywood, Calif., represent the four leagues which have hitherto resisted the draft.

Officials of minor leagues which now need the draft include A. J. Heinemann, New Orleans club; Arthur J. Shean, Springfield, Mass., club; Walter Morris, Dalla, Texas, club; M. H. Sexton, president National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, and J. R. Darrell, secretary of the association.

Ban Storm Center In New "Scandal" Move In Baseball

BAN E. JOHNSON

Ban B. Johnson, president of the American League, the man mainly responsible for its growth and a foe of Judge Landis, czar of the game, is the latest storm center in the developments growing out of the Cobb-Speaker case.

CLARK WILL BE EASY 'PICKIN'S' FOR LABARBA

This is Critics' Opinion After Looking New Pug Over.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Inspired by reportorial zeal and what not, which sometimes retails as low as fifty cents a shot, a covey of news scavengers returned today from the Shrewsbury river whence they had gone with the idea of seeing what manner of man Elky Clark was. It seems, judging by the boys' reports, that all they discovered was what Elky was not.

The young man, who is flyweight champion of Europe, will meet Fidel La Barba, of Los Angeles, for the world's title on Friday night. Therefore, the boys' findings on the following points may be of general interest:

That Clark is not so equipped that he can land an effective punch, except at close quarters.

If what the boys say is true, La Barba should cake-walk to the judge's "nod" next Friday night at Madison Square Garden, after which we may be able to turn our attention to something important.

This Clark party had been megaphoned as a better man than Wilde, who was better than the best in his day, and Rickard was making ready to suffer a rush of blooded saps to the box office but now the business looks like a plain case of non-support.

Of course, our boy friends have made their mistakes. I seem to remember them gushing rhapsodies about Dempsey's marvelous condition or about September 23 and Berlenbach was to be a romp in the last Delaney fight.

But the boy friends are not always wrong and all I ask of them is to be right in two particulars, viz, that Clark is a set up for a left hand and that he must get in close to do his punching. If that combination proves true, La Barba couldnt lose unless he forgets to show up.

First of all, he has one of the finest lefts extant. Second, can't everyone imagine how easy it will be for Clark, being left handed all over the place, to get in close for his effective punching? Neither can I.

Michigan, Indiana Run Neck and Neck For Big Ten Title

Michigan and Indiana remained in a deadlock for first place following victories last night at Ann Arbor and Evanston respectively. The Wolverines kept their unbeaten record intact by trouncing Illinois, 25 to 24, while Indiana won easily over Northwestern, 36 to 24.

In the third conference game played last night, Wisconsin defeated Chicago in a thrilling overtime session, 33 to 30. The teams were tied at the close of the regular period, 27 to 27.

It was the third victory of the season for both Michigan and Indiana. Neither five has lost a conference game.

Illinois lost another heartbreaker to Michigan. The margin of defeat was one point, the same as on the Saturday night before when the luckless Illini lost to Ohio State.

ALTMANS STOP NEWS BOWLERS

Whatever aspirations Smith News bowlers of the Liberty Business Men's duckpin loop may have had toward first half championship honors were given a stiff jolt last night when the Altmans took them over in three straight games.

Bennett started the ball rolling with a 212 in the first game in which the team piled up a total of 743 against the News five's 649. The Altmans copped the second by as large a margin and just pulled the third one out by nine pins.

The Turk Nash bowlers, now leading the loop with a one-game advantage over Chryslers, will tackle the Roselawns tonight.

LUTHERAN FIVE WINS CONTEST

Down Christians by Three Field Goal Margin.

Lutheran cagers of the Sunday school league were three field goals too good for the Christians in their battle last night, the final count being 39 to 33.

The Lutherans led all the way, doing most of the damage in the first half. The Christians began to climb in the third and fourth quarters but were unable to overtake their rivals before the final whistle.

The Methodist Protestants and the Baptists are scheduled to clash tonight on the M. P. floor.

RICKARD LINES UP STAR BOUTS

NEW YORK, Jar. 18.—With Jack Delaney lined up under his banner at last, Rex Rickard today was in a position to outline a tentative program in the heavyweight division that will have its climax in the spectacle of Gene Tunney defending his title against the best man available late next summer. Delaney signed yesterday to meet Jimmy Maloney, of Boston, on February 18 at Madison Square Garden.

In the event that the light heavyweight champion is successful in that bout, he will be asked to meet Jack Sharkey, conqueror of Harry Wills, also at the Garden. The winner of that bout, according to Rickard's plans, will meet Jack Dempsey in late May or early June at the Yankee stadium for the right to challenge Tunney.

DAHER AND RENEY ARE CUE VICTORS

Daher and Reney were victors in last night's matches in the American Pocket Billiard tournament, both games being close all the way.

Daher finished ahead of Sainer by a score of 75 to 73 and Reney downed C. Moore, 75 to 73.

Herbert vs. Moore and Lanning vs. Sainer are the matches billed tonight.

Movin' On

WALTER HENLINE, for five years the mainstay of the Phillies behind the plate, will wear a Brooklyn uniform the coming season. He went to Dodgertown via the Giants a short time ago in a bewildering swap of baseball material.

HENLINE

It was the second time Henline had been a Giant, on paper at least.

He was purchased by the club in the winter of 1920-21 from Indianapolis and was traded to the Phils in July, 1921, with Curtis Walker for Emil Meusel, other players and cash.

A couple of years later McGraw tried to buy him back and persisted for a couple of years. Had to let him go to the Dodgers this time to get Burleigh Grimes, veteran pitcher, after he got his hands on him (Henline).

Henline received his first tryout with the Ft. Wayne team in the Central League in 1915. Released without trial he played semi-pro ball there and in Cleveland, O., for a couple of years. Signed with Indianapolis in 1918 only to join the army. Loaned to Bloomington by the Hoosiers in 1919 and recalled.

Is a .300 hitter and heardy backstop.

ELKS FACING COLUMBIANA, LISBON GAMES

Must Win Both This Week to Stay in Lead.

BILL POWELL'S ELKS, now leading the Columbiana County Amateur Basketball league by a single game margin over the Salem and Damascus teams, tied for second place, will figure in two of the four actual loop engagements billed for the present week.

Four forfeit games—those in which East Palestine and Wellsville are billed—cut down the list of attractions.

Both Salem and Damascus are assured of victories this week, each having two forfeits coming while the Elks must keep traveling if they would achieve their first half title expectations.

At the end of the week, Salem and Damascus will have won nine games each and lost three for a percentage of .750.

The Elks, facing games with Lisbon and Columbiana, will have to come through with victories to retain their hold on first place. One defeat in the two games would make a three-cornered tie out of the race.

The Powell passers will play at Lisbon Wednesday night and will conclude the first half series with Columbiana here Saturday night.

CHIEF BENDER, COACH Chicago "White Sox," one of the greatest, most famous pitchers of the old days

"You Old Chaps Who Are Stiff and Lame Can Feel Like This

"I suppose I would be as stiff, sore, lame and rheumatic as any man my age if it wasn't for the liniment we use in the big leagues. It is wonderful stuff. You just rub it in good or have somebody rub you good with Mike Martin's Liniment and right away all the soreness, aches and pains vanish away and you feel like a 2-year-old.

"If you old fellows want to feel frisky, supple and fine, get a bottle of Mike Martin's Liniment and use it like Mike Martin tells you to on the label. Mike Martin, as you doubtless know, is the trainer of Washington Baseball club. His liniment is used by big league ball players everywhere. It is wonderful for sore and aching muscles. His liniment enabled me to pitch to batting practice every day without any bad results during the whole past summer," declares "Chief" C. A. Bender, of the Chicago White Sox, and one of the most famous Indian athletes of all times.

If the reader feels aged, old, stiff, achy and rheumatic, let him get a bottle of Mike Martin's Liniment and rub with it good tonight. You will be positively amazed how fine you feel in the morning. New Propellor for Vessels Invented By Dutch Engineer

AMSTERDAM.—A Dutch marine engineer has invented a propellor for boats which has the shape of a fin.

The fin is placed at the back of the boat and performs both a spinning movement on its own axis and a circular movement. It is claimed that this gives twenty per cent more motive force than a screw and also renders a rudder unnecessary.

Ceramic, four days commencing Wednesday.

Q. How much gasoline will it take for the planes making the Pan-American flight? B. D.

A. It will take 10,000 gallons of gasoline to serve each one of the five amphibian planes on the Pan-American flight around South America, according to recent announcement. Approximately 50,000 gallons of gasoline, 2,000 gallons of benzol, and 5,000 gallons of lubricating oil have been shipped to the various ports of call to be visited by the Army fliers.

Q. Is Lewis Stone married? S. J. H.

A. He is married to a non-professional. He has two daughters.

Q. Where are the Thousand Islands? Are there in reality more than 1,000? B. E. R.

A. The Thousand Islands are a collection of small islands, numbering about 1,700, situated in an expansion of the St. Lawrence river, about 40 miles long and from four to seven miles wide, between Ontario, Canada, and Jefferson and St. Lawrence counties, New York. They are favorite resorts for summer tourists on account of their picturesque beauty. Many are private property and contain the summer homes of wealthy Americans and Canadians.

Q. Please tell what causes the eyes in bird's eye maple. Where is this wood found? N. P. N.

A. Bird's eye maple is found from Newfoundland to Georgia and westward to the northern shores of the Great Lakes, eastern Nebraska, and Kansas. When the grain has a pronounced wavy appearance the wood is called bird's eye maple and is used as a veneer. The Forest Service says that there is a parasitic growth that gets into the wood of the maple and causes a swelling, which when cut off straight by the saw appears as eyes. This does not harm the wood but makes it more valuable. Generally speaking, this wood is scarce.

Q. Is it true that a successful toe dancer has to train from childhood? D. G.

A. We are informed that toe dancers start their careers early in life. It has been stated that the Russian Ballet masters would not accept applicants over eight years of age.

Q. How long before Mussolini became premier of Italy was the Fascisti party started? E. E. F.

A. The decree of King Victor Immanuel by virtue of which Mussolini became premier is dated October 31, 1922. The first Fascisti meeting occurred March 23, 1919.

Q. What became of the statue of Athena or Minerva as she was called? C. B.

A. The celebrated statue of Athena which was in the Parthenon is no longer extant. A statuette not quite 3 1-2 feet high, evidently a copy of this great statue was found in Athens in 1880. So far as we know, it remains in the National Museum, in the Greek capital.

Midland board of education co-operating in the state-wide movement for the prevention of diphtheria is sponsoring the inoculation of the Midland and surrounding districts. Permission blanks have been distributed to the pupils, so they will have the written consent of the parent or guardian to submit to the inoculation.

The slips were returnable yesterday in order to allow school authorities to place an order for serum with the state officials. Each child will receive the inoculation absolutely free of charge.

The clinic will be held in the Lincoln high school on January 28 at 9 a. m. Midland doctors will be assisted in the work by two nurses and Miss Foster, school nurse.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.
